New Democratic Blue-Gray Ticket Eyes White House

By DON McLEOD
AP Political Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter today returns to Georgia where his giant-killer campaign began and where he'll map plans to capture the White House in the Nov. 2 election.

Carter and the other half of his Blue-Gray ticket, Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota, closed out the 1976 Democratic National Convention with tandem acceptance speeches Thursday night that proclaimed "a new mood in America."

Before leaving New York, where delegates approved his nomination, stamped a platform drawn to his taste and endorsed his running mate with more harmony than Democrats have seen in a decade, Carter scheduled his first post-convention strategy session and meetings with Democratic National Committee leaders.

"Nineteen seventy-six will not be a year of politics as usual," Carter told the convention. "It is a year of concern, and of quiet and sober reassessment of our nation's character and purpose — a year when voters have already confounded the political experts."

"It can be a year of inspiration and hope. And I guarantee you it will be the year when we give the government of this country back to the people of this country."

"There is a new mood in America."

Carter opened his speech with the line which mostly brought chuckles when he started using it 19 months ago, "My name is Jimmy Carter, and I'm running for president."

Poking fun at the Republican division in the nomination race between President Ford and Ronald Reagan, Carter predicted a victory with his relatively youthful Democratic ticket, "no matter which Republican party they decide to send against me."

"We are a new generation of leadership," Mondale said. "We are strong. We are experienced. And we're ready." Carter is 51,

Driver, 26 Children Missing After Outing

By JOE BIGHAM
Associated Press Writer
CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP) — Twenty-six children and the driver of their school bus who vanished on their way home from a swimming outing apparently are the victims of a mass kidnapping, the Madera County sheriff said today.

Deputies and police searched the San Joaquin Valley farmland through a windy, rainy night split by lightning and thunder for some clue to the whereabouts of the children, who ranged in age from 5 to 15.

The bus in which the children had been riding was found in a dry canal Thursday night.

"It appears to be an abduction," Sheriff Ed Bates told reporters. "We are waiting to be contacted."

Bates said his investigators found two sets of tracks superimposed on the bus tracks, suggesting that an abduction "would have to be planned, it seems to me." The tracks showed that "somebody left the area after the bus was parked."

The bus, which was to have returned the children from the Chowchilla fairgrounds, was found abandoned in a dry canal during a search from the air. It was hidden in a heavy stand of bamboo in the flat farmland about 35 miles northwest of Fresno.

The sheriff said he couldn't "think of any other possibility" but a kidnapping. "There's no blood, no evidence of foul play at the bus. I'm at a loss for words about this one. I absolutely can't figure it. We can't find anybody who has a motive."

Bates said the FBI has been called in.

The children are students at the Dairyland Unified School, which school district secretary Nita Hansen described as "just a little country school."

She said the bus driver, 55-year-old Frank Edward Ray Jr., was "very reliable" and had been driving for the school for 28 years.

"You couldn't ask for a nicer guy," Mrs. Hansen said. "He was born and raised here."

Sheriff Bates, who set up a command post at the Chowchilla Police Department, speculated that there were five possibilities: a "deranged guy" who had kidnapped the entire group; a "personal revenge, somebody who wants to make the parents suffer;" a kidnapping "for money;" a "terrorist" plot; or "some older kid on the bus took command by force."

Shortly before dawn Bates discarded as a clue reports that a white van seen the last two days near where the bus left children off might be involved in the disappearance. The vehicle turned out to be a "dental van" which has been assigned to the area, he said.

The sheriff's office said it received calls from anxious parents beginning about 4:15 p.m. Thursday. At that time, the bus was two hours overdue.

Investigators towed the bus out of the canal and began a search, roping off the area around the bus. At one point, 30 officers from several jurisdictions were assigned, including a force detailed to a door-to-door search south of the town.

Officers recovered two towels and items connected with a children's ceramics project, Bates said. The key was missing from the bus's ignition, he said.

The bus had made three stops, letting off three groups of children, but it never made its fourth and last stop, Bates said.

Prior to Bates' announcement that he suspected an abduction, Sam Baretta, the father of Lisa Baretta, 12, one of the missing children, said:

"It seems so damn strange. There must be a logical explanation. I haven't faced reality yet."

and the driver missing. Man facing camera is Denver Williams, whose daughter Lisa, 12, was among the missing. The bus was found in a bamboo thicket

Sales Outlook Favorable, Says Platts

The chief executive officer of Whirlpool corporation has predicted a sales increase of up to 17 per cent this year and declared that lockout at the firm's St. Joseph Division plant will not hurt either sales or earnings.

Barring a severe slump in consumer confidence, Whirlpool's 1976 sales should rise 15 to 17 per cent above 1975 sales of $1.47 billion, according to John H. Platts, president and chairman of the board.

He also said that the unsettled contract dispute which has severely curtailed production at the St. Joseph Division plant since May 6 will have no adverse influence on company sales or earnings.

"We can accommodate all laundry washer production needs at our other plants," Platts said.

Platts indicated that based on these figures and sales projections for the remainder of the year, Whirlpool would earn significantly more than in 1975, when total earnings were $58.6 million or $1.63 a share.

He also revealed that Whirlpool plans to begin marketing its own microwave ovens in January and said the firm probably would increase prices of other products somewhat in October following the next 6 per cent steel price increase.

Winning Numbers

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — The winning numbers in Thursday's regular weekly Bureau of the State Lottery Super Drawing are: nine-eight-two (982) and zero-zero-six (006).

The Millionaire qualifying number is: one-zero-eight-one-eight-seven (108187).

Muskegon Teenager Tarred And Feathered

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — A 19-year-old Muskegon County youth was tarred and feathered Thursday night following a beer-drinking party. Michael LaNore told authorities he was assaulted while drinking with five acquaintances along a dirt road in a rural section of the county. LaNore said one person attacked him from behind, smeared tar on his face, and the others held him down and covered him with the sticky coating.

Sheriff's deputies said LaNore provided them with names but gave no indication of a motive. LaNore was scheduled to meet with members of the prosecutor's staff to discuss possible charges. Deputies had to check with a hospital to learn how to remove the tar-and-feather coating.

Tall Ships May Sail Into Muskegon Port

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Four tall sailing ships may sail into Muskegon's harbor this summer.

Raymond Morency of Muskegon said Thursday he has been told three of the four foreign ships will stop for a visit at the Lake Michigan port.

Morency said the 150-foot French vessel, Erawan, with its predominantly female crew is scheduled to arrive between Aug. 22 and Aug. 26. Two 68-foot Polish schooners are expected later in the summer.

The fourth vessel is the massive Norwegian ship, Christian Radich, which is due in Grand Haven Aug. 5. That visit is to mark the Coast Guard's 100th anniversary during Grand Haven's annual Coast Guard festival.

Morency said he will visit Montreal next week to see the Radich's captain in hopes of gaining a Muskegon visit after the vessel leaves Grand Haven.

All four ships are among dozens of foreign sailing vessels visiting U.S. ports as part of Operation Sail honoring this country's 200th anniversary.

SILAS LEGG

Rev. Legg Temporary BCA Chief

The executive board of Berrien County Action, Inc. (BCA) has appointed Rev. Silas Legg, current BCA program planner, as temporary director until a permanent director of the local anti-poverty agency is named. Nora Jefferson, BCA board chairman, said the executive board, made up of four board members, agreed to appoint Rev. Legg in a special meeting Wednesday.

Rev. Legg of Benton Harbor temporarily takes over the duties of Mrs. Helen Ford who was fired by the BCA board of directors in a special meeting Monday.

Mrs. Jefferson said a permanent director of the agency is expected to be named at the board's regular meeting Aug. 18.

She also said the full 14-member board of directors is expected to confirm Legg's appointment at its next regular meeting Wednesday. The board may also appoint a personnel committee to review applicants for the permanent executive director position, she said.

Members of the BCA executive board are Mrs. Jefferson, Melvin Farmer, Jr., Cecilia Burke and former Mayor Charles Joseph. Mrs. Jefferson said Joseph was not present at Wednesday's special meeting.

Rev. Legg, who was hired as BCA program planner in July, 1975, is minister of the Church of Christ, 1451 East Main street, Benton township. He and his wife, Myra, live at 793 Waukonda avenue.

County Receives Reply...At Last

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Some 3½ months after the Berrien board of commissioners wrote the U.S. Postal Service urging that the St. Joseph post office not be closed a reply was received.

The postal service's non-committal reply came through the mail.

The board on March 18 went on record opposing any closing or shifting of services from the St. Joseph post office after reports that the postal service was considering transferring part of the St. Joseph operations to the Benton Harbor post office.

The reply from the Office of the Postmaster General was dated July 6 and County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke said the letter was received July 12.

"The postal service will be reviewing the operation of small post offices throughout the country," the letter said. "However, there will be no changes in the status of any office prior to a survey of the affected community and an opportunity for the customers involved to review alternatives."

"Concerning your inquiry about St. Joseph, it is (the) understanding (of the postal service) that a survey has been conducted but no recommendation has been made at this time."

St. Joseph Postmaster Robert McMullen said he has received nothing new concerning the future of the St. Joseph office, but said he understood that all closings have been indefinitely deferred by the federal government.

Niles Policeman Has Left Force

NILES — Myron Olson, whose testimony before the Berrien county citizens grand jury has led to the indictment of four Niles policemen, resigned from the Niles police department on May 25, the department said today. It was reported in stories in this newspaper Wednesday and Thursday covering district court hearing for some of the indicted officers that Olson was on leave from the department. Olson, under immunity from prosecution, has testified he participated in break-ins and larcenies with other officers.

UP 33 CENTS SHARE

Bendix Has Record Quarterly Earnings

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — The Bendix Corp. earned $29.4 million in the third quarter of 1976, setting a company record for earnings in a three-month period, the firm announced Thursday. Bendix said the earnings came on revenues of $803 million compared with $896 million in the same period of 1975. Per share earnings were $1.33, compared with $1 last year on net earnings of $21.7 million.

For the nine-month period, Bendix said it had revenues of $2.25 billion, a 16 per cent increase above revenues of $1.94 billion in comparable 1975. Income reached $79.2 million, Bendix said, up 37 per cent from the $57.7 million in the 1975 period. Earnings per share were $3.59 and $2.65. The net income for the nine-month period nearly equaled profits for all of 1975, said W. Michael Blumenthal, who noted the rate of earnings increase was greater than the rate his firm's revenues climbed.

Blumenthal, president, chairman and chief executive officer, said improved auto sales were partly responsible for the increase. Bendix makes original and replacement auto parts and also is active in the housing and mobile home markets as well as aerospace electronics. Blumenthal predicted earnings would continue to grow in the fourth quarter, although at a slower pace.

Radde Named By United Way

Raymond Radde of St. Joseph has been appointed chairman of the public division for the 1976 Blossomland United Way campaign.

Radde's responsibilities include fund raising drives for the United Way in public service agencies including government, school districts and utility companies.

Radde was chairman of the industry, commerce, labor and construction division during the 1975 United Way fund drive, and has served in other capacities in United Way campaigns from 1970.

He is manager of distribution operations for the Whirlpool Corporation.

Girl Hurt When Hit By Auto

A 14-year-old Benton township girl was hospitalized late Thursday when she was struck by a car on M-139 south of Napier avenue, state police of the Benton Harbor post said.

Tina Annette Nutt, 394 Margaret avenue, was reported in "very serious" condition today at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor.

Troopers identified the driver of the car as Kenneth Earl Alexander, 22, of 1598 East Britain avenue, Benton township. Witnesses told troopers the girl walked into the auto's path about 11:45 p.m. No tickets were issued, troopers reported.

Neighborhood Beauty Contest Is BH Topic

The status of the Benton Harbor Crime Prevention program's "Block Beautification" contest will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Crime Deterrence council at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Benton Harbor public library. Lt. Al Edwards, director of the crime prevention program, said citizens will be informed on how they can obtain paint at reduced cost from the city's housing inspection department to fix up their houses. The contest, which ends Aug. 15, will award a trophy to the block club which does the most in beautifying its neighborhood during the period. A movie entitled "Another Place to Come to" which deals with the causes of juvenile delinquency, will also be shown at the meeting.

SJ Concert To Offer Variety Of Music

A wide variety of musical entertainment will be presented this Sunday at the St. Joseph Municipal band concerts, according to John E.N. Howard, band conductor.

The concerts, open to the public, will be held at 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. at the St. Joseph bandshell.

Howard said Sunday's programs will include musical offerings from Sousa marches to the "H Quary" overture; music from only the brass section of the band; solos and duets from trumpets and tubas and vocal music by the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor YWCA Sing-A-Lings.

The Sing-A-Lings were formed in 1972 for the fun of singing barbershop harmony. Directed by Mrs. Edna Reil, the chorus began with seven members and has now increased to over 20 members.

The Sound Waves quartette, Miss Suzanne De Yot, lead; Mrs. Judy McCormack, tenor; Mrs. Reil, bass; and Mrs. Carol Humbert, baritone, will also sing. The quartette, except for Mrs. McCormack, who is not a member of the Sing-A-Lings, belongs to the singing group and to Harmony, Inc., an international organization of women barbershop singers.

Howard said the brass section of the municipal band will play Henry Purcell's symphony from "The Fairy Queen" and will be directed by Dr. Donald Moely, professor of music and head of the music department at Lake Michigan college where he directs the symphonic wind ensemble, woodwind and brass ensembles, jazz lab band and teaches trumpet.

The trumpet soloist will be Dr. James Bekkering, dean of instruction at Lake Michigan college, who plays trumpet as an avocation with the municipal band and the Twin Cities Symphony orchestra. He will play "Willow Echoes".

Playing a tuba duet, "Puff the Magic Dragon", will be Jerry Lackey and Rick Watts.

Berrien County Action Rejected As Official Anti-Poverty Agency

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county board of commissioners yesterday by an 11 to 1 vote denied a motion which would have designated Berrien County Action (BCA) as the county's official anti-poverty agency.

But the board then voted to look into organizations which might receive the county's backing, including the board of directors of BCA.

The action came in the wake of Monday's dismissal of Helen Ford of Benton Harbor as executive director of BCA by the group's board of directors. Commissioner Victor Greer of Benton Harbor, who also serves on the BCA board, was the only commissioner voting in favor of giving BCA the county backing. Commissioner Bill Joseph, also of Benton Harbor, was absent.

The motion to designate BCA as the county's anti-poverty agency was originally presented to the board on April 29 but was tabled, and no action was taken on the motion until it was removed from the table yesterday. Commissioner Nancy Clark, chairman of the commission's planning and social services committee, said the firing of Mrs. Ford had nothing to do with the motion surfacing yesterday.

"It was not because of the firing," Mrs. Clark told reporters. "It was taken off the table because the Community Services Administration people came to see the county and asked if we were still interested in having an anti-poverty agency." The CSA representatives, from the federal government, met with some commissioners Monday in an open meeting which preceded the closed meeting during which Mrs. Ford was fired.

"Just because she was fired doesn't give me confidence in the organization," Mrs. Clark said of BCA.

The resolution to look for other organizations to serve as the anti-poverty agency in Berrien county was presented by Greer. The motion that passed said the board would "go on record with its intent to designate a group within Berrien county to become the anti-poverty agency for Berrien county with strong consideration being given to the already assembled board." Greer said the reference to the "assembled board" meant the BCA board.

Chairman Leslie Fischer appointed a committee comprised of Mrs. Clark, Greer, and Frank Poorman to investigate what group should get the designation and report back to the board.

"If the (BCA) board gets itself in shape it will be given the strongest consideration," Mrs. Clark said, adding "frankly, there's no other choice right now."

Mrs. Clark said the board hopes to designate its anti-poverty agency in August. BCA's funding expires at the end of September, and if the board designates BCA before that date BCA could continue to be funded, Mrs. Clark said.

Although BCA does not have the county's "designation," it had county "recognition," and Mrs. Clark predicted that with the county's designation BCA could receive triple the funding it has been getting. She said she could not immediately tell what the dollar-figure would be.

Mrs. Clark also noted that the motion to designate BCA which was voted down was "turned down to give us more time to look into the matter."

In other business during a quiet July meeting the board: —Eliminated one lieutenant's position and one guard position at the jail and created two new sergeant's positions, to go with the one current sergeant's slot, so that each shift at the jail can have a command officer. The current positions of lieutenant and sergeant are vacant.

—Approved the purchase of a pickup truck from Ned Gates Chevrolet on a low bid at a cost of $3,813.

GALIEN MAN

Ex-Wagon Train Rider Improving

Albert Payne of Galien, a participant in a Bicentennial wagon train which traveled to Valley Forge, Pa. is showing steady improvement in a Kingston, Pa., hospital.

Payne's wife, Ellen, spoke with Leland Habel also of Galien and the driver of the wagon, this morning to report the progress.

"He can move his neck and now has feeling in his face," Habel said.

Payne was paralyzed as the result of some type of viral infection, Habel added. He is still in the intensive care unit of Nesbitt Memorial hospital.

Meanwhile, Habel, who suffered a shattered left kneecap while driving the wagon through Jonesville, Mich., is working on Payne's farm.

"We've got the wheat in, have baled hay and are now baling straw," Habel commented. "We're just keeping the home fires burning until Albert comes back."

Habel said the horses and the wagon were trucked back home after the train made Valley Forge, Pa. to mark the nation's 200th birthday July 4.

Grau Picks Up The Whole Tab

Although Berrien county Commissioner Otto Grau has been known to be "tight-fisted" with county funds he proved during yesterday's board meeting he's generous with his own. Grau paid the entire year's rent for the Berrien County Historical Association to the county general fund. The rent is $1.

"I didn't want the county to foreclose on them," Grau joked as commissioners gave a resounding round of applause. The county serves as landlord of the association's property, centered around the old courthouse in Berrien Springs.

Grau dug into his wallet after Atty. Donald Dick, president of the association, noted the historical society had not yet paid this year's rent while giving an update on the group's activities.

Joel Patterson Uniquely Suited To Be BH Mayor

Joel Carben Patterson looks like just what the doctor ordered for a new mayor of Benton Harbor.

Not that the other two candidates running in the Aug. 3 election aren't good men. On the contrary, they are.

But Patterson appears to possess a unique combination of abilities and characteristics that should make him an outstanding leader in a city sorely in need of exceptional leadership.

He is a successful businessman, former chain store executive now, at terson's wife is the former Miss Naomi Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Williams, 223 Bridgman avenue, Benton township.

Joel Patterson graduated from Eau Claire High School in 1961 and put himself through a year of commercial courses at Lake Michigan College by working as an orderly at Berrien General Hospital. He joined K-Mart at its Benton Harbor store, quickly rising to sports department manager and subsequently to regional manager of sports departments in 34 stores. He moved on up the business line with a subsidiary of Shoppers Fair retail chain but decided that his real aim in life was a business of his own. So in May of 1974, he opened the Village Variety store, expanding it several times since.

He's friendly, a good communicator, totally unassuming: the kind of man most people just naturally cotton to, a nice kind of person to have up front.

Of his two opponents, Ralph Lhotka, 57, served 18 years on the Benton Harbor city commission prior to being defeated by Mickey Yarbrough in 1971. He's an assistant supervisor at the Heath Co., St. Joseph.

The third candidate is Donald Finley, 36, 132 Robbins, a laid-off Benton Harbor policeman who is now working for Bendix. He had also been a Benton Harbor fireman. He has been active in the Boy Scouts and the Olympian games.

Lhotka demonstrated in 18 years on the commission that he's a reasonable man dedicated to sound government. Finley shows promise of the same. Either would probably be a municipal asset as a member of the city commission.

Joel Patterson, however, holds the promise of being something special.

He is a black man who should inspire confidence in the city's black majority. He also understands and speaks the language of the white business establishment that Benton Harbor desperately needs to recall and expand.

Joel Patterson doesn't want politics to pay him off in any greater measure or in any other way than it pays off every other resident and businessman in the city: through improved working and living conditions.

He does not have prior political experience. But his track record in everything else he's ever undertaken spells success.

Joel Patterson looks like the kind of man all of us in Benton Harbor could work with and follow. We urge a big turnout to assure his election Aug. 3.

'Achoo'--You Can Say That Again! And Many Will

He's sensitive! That's another way of commenting on a midsummer story that usually starts "achoo." Yes, it's hay fever time again.

An estimated one person in every 25 in the United States is sensitive to ragweed pollen and suffers to some degree from July through October, depending on what part of the country he inhabits.

Although the affliction has been the butt of jokes ever since it was named "hay fever" more than a century ago, it isn't a laughing matter. He who laughs at it may live to try to sneeze it off.

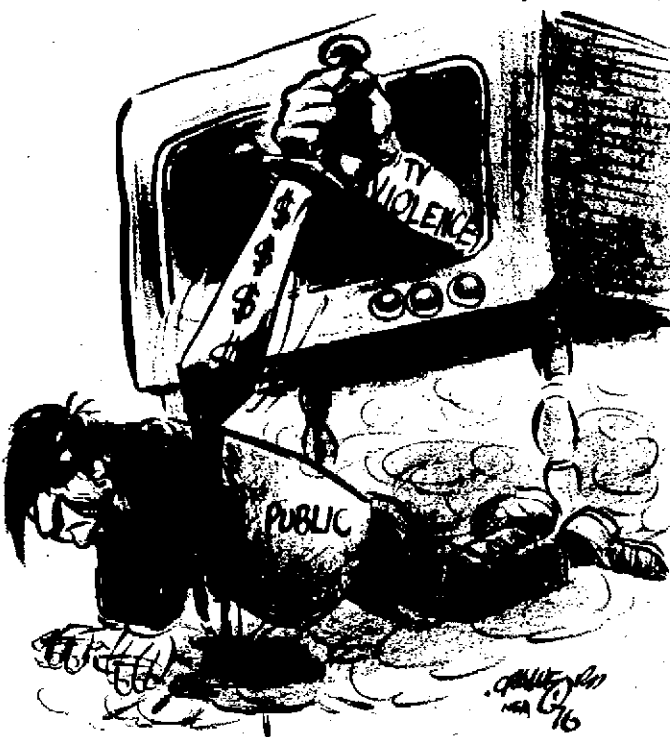

Ragweed occurs from lower New England through much of the South and spreads west to the Rockies, but the great ragweed-growing area is the center of the country.

Best spots to seek relief are along the Canadian border and northward and from the Rockies westward. For those who can't get away from it, happy sneezing!

Murder In The Rue Money

Break May Be Nearing In Hoffa Disappearance

DETROIT (AP) — The grand jury appearance of a key figure in the James R. Hoffa probe has prompted speculation that a break is approaching in the nearly year-old investigation.

The Detroit News quoted an unnamed source Thursday saying "major progress" had been made in the probe of the disappearance last July 30 of the former Teamsters president but that no immediate indictments are expected.

"We believe we now know all the significant details of the case and who killed Hoffa," the source was quoted as saying. "We've got just a couple of problem areas. There will be indictments. The evidence is growing every day."

Joseph Giacalone, 23, son of reputed Mafia kingpin Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone, appeared before the federal grand jury in Detroit on Wednesday after being granted immunity from prosecution.

Anthony Giacalone is one of the men Hoffa believed he was to meet at the restaurant the day he disappeared.

The younger Giacalone had appeared before the grand jury last fall but reportedly refused to answer any questions. The immunity grant took away his right to remain silent on the basis of a Fifth Amendment claim to protection from self-incrimination.

Joseph Giacalone had lent his 1975 Mercury to Hoffa's self-described foster son, Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, who was seen driving the car last July 30 in the area of the Machus Red Fox Restaurant in Bloomfield Township where Hoffa was last seen.

O'Brien said he borrowed the car to deliver a 40-pound salmon to a Teamster official. He has denied knowledge of what happened to Hoffa.

O'Brien was arraigned Thursday before a U.S. magistrate in Detroit on unrelated charges of violating the Taft-Hartley Act. He stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered by magistrate Paul Komives. A $10,000 personal bond was set.

O'Brien has been accused in a two-count federal indictment of accepting a $3,000 automobile and $147 worth of auto repair services for a friend from a Detroit Chevrolet dealer in 1974 while O'Brien was a Teamsters official in Detroit.

The government says the Teamsters were trying to organize automobile sales personnel at the time O'Brien allegedly accepted the gift.

Jury Will Examine Writing

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Three men linked to the disappearance of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa were ordered Thursday to give handwriting samples to a federal grand jury investigating alleged union wrongdoing.

A federal judge gave the order to Salvatore Briguglio, 47, of Washington Township; Thomas Andretta, 38, of Hasbrouck Heights, and his brother, Stephen Andretta, 40, of Fort Lee.

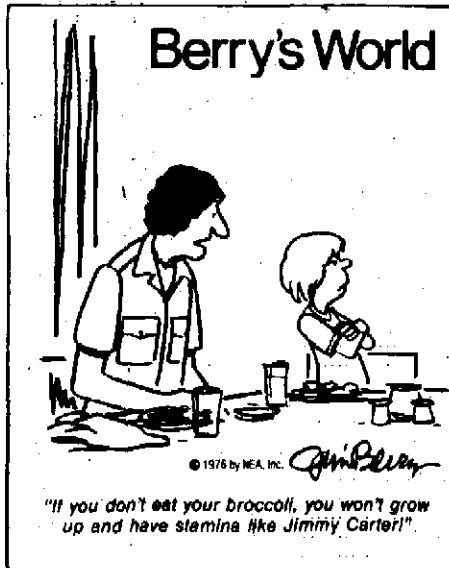

Federal prosecutors said Briguglio, business agent of Teamster Local 560 in Union City, and Thomas Andretta, a truck driver, were named by an informant as the men who abducted Hoffa and presumably killed him. Briguglio's brother, Gabriel, also was named by the informant, the government said.

Raid Follows Month's Probe

DETROIT (AP) — Police arrested 30 persons and say they smashed a $30,000-a-day drug ring with a raid on an apartment building Thursday that netted large amounts of heroin, cocaine and illegal pills.

The raid, which stemmed from a month-long probe, resulted in charges ranging from narcotics possession to obstruction of justice being filed against the 25 men and five women.

Teamsters

Stifle Dissent

WASHINGTON — One rarely has to reproach Teamsters' chief Frank Fitzsimmons for being vague. Usually he makes himself dead clear. But when he recently advised some dissident union members to "go to hell," what he really meant was for them to "go to Coventry."

Coventry is a town in England where, long ago, defeated soldiers were sent for penitence; since then "go to Coventry" has throughout the English-speaking world meant ostracism.

The phrase is now quaint and obsolete. Except in the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, which is fascinated with rituals of the Middle Ages. Members who aren't in lock step with union policy are banished from the company of the faithful — sent to Coventry — until such time as they recognize Fitzsimmons as lord god.

Currently there are several thousand Teamsters in Coventry. They represent a handful of splinter factions who subscribe to such nonsense as union democracy. Lincoln Merrill of Winston-Salem, N.C., is among them. He calls Fitzsimmons names. He believes union hierarchy is an extension of organized crime. Worse, he has joined a union subculture called PROUD which wants the U.S. government to force fundamental Teamsters reform. For this Fitzsimmons has decreed that he, Merrill, is a leper not fit to so much as speak to.

Says Merrill: "The men in my local have ignored me for months. If I ask a question, they won't answer. That is unless I ask something in a union meeting; then they will speak to me by trying to shout me down. Naturally this kind of thing leads to arguments, and one time I even got my fist broken — on some other guy's jaw."

Coventry entails other punishments as well, Merrill adds. He says families have been threatened, wives have received appalling phone calls. "I live in an atmosphere of guarded hostility," he says. The radicals dare not violate a rule, for instance, because the union management, which inevitably subscribes to the Gospel as written by F. Fitzsimmons, is ever seeking ways to get rid of democrats.

And if all else fails to convince men like Merrill of their sins, the end move in the Teamsters is often to pick up the gun. Before he departed society, unexpectedly, ex-Teamsters boss Jimmy Hoffa told a reporter that "the bodies are everywhere." He did not elaborate, and did not have to. R.I.P., Jimmy. Merrill says he has not yet been personally threatened, "but after what I've seen nothing would surprise me."

What Merrill and other PROUD members have seen add up to one of the most damning indictments of union corruption in the modern history of the labor movement. It is contained in a book-length PROUD report, recently released, which charges the Teamsters with specific instances of fraud, financial chicanery and criminal influence. One accusation: a Teamsters local in New York City is dominated by a Mafia family which "profits handsomely from its two pension funds."

Hoffa also wrote a book before he dropped out of sight. In it he bluntly accuses leader Fitzsimmons of being less than saintly. In sum: Fitzsimmons misused $7 million in union funds to buy his own political security; Fitzsimmons awarded a $1.5 million public relations program to men with criminal records; Fitzsimmons authorized vast loans from union pension funds to known mobsters. Indeed, writes Jimmy of Frank, the Teamsters are led by an abominable troll. "No doubt it was Hoffa's hope to the end that his charges would create a national reaction which would delouse Teamsters activities. This is also the hope behind the PROUD publication. Yet in reality the nation no longer has the capacity to be shocked by the Teamsters."

Other Convention Something Else

NEW YORK CITY — The eyes of the country have been on the Democrats, but what the Republicans are doing this week may be far more crucial to the selection of a 1976 presidential nominee than anything that happened in Madison Square Garden.

The Democrats have merely formally ratified the party's choice of Jimmy Carter, which was made a month ago. Simultaneously, however, far from the television cameras, party strategists for President Ford and Ronald Reagan are quietly determining the shape and scope of the procedural maneuverings at the August GOP convention, which the pair will enter in a virtual dead heat.

The deadline for delegate credentials challenges is this Friday. Which states are challenged and how many — and how successfully — could make the difference between whether Ford or Reagan is nominated.

An early Reagan victory in an important credentials challenge against a Ford delegation could prove to be such a psychological boost as to put him over the top. The President's advisers, aware of the potential danger, have said they prefer not to initiate any challenges but are prepared to file against certain Reagan states in retaliation for any Reagan challenges against their states.

The President controls the Republican National Committee, and his supporters hold all the key positions in the official convention machinery. Reagan has been unable to do anything about that big squawk. That does not mean, however, that Ford can control the key convention committees for credentials, rules and platform. The Republicans have established such an intricate internal convention structure that there is a perfectly good chance Reagan can snatch the ball away from Ford.

Each state, regardless of its size, is allowed to send two delegates to sit on each of the three major committees. And the candidate who won the state selects both delegates, regardless of how close his opponent might have come. None of that one-man, one-vote stuff for the Republicans.

Ford will nominally control a handful of votes more than Reagan on the committees under this system. But, in fact, many of the Ford delegates are sympathetic to Reagan on a number of ideological issues, and might not stick with the President if a question is presented properly by Reagan.

In addition to credentials, Reagan supporters may be able to win significant victories in the platform committee. No important battles are expected in the rules committee.

In a delicately balanced convention, such Reagan victories just before the balloting could produce last-minute switches or favorable decisions by uncommitted delegates. It worked that way in the 1962 GOP convention, after Dwight Eisenhower's forces won a significant rules change in defiance of Sen. Robert Taft's supposed control of the convention.

Ask Intervention

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The state attorney general's office has been asked to intervene in the case of the alleged brawl involving Washtenaw County Sheriff Fred Postill, Jail Administrator Frank Donkey and a deputy.

The fight took place Sunday at a wedding reception in Chelsea. Baysinger said the brawl stemmed from a conversation about the election.

20 Books In Year

By JANE SEE WHITE
NEW YORK (AP) — Barbara Cartland spends a good deal of her time in the 19th century. She likes it there, and with good reason: Miss Cartland is the world's best-selling author of romantic 19th century fiction. She has written more than 180 books during the last 50 years and, at 74, she is still going strong. Her most recent books are "Passions in the Sand," "No Time for Love," "The Slaves of Love," and "An Angel in Hell."

"I prefer the 19th century because all my heroines are virgins and they were so much more common then," she said in an interview during a visit here. "And in the 19th century it's so much easier to have an adventure, what with all the exciting things that were happening then."

Miss Cartland believes she set a world's record in creative productivity in 1975. Working at her 350-acre estate, Camfield Place in England, she turned out 19 novels and "one cookery book."

"The idea for a plot comes to me just out of the blue, you know, and it suddenly all falls into shape," Miss Cartland said. "It is absolutely a miracle to me — I don't know how it happens."

Once the plot has taken shape in her mind, she stretches out on a divan, dog in her lap and spends two hours a day dictating the tale to a secretary.

What she does is close her eyes and she is transported into her 19th century setting. As the story unfolds, she simply tells her secretary what she sees.

"And of course it is believable because I have been to all the houses and places I describe," she said.

Dictating a 7,000-word chapter a day, Miss Cartland can turn out a book every seven days or so when the Muse is with her. Each book runs about 185 pages in paperback. The style is short paragraphs, punctuated with a good deal of conversation between the characters.

"I asked my secretaries what they do when they are reading and they come upon a long paragraph," she said. "And they said, 'Why, skip it, of course.' So I don't write long paragraphs."

The writing is somewhat simplified because there are certain key elements in every Barbara Cartland romantic tale.

"Young girls are very impressionable, you know, and I think it's important that the don't think a pretty face alone can win a man and keep him," she explained.

There is a good deal of kissing in a Barbara Cartland story, but never anything more risqué.

And every single one of the nearly 200 Cartland tales has a happy ending. Count on it: The girl always gets her man.

"I wrote one novel with a unhappy ending and then I had a letter from a woman in Australia who wrote, 'If the duke doesn't marry her, I shall commit suicide.' Well, I changed that ending and I've never written an unhappy ending since."

During the interview she was wearing a pink dress — with toenails and fingernails painted to match — four strings of pearls hung around her neck and her hands and wrists glittered with diamonds.

"I am always in love, with my heroes," she said. "If they thrill me, they will jolly well thrill the people who read about them."

Miss Cartland's first book was published in 1923 and she remembers it as successful.

"But, because the duke kissed the girl on page 200, my great aunts never spoke to me again because they said, 'It must be experience.' But of course I have never met a duke."

Cartland romances are tremendously popular today. One of her three United States publishers reports that each Cartland title sells about half a million copies. She has 33 different publishers around the world.

"There is a romantic explosion the world over, which is due entirely to pornography," Miss Cartland said. "It is quite obvious that there is a swing the pendulum back to romantic things."

SILAS LEGG

Rev. Legg Temporary BCA Chief

The executive board of Berrien County Action, Inc. (BCA) has appointed Rev. Silas Legg, current BCA program planner, as temporary director until a permanent director of the local anti-poverty agency is named. Nora Jefferson, BCA board chairman, said the executive board, made up of four board members, agreed to appoint Rev. Legg in a special meeting Wednesday.

Rev. Legg of Benton Harbor temporarily takes over the duties of Mrs. Helen Ford who was fired by the BCA board of directors in a special meeting Monday.

Mrs. Jefferson said a permanent director of the agency is expected to be named at the board's regular meeting Aug. 18.

She also said the full 14-member board of directors is expected to confirm Legg's appointment at its next regular meeting Wednesday. The board may also appoint a personnel committee to review applicants for the permanent executive director position, she said.

Members of the BCA executive board are Mrs. Jefferson, Melvin Farmer, Jr., Cecilia Burke and former Mayor Charles Joseph. Mrs. Jefferson said Joseph was not present at Wednesday's special meeting.

Rev. Legg, who was hired as BCA program planner in July, 1975, is minister of the Church of Christ, 1451 East Main street, Benton township. He and his wife, Myra, live at 793 Waukonda avenue.

County Receives Reply...At Last

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Some 3½ months after the Berrien board of commissioners wrote the U.S. Postal Service urging that the St. Joseph post office not be closed a reply was received.

The postal service's non-committal reply came through the mail.

The board on March 18 went on record opposing any closing or shifting of services from the St. Joseph post office after reports that the postal service was considering transferring part of the St. Joseph operations to the Benton Harbor post office.

The reply from the Office of the Postmaster General was dated July 6 and County Clerk Forrest H. Kesterke said the letter was received July 12.

"The postal service will be reviewing the operation of small post offices throughout the country," the letter said. "However, there will be no changes in the status of any office prior to a survey of the affected community and an opportunity for the customers involved to review alternatives."

"Concerning your inquiry about St. Joseph, it is (the) understanding (of the postal service) that a survey has been conducted but no recommendation has been made at this time."

St. Joseph Postmaster Robert McMullen said he has received nothing new concerning the future of the St. Joseph office, but said he understood that all closings have been indefinitely deferred by the federal government.

Niles Policeman Has Left Force

NILES — Myron Olson, whose testimony before the Berrien county citizens grand jury has led to the indictment of four Niles policemen, resigned from the Niles police department on May 25, the department said today. It was reported in stories in this newspaper Wednesday and Thursday covering district court hearing for some of the indicted officers that Olson was on leave from the department. Olson, under immunity from prosecution, has testified he participated in break-ins and larcenies with other officers.

UP 33 CENTS SHARE

Bendix Has Record Quarterly Earnings

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — The Bendix Corp. earned $29.4 million in the third quarter of 1976, setting a company record for earnings in a three-month period, the firm announced Thursday. Bendix said the earnings came on revenues of $803 million compared with $696 million in the same period of 1975. Per share earnings were $1.33, compared with $1 last year on net earnings of $21.7 million.

For the nine-month period, Bendix said it had revenues of $2.25 billion, a 16 per cent increase above revenues of $1.94 billion in comparable 1975. Income reached $79.2 million, Bendix said, up 37 per cent from the $57.7 million in the 1975 period. Earnings per share were $3.59 and $2.65. The net income for the nine-month period nearly equaled profits for all of 1975, said W. Michael Blumenthal, who noted the rate of earnings increase was greater than the rate his firm's revenues climbed.

Blumenthal, president, chairman and chief executive officer, said improved auto sales were partly responsible for the increase. Bendix makes original and replacement auto parts and also is active in the housing and mobile home markets as well as aerospace electronics. Blumenthal predicted earnings would continue to grow in the fourth quarter, although at a slower pace.

Radde Named By United Way

Raymond Radde of St. Joseph has been appointed chairman of the public division for the 1976 Blossomland United Way campaign.

Radde's responsibilities include fund raising drives for the United Way in public service agencies including government, school districts and utility companies.

Radde was chairman of the industry, commerce, labor and construction division during the 1975 United Way fund drive, and has served in other capacities in United Way campaigns from 1970.

He is manager of distribution operations for the Whirlpool Corporation.

Neighborhood Beauty Contest Is BH Topic

The status of the Benton Harbor Crime Prevention program's "Block Beautification" contest will be discussed at the regular meeting of the Crime Deterrence council at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Benton Harbor public library. Lt. Al Edwards, director of the crime prevention program, said citizens will be informed on how they can obtain paint at reduced cost from the city's housing inspection department to fix up their houses. The contest, which ends Aug. 15, will award a trophy to the block club which does the most in beautifying its neighborhood during the period. A movie entitled "Another Place to Come to" which deals with the causes of juvenile delinquency, will also be shown at the meeting.

SJ Concert To Offer Variety Of Music

A wide variety of musical entertainment will be presented this Sunday at the St. Joseph Municipal band concerts, according to John E.N. Howard, band conductor.

The concerts, open to the public, will be held at 2:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. at the St. Joseph bandshell.

Howard said Sunday's programs will include musical offerings from Sousa marches to the "Il Quaresima" overture; music from only the brass section of the band; solos and duets from trumpets and tubas and vocal music by the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor YWCA Sing-A-Lings.

The Sing-A-Lings were formed in 1972 for the fun of singing barbershop harmony. Directed by Mrs. Edna Reil, the chorus began with seven members and has now increased to over 20 members.

The Sound Waves quartette, Miss Suzanne De Yot, lead; Mrs. Judy McCormack, tenor; Mrs. Reil, bass; and Mrs. Carol Humbert, baritone, will also sing. The quartette, except for Mrs. McCormack, who is not a member of the Sing-A-Lings, belongs to the singing group and to Harmony, Inc., an international organization of women barbershop singers.

Howard said the brass section of the municipal band will play Henry Purcell's symphony from "The Fairy Queen" and will be directed by Dr. Donald Moely, professor of music and head of the music department at Lake Michigan college where he directs the symphonic wind ensemble, woodwind and brass ensembles, jazz lab band and teaches trumpet.

Playing a tuba duet, "Puff the Magic Dragon", will be Jerry Lackey and Rick Watts.

Berrien County Action Rejected As Official Anti-Poverty Agency

BY SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The Berrien county board of commissioners yesterday by an 11 to 1 vote denied a motion which would have designated Berrien County Action (BCA) as the county's official anti-poverty agency.

But the board then voted to look into organizations which might receive the county's backing, including the board of directors of BCA.

The action came in the wake of Monday's dismissal of Helen Ford of Benton Harbor as executive director of BCA by the group's board of directors. Commissioner Victor Greer of Benton Harbor, who also serves on the BCA board, was the only commissioner voting in favor of giving BCA the county backing. Commissioner Bill Joseph, also of Benton Harbor, was absent.

The motion to designate BCA as the county's anti-poverty agency was originally presented to the board on April 29 but was tabled, and no action was taken on the motion until it was removed from the table yesterday. Commissioner Nancy Clark, chairman of the commission's planning and social services committee, said the firing of Mrs. Ford had nothing to do with the motion surfacing yesterday.

"It was not because of the firing," Mrs. Clark told reporters. "It was taken off the table because the Community Services Administration people came to see the county and asked if we were still interested in having an anti-poverty agency." The CSA representatives, from the federal government, met with some commissioners Monday in an open meeting which preceded the closed meeting during which Mrs. Ford was fired.

"Just because she was fired doesn't give me confidence in the organization," Mrs. Clark said of BCA.

The resolution to look for other organizations to serve as the anti-poverty agency in Berrien county was presented by Greer. The motion that passed said the board would "go on record with its intent to designate a group within Berrien county to become the anti-poverty agency for Berrien county with strong consideration being given to the already assembled board." Greer said the reference to the "assembled board" meant the BCA board.

Chairman Leslie Fischer appointed a committee comprised of Mrs. Clark, Greer, and Frank Poorman to investigate what group should get the designation and report back to the board.

"If the (BCA) board gets itself in shape it will be given the strongest consideration," Mrs. Clark said, adding "frankly, there's no other choice right now."

Mrs. Clark said the board hopes to designate its anti-poverty agency in August. BCA's funding expires at the end of September, and if the board designates BCA before that date BCA could continue to be funded, Mrs. Clark said.

Although BCA does not have the county's "designation" it had county "recognition," and Mrs. Clark predicted that with the county's designation BCA could receive triple the funding it has been getting. She said she could not immediately tell what the dollar-figure would be.

Mrs. Clark also noted that the motion to designate BCA which was voted down was "turned down to give us more time to look into the matter."

In other business during a quiet July meeting the board: —Eliminated one lieutenant's position and one guard position at the jail and created two new sergeant's positions, to go with the one current sergeant's slot, so that each shift at the jail can have a command officer. The current positions of lieutenant and sergeant are vacant.

—Approved the purchase of a pickup truck from Ned Gates Chevrolet on a low bid at a cost of $3,813.

GALIEN MAN Ex-Wagon Train Rider Improving

Albert Payne of Galien, a participant in a Bicentennial wagon train which traveled to Valley Forge, Pa. is showing steady improvement in a Kingston, Pa., hospital.

Payne's wife, Ellen, spoke with Leland Habel also of Galien and the driver of the wagon, this morning to report the progress. "He can move his neck and now has feeling in his face," Habel said.

Payne was paralyzed as the result of some type of viral infection, Habel added. He is still in the intensive care unit of Nesbitt Memorial hospital.

Meanwhile, Habel, who suffered a shattered left kneecap while driving the wagon through Jonesville, Mich., is working on Payne's farm.

"We've got the wheat in, have baled hay and are now baling straw," Habel commented. "We're just keeping the home fires burning until Albert comes back."

Habel said the horses and the wagon were trucked back home after the train made Valley Forge, Pa. to mark the nation's 200th birthday July 4.

Grau Picks Up The Whole Tab

Although Berrien county Commissioner Otto Grau has been known to be "tight-fisted" with county funds he proved during yesterday's board meeting he's generous with his own. Grau paid the entire year's rent for the Berrien County Historical Association to the county general fund. The rent is $1.

"I didn't want the county to foreclose on them," Grau joked as commissioners gave a resounding round of applause. The county serves as landlord of the association's property, centered around the old courthouse in Berrien Springs.

Grau dug into his wallet after Atty. Donald Dick, president of the association, noted the historical society had not yet paid this year's rent while giving an update on the group's activities.

PWP Honors

Exhibit Winners

Six children of members of Twin City Chapter, Parents Without Partners, were final winners in the International Youths Exhibit sponsored by the International Parents Without Partners.

Area winners who were announced at the International PWP convention held in New Orleans July 1-5 include Robbie Krumske, a first place in the sculpture category and second place with a collage in the youngest age group; Mike Swan, in the B age group, a first place for an exhibit of a nature assemblage; Lynn Cadwell, a third place for macramé in the C age group; and Nancy Hubbard, first place in color photography, second in leadership category and a third in black and white photography, also C age group.

Marie Orth received a first place in the science division in the C age group and Kevin Salmon won a third for a head sculpture in the D age group.

The exhibit began at the local chapter level and winners were judged in a regional exhibit and then a divisional judging was held before the final international winners from the United States, Canada and Australia, were determined.

The regional, divisional and international level judging were headed by members of the Twin Cities chapter of PWP, DeVerna Hubbard of St. Joseph was in charge of the international judging this year as well as the divisional (Eastern United States) exhibit. Mrs. Adela Schultz of St. Joseph was assistant manager. Mrs. Schultz also was chairman of the regional youth exhibit held in Elkhart, Ind., last April.

Members of various local organizations participated as judges in the several categories exhibited. The photography division was judged by members of the Twin City Camera club, while teachers from Washington elementary school and Milton junior high school, St. Joseph, and Benton Harbor high school judged crafts and original writing categories. Members from St. Joseph Art Guild and Lakeshore Art Guild were responsible for various art categories judging. An industrial executive acted as judge and, in the songs division, members of the local Musicians Union were judges.

Int'l President

Mrs. Dorothy Gilbert, a member of Parents Without Partners, Twin Cities Chapter No. 151, has been elected president for Parents Without Partners International.

The election of 1976-77 officers was held at the 17th international convention in New Orleans July 1-5.

Also attending from the twin cities chapter were Don Pylman, Buchanan, vice president of Michiana regional council; Mrs. Roni Krumske, St. Joseph, president of the twin cities chapter; Mrs. Dee Hubbard, St. Joseph, International Youth Exhibits chairman; Mrs. Roberta Badiac, St. Joseph, and Mrs. Jeanette Cadwell, Benton Harbor, delegates, and Ollie Loveless, Benton Harbor.

Mrs. Gilbert, St. Joseph, is a reading teacher in the Benton Harbor school system and has two children.

She has been a member of the twin cities chapter of PWP since 1969, serving a term as chapter president.

She has also been a Michiana regional vice president, regional president, district supervisor (six states), and was elected to the international board as a director in 1973.

For the past two years, Mrs. Gilbert has served as international vice president for research and development.

PWP is a non-profit, non-sectarian educational organization devoted to the welfare and interests of single parents and their children. In 19 years, PWP has grown to more than 140,000 members in 850 chapters in the United States and Canada as well as affiliated groups in foreign countries.

Former Brooklyn Dodgers star Don Newcombe scored July 4 with a different-type pitch when he discussed his personal victory over alcoholism with the 1,600 persons attending the New Orleans convention.

Single parent of the year award was presented to Mrs. Lucy Bradford Evans of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The 1977 convention will be held in July in Boston.

20 Books In Year

By JANE SEE WHITE
NEW YORK (AP) — Barbara Cartland spends a good deal of her time in the 18th century. She likes it there, and with good reason: Miss Cartland is the world's best-selling author of romantic 18th century fiction. She has written more than 100 books during the last 50 years and, at 74, she is still going strong. Her most recent books are "Passions in the Sand," "No Time for Love," "The Slaves of Love," and "An Angel in Hell."

"I prefer the 18th century because all my heroines are virgins and they were so much more common then," she said in an interview during a visit here. "And in the 18th century it's so much easier to have an adventure, what with all the exciting things that were happening then."

Miss Cartland believes she set a world's record in creative productivity in 1975. Working at her 350-acre estate, Camfield Place in England, she turned out 19 novels and "one cookery book."

"The idea for a plot comes to me just out of the blue, you know, and it suddenly all falls into shape," Miss Cartland said. "It is absolutely a miracle to me — I don't know how it happens."

Once the plot has taken shape in her mind, she stretches out on a divan, dog in her lap and spends two hours a day dictating the tale to a secretary.

What she does is close her eyes and she is transported into her 18th century setting. As the story unfolds, she simply tells her secretary what she sees.

"And of course it is believable because I have been to all the houses and places I describe," she said.

Dictating a 7,000-word chapter a day, Miss Cartland can turn out a book every seven days or so when the Muse is with her. Each book runs about 185 pages in paperback. The style is short paragraphs, punctuated with a good deal of conversation between the characters.

"I asked my secretaries what they do when they are reading and they come upon a long paragraph," she said. "And they said, 'Why, skip it, of course.' So I don't write long paragraphs."

The writing is somewhat simplified because there are certain key elements in every Barbara Cartland romantic tale.

"Young girls are very impressionable, you know, and I think it's important that they don't think a pretty face alone can win a man and keep him," she explained.

There is a good deal of kissing in a Barbara Cartland story, but never anything more risqué.

And every single one of the nearly 200 Cartland tales has a happy ending. Count on it: The girl always gets her man.

"I wrote one novel with an unhappy ending and then I had a letter from a woman in Australia who wrote, 'If the duke doesn't marry her, I shall commit suicide.' Well, I changed that ending and I've never written an unhappy ending since."

Miss Cartland is as romantic as any 15-year-old schoolgirl herself. Her entire wardrobe for a recent tour of the United States was in shades of light blue and pink.

During the interview she was wearing a pink dress — with toe-rings and fingernails painted to match — four strings of pearls hung around her neck and her hands and wrists glittered with diamonds.

"I am always in love, with my heroes," she said. "If they thrill me, they will jolly well thrill the people who read about them."

Miss Cartland's first book was published in 1923 and she remembers it as successful.

"But, because the duke kissed the girl on page 200, my great aunts never spoke to me again, because they said, 'It must be experience.' But of course I had never met a duke."

Cartland romances are tremendously popular today. One of her three United States publishers reports that each Cartland title sells about half a million copies. She has 30 different publishers around the world.

"There is a romantic explosion the world over, which is due entirely to pornography," Miss Cartland said. "It is quite obvious that there is a swing of the pendulum back to romantic things."

Weddings Are Solemnized

LACOTA — Stetson chapel at Kalamazoo college was the setting July 10 for the wedding of Miss Sandy Krzemen and Ronald Charles Morton. The Rev. Fr. James O'Leary of St. Thomas More, Kalamazoo, performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Krzemenof Lacota. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Morton of Allegan.

The bride wore an ivory chignon knit gown trimmed with reembordered alencon lace and pearls and featuring a chapel train. Her matching garden hat was trimmed with ivory lace and she carried gardenias and roses.

Mrs. Robert Crescenzi was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Krzemen, sister of the bride, Miss Pam Morton, sister of the groom, Mrs. Mike Morton, Miss Cindy Krzemen, Miss Cathy Dendel, Miss Paula Selter and Miss Beverly Sherman.

Kevin Krzemen was ring-bearer.

Serving as best man for his brother was James Morton. Ushers were Kari Krzemen, brother of the bride, Mike Morton, brother of the groom, Wayne Allen, Willard Smith, Mark Myers, Gary Winzeller and Steve Melvin.

A reception was held in the President's ballroom of Wells hall, Kalamazoo college.

Following a wedding trip to California the couple will make

The bride is a graduate of Bloomingdale high school and National Beauty college, Benton Harbor. She is employed by Continental Styling, Kalamazoo. Her husband is a graduate of Allegan high school and Ferris State college. He is employed by Doerr GMC Truck Sales, Kalamazoo.

SOUTH HAVEN — First United Methodist church, South Haven, was the setting July 3 for the marriage of Miss Lori Lynne Dutkowski and Carl John Schnoberger.

The Rev. Richard Youells performed the ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Dutkowski, Lake Ridge road, South Haven, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Schnoberger, 541 Elkenburg street, South Haven.

The bride wore a sugarcane knit jersey gown designed with an English net yoke and a chapel train. A lace trimmed garden hat held her veil and she carried carnations, roses, daisies and baby's breath.

Miss Sue Burrows was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Debbie Bailey and Miss Dea Downing.

Serving as best man was Michael J. Benedict. James Ridley and Ron Ridley were ushers.

A reception was held at Oak Springs Inn on Saddle Lake.

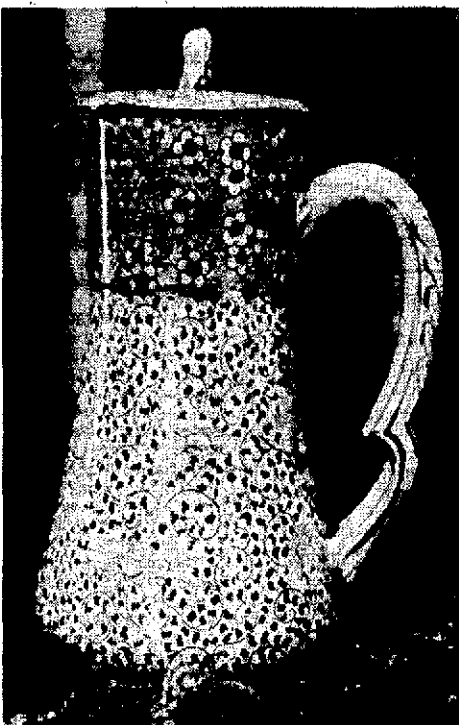

Following a wedding trip to northern Michigan, the couple will make their home in the Mt. Pleasant subdivision, South Haven.

The bride is a graduate of L.C. Mohr high school, South Haven, and the College of Cosmetology, South Haven. Her husband is a graduate of L.C. Mohr high school and is employed by Everett Piano company, South Haven.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Bored With 'Organ Recitals'

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago I moved to Kalamazoo, Mich., from Grand Rapids. Although the cities are not far apart it's like a different world.

I have always been involved with church and club work. In Grand Rapids, I was active in many groups and the women were lovely. I've met some fine women here in Kalamazoo but they are older and seem to be preoccupied with their illnesses and operations. I attended a lunch meeting this afternoon and the conversation was a rehash of everyone's surgery. One woman told about her ovarian cyst, "the size of a lemon." Another woman described her uterine tumor as "big as a grapefruit." A third lady, not to be outdone, said her fibroid was the largest the doctor had ever seen — "as big as a watermelon."

Such topics are boring and unappetizing. I've tried without success to turn the conversations to more uplifting subjects. What do you suggest? — New In Town

Dear New: I've been to Kalamazoo and I can tell you there are many women there who can talk about something besides their operations.

If you are fed up with "organ recitals" (and who can blame you), find new friends. There are all kinds of women everywhere. People, like water, seek their own level.

When's Best Time

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the lady who asked if her unemployed husband has the right to ask for sex after 11:00 at night when she must be at work at 0 in the morning.

It seems to me the lady's problem isn't that her husband wants sex after 11:00 p.m., but that he is unemployed! How would she feel about his sex drive if he had a job? Would she still be too tired?

If so, she has a third problem — she doesn't want sex ANY time, under ANY conditions. When does she think other working couples make love?

If Mrs. Too Tired really objects to the time of night, she could solve the problem very easily by suggesting that they get cozy the minute she walks in the door after work — or the first thing in the morning. I'll bet he'd be delighted no matter what the hour. — No Timekeeper

Dear N.T.: "Getting cozy" the minute Mrs. Working Wife walks in the door is fine provided (1) they have no kids, (2) someone has at least started the supper.

Morning makes better sense, assuming, of course, that she is a canary and he is a rooster.

Bad Practice

Dear Ann Landers: I am a divorced woman with a seven-year-old daughter. When she visits her father they sleep in the same bed. I don't like to make waves unless I am sure of my ground because my ex has a very short temper. When he blows his top he's like a crazy man.

Do you think this arrangement might be harmful to the child? I won't say anything till I hear from you.

West's three heart bid was correct because he trusted both his partner and his opponents. He trusted that his partner wouldn't suddenly decide to go and bid four hearts. This wasn't too much trust. If East had any

What do you say? — Midwestern Mama

Dear Mama: I've said it dozens of times but I'll say it again. Children should not be permitted to sleep with their parents.

If your ex has an explosive temper, ask your pediatrician to write him a note stating the facts. If the sleeping together continues, see your lawyer about revising your husband's visiting privileges.

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

interest in playing four hearts, he would have bid three hearts over North's two spades.

As for trust in his opponents, West knew that they had stopped at two spades and neither one was going to decide to go to game after that first decision.

What other chance did West take? He might get doubled but who was going to double? He, West, had good trumps and his partner had bid the suit first.

What could West gain? He could get his opponents to three spades and maybe beat that contract one trick.

South really should have passed and watched three hearts get set, but he did bid three spades. He also might have made three spades, but he managed to lose one spade, two hearts, a club and a diamond so West's three-heart bid really paid off.

Iddles Reunion July 18

PULLMAN — The 49th annual reunion of former students of the old Iddles school, Pullman, will be held Sunday, July 18, at the Casco Community hall, Leisure.

All former parents, teachers, pupils and their families are invited to the 1 p.m. potluck dinner. Entertainment will be provided.

Clark Women Plan Meeting

NILES — The Clark Professional Women's organization will meet Wednesday, July 21, for a picnic at the Niles township park and Community Center.

The Bicentennial picnic will begin at 6 p.m. There will be a Bicentennial costume contest.

July 17, 1976

The lofty goals you set for yourself are attainable this coming year. Your only problem could be impatience at moving more slowly than you desire.

Niles Library Activities

NILES — Two films will be shown free of charge Monday, July 19, from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. at the Niles Community library.

"Miss Goodall and the Wild Chimpanzees" documents the work of anthropologist Jane Goodall and her study on the behavior of wild chimpanzees in Africa. "Vagabond," the second film to be shown, presents Charlie Chaplin in one of his performances as the pathetic little tramp.

The preschool story hours Tuesday and Wednesday, July 20 and 21, will feature the stories "Rabbit Bros. Circus" by Kurt Wiese; "Only One Ant" by Leonore Klein; and "Animals Should Definitely Not Wear Clothing" by Judi Barrett. The film, "Curious George Rides a Bike," will also be shown. The hours begin at 10:15 a.m.

Students in grades kindergarten through nine are invited to participate in the Wednesday,

July 21, activity program at the library. The Rev. Karen Slager will direct creative dramatic activities, beginning at 3 p.m. in the library auditorium.

The Thursday, July 22, film flicks at the library will include "White Wilderness," "Stage Coach Westward," "Hercules," and "The Mummy," with Boris Karloff. The films begin at 3 p.m. in the auditorium.

Special programs of interest for teens will be offered Tuesday, July 20, at 3 p.m., when the films, "Karate," and "Vagabond," will be shown.

Blow N' Go

Speaking of my hair . . . you may remember that in the last episode, I opted for the Brillo pad look, which followed the Grace Kelly syndrome (I was blessing children in supermarkets), which came after the wig that got dandruff and died.

Don't get me wrong. I loved the little tight curls close to my head. It's only when they started to grow out that I looked like an aging pepper plant.

That's when I went for the Blow n' Go. In my mind, I saw it as a coiffure with the maintenance of a self-cleaning oven. You just set a few dials, and zip, you were ready for the ball.

This isn't exactly true. My blow n' go blew too much and went too far.

To begin with you need one of those Dorothy Hamill haircuts, which look terrific but you get this intense urge to ice skate. Secondly, there are two definitions of blow.

There's blow (verb), to send forth a current of air with force, as a wind that blows gently through the chimneys.

There's also blow (noun), a sudden unexpected shock, an unfortunate or calamitous happening.

My blow was definitely an unfortunate and calamitous happening. I laundered my hair and borrowed my son's hair dryer.

Without any warning whatsoever, that dryer sucked up my two pitiful strands of hair, nearly pulling my feet off the floor. It was only by a miracle that I was able to kick the plug out of the wall, thus saving my entire face from being devoured by the appliance.

"That dryer nearly killed me," I said to my son.

"You used a dryer for that measly amount of hair? For that you could just hang out of the no-draft in the car. What do they call it?"

"A blow n' go."

"Go where?"

"Any place you want to go."

"You're kidding. You look like a guy I know in the Marine corps. He's too embarrassed to go anywhere."

When my husband came home he looked at me and said, "What happened to your hair?"

"I blew it," I said.

He shook his head. "I'll say."

I fractured my leg two months ago. It has healed completely. When the weather is turning bad I feel definite pains only in that leg. Can weather have anything to do with a healed fracture? — Mr. D.S., N.Y.

Dear Mr. S.: Your story is not uncommon. It seems that a great many people complain of unpleasant sensations in the area of a fracture before, or during, a change of weather.

In the absence of any X-ray or other findings this should not be a source of concern. Almost always, after four to six months, these pains tend to disappear.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... Keep a health record for each member of the family. Memory cannot always be depended on for illnesses, contagious diseases and vaccinations.

PWP Honors

Exhibit Winners

Six children of members of Twin City Chapter, Parents Without Partners, were final winners in the International Youths Exhibit sponsored by the International Parents Without Partners.

Area winners who were announced at the International PWP convention held in New Orleans July 1-5 include Robbie Krumske, a first place in the sculpture category and second place with a collage in the youngest age group; Mike Swan, in the B age group, a first place for an exhibit of a nature assemblage; Lynn Cadwell, a third place for macrame in the C age group, and Nancy Hubbard, first place in color photography, second in leadership category and a third in black and white photography, also C age group.

Marie Orth received a first place in the science division in the C age group and Kevin Salmon won a third for a head sculpture in the D age group.

The exhibit began at the local chapter level and winners were judged in a regional exhibit and then a divisional judging was held before the final international winners from the United States, Canada and Australia, were determined.

The regional, divisional and international level judging were headed by members of the Twin Cities chapter of PWP. DeVerna Hubbard of St. Joseph was in charge of the international judging this year as well as the

Int'l President

Mrs. Dorothy Gilbert, a member of Parents Without Partners, Twin Cities Chapter No. 151, has been elected president for Parents Without Partners International.

The election of 1976-77 officers was held at the 17th international convention in New Orleans July 1-5.

Also attending from the twin cities chapter were Don Pylman, Buchanan, vice president of Michiana regional council; Mrs. Roni Krumske, St. Joseph, president of the twin cities chapter; Mrs. Dee Hubbard, St. Joseph, International Youth Exhibits chairman; Mrs. Roberta Badiac, St. Joseph, and Mrs. Jeanette Cadwell, Benton Harbor, delegates, and Ollie Lovelace, Benton Harbor.

Mrs. Gilbert, St. Joseph, is a reading teacher in the Benton Harbor school system and has two children.

She has been a member of the twin cities chapter of PWP since 1968, serving a term as chapter president.

She has also been a Michiana regional vice president, regional president, district supervisor (six states), and was elected to the international board as a director in 1973.

For the past two years, Mrs. Gilbert has served as international vice president for research and development.

PWP is a non-profit, non-sectarian educational organization devoted to the welfare and interests of single parents and their children. In 19 years, PWP has grown to more than 140,000 members in 850 chapters in the United States and Canada as well as affiliated groups in foreign countries.

Former Brooklyn Dodgers star Don Newcombe scored July 4 with a different-type pitch when he discussed his personal victory over alcoholism with the 1,600 persons attending the New Orleans convention.

Single parent of the year award was presented to Mrs. Lucy Bradfield Evans of Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The 1977 convention will be held in July in Boston.

Where To Go... And When

The Twin Cities Arts Council maintains a permanent calendar of events for area groups to list dates of events they have scheduled. Groups are urged to report their own dates so that others will not select the same dates for major cultural and social activities in the Twin Cities by calling Dorothy Thor, Michigan State University Center, 925-0922.

Tree Farm Teaches Forestry Skills

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — From a mere twig of an investment, the Lincoln High School Tree Farm has sprouted into a top vocational forestry program that turns youngsters loose in the woods to "get their hands dirty and their noses wet."

Rain or shine, 45 youths wrestle chainsaws, fell trees, build roads, chop firewood and otherwise sharpen their wood-working skills.

Each year, the pupils harvest between 60,000 and 80,000 board feet, logging five acres and planting five to keep pace with a 70-year growth cycle.

This year, the pupils also are building a Bicentennial log cabin, which will become a combination bunkhouse and visitor center for elementary school children in outdoor education classes.

The curriculum on the 360-acre tract in the Muck Creek watershed 17 miles south of Tacoma is short on academics and long on hard work.

"It's good for 'em," says Donald "Doc" Christian, who serves as instructor with David Trier. "It never hurt a kid to get his hands dirty."

About half the pupils in the program later find work in forest-related trades, says Christian.

Despite the school's solid credentials as a vocational education program, Christian readily admits most of the pupils are there because they'd rather be in the woods than in the classroom.

The program offers alternative education to those who otherwise might lose interest in school. High school counselors can place the youngsters at the tree farm from one to three quarters.

Once strictly a preserve of Lincoln high's forestry classes, the program is now open to all Tacoma high school pupils.

Some like Wilson high's Eileen Morgan, signed up because of a genuine interest in forestry. Three women pupils are currently in the program.

The original cost of the program to the Tacoma school district was $2.

Forestry had been an extracurricular activity at Lincoln since 1931, when youngsters first started planting fir trees on burned-out portions of the Snoqualmie National Forest.

In 1941, the district paid Pierce County $2 for 240 acres on the Muck Creek watershed. Three years later, the district swapped the county the original parcel for the farm's present 360 acres.

Search On For Man-Eating Pets

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Some man-eating piranha — outlawed in Florida — are swimming

around in some home fish tanks today. They were mistakenly sold as docile little red pacus to four pet shops.

"I've got three people out now knocking on doors trying to get them back," Jack Lynch, manager of Sunset Aquarium in Clearwater, said Thursday. "I had eight, but I have no idea who bought five of them. I think I remember the other three. I'm doing my damndest."

Piranha, a vicious flesh-eater known for mass attacks on large animals — including man — are native to tropic South America. They're outlawed in Florida because of the potential danger if they happened to be released in the state's subtropical fresh waters.

The Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission sent inspectors to the pet stores to warn operators that 23 two-inch piranhas were accidentally delivered in the last couple of weeks.

"They're outlawed here so you really don't look for piranhas," said Lynch. He said young piranha and the pacus are similar in appearance, except for the lower jaw. And the teeth. And the taste for flesh.

Lynch put a sign on the front door warning customers that if they'd seen or bought such a fish to bring it back or to contact the commission in Tallahassee.

Earl Harris, owner of Tails and Scales in St. Petersburg, said he had 10 of the fish. He said six were eaten by their tank companions before he could sell them. The other four were sold, and he doesn't know who bought them.

At Tampa's Fin City, owner Faye Hensley said she had three baby piranha. But she said she recognized them and tossed them out.

"They're so similar to the silvery-looking pacus," she said. "But the behavior is totally different. The pacus isn't aggressive."

Owners of the fourth pet store could not be contacted.

The piranha were distributed by Exotica Fish Co. of nearby Gibsonton.

"Personally, I'm very embarrassed about this thing," said owner Hank Larsen. "It's got to be understood that the fish I ordered were red pacus."

He said he acquired the fish from an importing firm in Miami, but he declined to name it.

In Tallahassee, the fish commission's director, Dr. Earl

Frye, said the state was hardpressed to keep such mistakes from happening.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Bored With 'Organ Recitals'

Dear Ann Landers: A few months ago I moved to Kalamazoo, Mich., from Grand Rapids. Although the cities are not far apart it's like a different world.

I have always been involved with church and club work. In Grand Rapids, I was active in many groups and the women were lovely. I've met some fine women here in Kalamazoo but they are older and seem to be preoccupied with their illnesses and operations. I attended a lunch meeting this afternoon and the conversation was a rehash of everyone's surgery. One woman told about her ovarian cyst, "the size of a lemon." Another woman described her uterine tumor as "big as a grapefruit." A third lady, not to be outdone, said her fibroid was the largest the doctor had ever seen — "as big as a watermelon."

Such topics are boring and unappetizing. I've tried without success to turn the conversations to more uplifting subjects. What do you suggest? — New In Town

Dear New: I've been to Kalamazoo and I can tell you there are many women there who can talk about something besides their operations.

If you are fed up with "organ recitals" (and who can blame you), find new friends. There are all kinds of women everywhere. People, like water, seek their own level.

When's Best Time

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter from the lady who asked if her unemployed husband has the right to ask for sex after 11:00 at night when she must be at work at 6 in the morning.

It seems to me the lady's problem isn't that her husband wants sex after 11:00 p.m., but that he is unemployed! How would she feel about his sex drive if he had a job? Would she still be too tired?

If so, she has a third problem — she doesn't want sex ANY time, under ANY conditions. When does she think other working couples make love?

If Mrs. Too Tired really objects to the time of night, she could solve the problem very easily by suggesting that they get cozy the minute she walks in the door after work — or the first thing in the morning. I'll bet he'd be delighted no matter what the hour. — No Timekeeper

Dear N.T.: "Getting cozy" the minute Mrs. Working Wife walks in the door is fine provided (1) they have no kids, (2) someone has at least started the supper.

Morning makes better sense, assuming, of course, that she is a canary and he is a rooster.

Bad Practice

Dear Ann Landers: I am a divorced woman with a seven-year-old daughter. When she visits her father they sleep in the same bed. I don't like to make waves unless I am sure of my ground because my ex has a very short temper. When he blows his top he's like a crazy man.

Do you think this arrangement might be harmful

to the child? I won't say anything till I hear from you.

What do you say? — Midwestern Mama

Dear Mama: I've said it dozens of times but I'll say it again. Children should not be permitted to sleep with their parents.

If your ex has an explosive temper, ask your pediatrician to write him a note stating the facts. If the sleeping together continues, see your lawyer about revising your husband's visiting privileges.

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

West's three heart bid was correct because he trusted both his partner and his opponents.

He trusted that his partner wouldn't suddenly decide to go and bid four hearts. This wasn't too much trust. If East had any interest in playing four hearts, he would have bid three hearts over North's two spades.

As for trust in his opponents, West knew that they had stopped at two spades and neither one was going to decide to go to game after that first decision.

What other chance did West take? He might get doubled but who was going to double? He, West, had good trumps and his partner had bid the suit first.

What could West gain? He could get his opponents to three spades and maybe beat that contract one trick.

South really should have passed and watched three hearts get set, but he did bid three spades. He also might have made three spades, but he managed to lose one spade, two hearts, a club and a diamond so West's three-heart bid really paid off.

The Bicentennial picnic will begin at 8 p.m. There will be a Bicentennial costume contest.

Dr. Lester Coleman

My daughter got hold of some water pills from some friends in her high school class. They now share these pills in order to lose weight. How can I convince her that this is dangerous? — Mrs. D.K. N.C.

Dear Mrs. K.: Sharing any kind of pills is fraught with danger. Both the giver and the taker are doing themselves an injustice.

The parents of the girl who is trading these water pills should be informed about this ridiculous complicity. The doctor who prescribed the diuretic, or water pills, should also be told about this.

The balance of fluid in the body is one of the most remarkable mechanisms for the maintenance of good health. In most instances, the elimination of water, and the amount of water that is taken, maintains that important balance.

Under some circumstances, such as circulatory problems, kidney diseases, heart disease and hormone irregularities there may be an unusual retention of excess fluid. Some women, just prior to their menstrual period, will retain more than normal fluid in their tissues.

Diuretics, or water pills, are used to increase the elimination of fluids from the body. An attempt to lose weight by the use of diuretics is a false notion. Temporary loss of weight because of the loss of fluid is the most that can be hoped for with the use of water pills.

The use of diuretics, when used under the specific guidance of the doctor for specific reasons, is a valuable therapeutic technique.

I fractured my leg two months ago. It has healed completely. When the weather is turning bad I feel definite pains only in that leg. Can weather have anything to do with a healed fracture? — Mr. D.S., N.Y.

Dear Mr. S.: Your story is not uncommon. It seems that a great many people complain of unpleasant sensations in the area of a fracture before, or during, a change of weather.

In the absence of any X-ray or other findings this should not be a source of concern. Almost always, after four to six months, these pains tend to disappear.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH... Keep a health record for each member of the family. Memory cannot always be depended on for illnesses, contagious diseases and vaccinations.

FOR SATURDAY, JULY 17, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be aware of your priorities. Look out for the family and those under your wing at work. You'll find more luck and appreciation in these quarters.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Some pesky stumbling blocks can be thrown in your path today. They could deter you unless you keep a positive attitude and overcome them.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Prospects for enhancing your well-being are excellent today, but only if you keep Johnny-come-lately out of the action and your sympathy.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) A rather unusual day is in store. Goals you thought to be important won't be. Others you thought were insignificant will be of real value.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) Without being sneaky, keep your motives to yourself today. People seeking your confidence actually want to feather their own nests.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Keep faith with one you're closely associated with. He has your best interest at heart. Another may try to lead you to believe otherwise.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Even though conditions around you may be in a turmoil today, your innate sense of fair play will keep things on an even keel.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The intestinal fortitude you display in standing up for co-workers will be remembered if you're ever in the same boat.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Taking a flyer will appeal to you today, but don't expect all your long shots to pay off. However, a wisely-calculated risk might.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There could be some dissension among the children today. Try to show them sympathy, but support your mate in a showdown.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Though others try to pooh-pooh your innovative ideas, stick to your guns. Are they jealous because they didn't think of them first?

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This day should be a profitable one, but you must keep a close accounting. You could bargain overzealously.

July 17, 1976

The lofty goals you set for yourself are attainable this coming year. Your only problem could be impatience at moving more slowly than you desire.

Niles Library Activities

NILES — Two films will be shown free of charge Monday, July 19, from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. at the Niles Community library.

"Miss Goodall and the Wild Chimpanzees" documents the work of anthropologist Jane Goodall and her study on the behavior of wild chimpanzees in Africa. "Vagabond," the second film to be shown, presents Charlie Chaplin in one of his performances as the pathetic little tramp.

The preschool story hours Tuesday and Wednesday, July 20 and 21, will feature the stories "Rabbit Bros. Circus" by Kurt Wiese; "Only One Ant" by Lenore Klein; and "Animals Should Definitely Not Wear Clothing" by Judi Barrett. The film, "Curious George Rides a Bike," will also be shown. The hours begin at 10:15 a.m.

Students in grades kindergarten through nine are invited to participate in the Wednesday,

July 21, activity program at the library. The Rev. Karen Slager will direct creative dramatic activities, beginning at 3 p.m. in the library auditorium.

The Thursday, July 22, film flicks at the library will include "White Wilderness," "Stage Coach Westward," "Hercules," and "The Mummy," with Boris Karloff. The films begin at 3 p.m. in the auditorium.

Special programs of interest for teens will be offered Tuesday, July 20, at 3 p.m., when the films, "Karate," and "Vagabond," will be shown.

Blow N' Go

Speaking of my hair... you may remember that in the last episode, I opted for the Brillo pad look, which followed the Grace Kelly syndrome (I was blessing children in supermarkets), which came after the wig that got dandruff and died.

Don't get me wrong. I loved the little tight curls close to my head, it's only when they started to grow out that I looked like an aging pepper plant.

That's when I went for the Blow n' Go. In my mind, I saw it as a coiffure with the maintenance of a self-cleaning oven. You just set a few dials, and zip, you were ready for the ball.

This isn't exactly true. My blow n' go blew too much and went too far.

To begin with you need one of those Dorothy Hamill haircuts, which look terrific but you get this intense urge to ice skate. Secondly, there are two definitions of blow.

There's blow (verb), to send forth a current of air with force, as a wind that blows gently through the chimneys.

There's also blow (noun), a sudden unexpected shock, an unfortunate or calamitous happening.

My blow was definitely an unfortunate and calamitous happening. I tattered my hair and borrowed my son's hair dryer.

Without any warning whatsoever, that dryer sucked up my two pitiful strands of hair, nearly pulling my feet off the floor. It was only by a miracle that I was able to kick the plug out of the wall, thus saving my entire face from being devoured by the appliance.

"That dryer nearly killed me," I said to my son.

"You used a dryer for that measly amount of hair? For that you could just hang out of the no-draft in the car. What do they call it?"

"A blow it go."

"Go where?"

"Any place you want to go."

"You're kidding. You look like a guy I know in the Marine corps. He's too embarrassed to go anywhere."

When my husband came home he looked at me and said, "What happened to your hair?"

"I blew it," I said.

Wetlands Bill Gets Milliken's Signature

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation aimed at protecting Michigan's valuable wetlands from development was signed Thursday by Gov. William Milliken.

The new law requires duck hunters to purchase an additional hunting stamp. Funds raised by the stamp would be used to inventory and ultimately purchase swamps, marshes and other wetlands throughout Michigan.

Milliken also signed a bill requiring food stores to stamp the last recommended date of sale on perishable food and another measure to regulate "millionaire" charity fund-raising parties.

The wetlands law was a major goal of environmentalists and duck hunters who had warned that land development was threatening wildlife habitats and breeding grounds.

The bill passed the House a year ago but was stalled in the Senate Conservation Committee until last month when it was suddenly approved and quickly passed by the Senate.

The new law will require the state's estimated 100,000 duck hunters to buy a special $2.10 stamp to finance protection of the wetlands. Hunters already are required to purchase a small game license and federal migratory bird hunting stamp.

Ten cents of the price would be used to pay the sales agent, and another 10 cents would be used for evaluation of the project.

The rest — $1.90 — would go to the state fish and game protection fund. The legislature would have to approve all lands purchased under the fund.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. Warren Goemaere, D-Roseville, estimated the program will provide about $225,000 every year to protect wetlands.

Milliken also signed a law requiring that the recommended last day of sale be stamped on perishable foods such as prepackaged meat, fish, seafood, poultry, eggs, and bakery products.

The law will not prohibit food stores from selling items after the last recommended day of sale, but the food must be clearly identified as having passed that date.

The governor also signed a bill authorizing nonprofit organizations which now qualify for bingo licenses to obtain a license to hold up to two "millionaire" parties each year.

A millionaire party is an event at which persons receive imitation money to wager on traditional casino gambling games. The money raised by the game goes to charity.

Trudeau Facing Double Trouble

By JOHN VINOCUR
Associated Press Writer
OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's venture into Olympic politics apparently has hurt his already dwindling popularity among Canadians while worsening further his country's less-than-happy relations with the United States.

At a time when opinion polls put Trudeau at his lowest level of public esteem since taking office in 1968, aides admitted Thursday that letters, telegrams and calls about his attempt to keep Taiwan's athletes from competing as representatives of China are running against him. The same trend is reflected in newspaper editorials and in man-in-the-street contacts.

The U.S. Embassy was clearly irritated by the Canadian government's reaction to President Ford's comments supporting the Nationalist Chinese. Foreign Secretary Allan MacEachen accused Ford of "political interference," but the Americans were understood to be more annoyed by MacEachen's suggestion that Ford was motivated by domestic political concerns.

"I don't think the U.S. would be particularly happy if some expatriate Americans decided that they were going to participate in games under the name of the United States of America," Trudeau commented Thursday. "If the Palestine Liberation Organization athletes wanted to come and say they represent Israel and Palestine, obviously we would object and so would the Americans."

Oakland College Maintains Ban On Underground Paper

FARMINGTON, Mich. (AP) — Oakland Community College officials will not lift a ban on the distribution of an underground Detroit newspaper, the Sun, Provost Richard Thompson said Thursday. After a news conference where Sun representatives charged the college with interfering with freedom of the press, Thompson said the college had a "longstanding practice" of "not engaging in commercial ventures and helping them promote themselves."

Sun Distribution Coordinator Vince Harrington said the Sun had won approval from college administrators at each campus before launching its free distribution program on 14 Detroit area campuses in March. "We don't know why they've (Oakland Community College) banned the Sun," Harrington said. "Their reasons are contradictory, ranging from 'The Sun is usurping student papers' to 'too many of the students are getting involved'."

Search On For Man-Eating Pets

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Some man-eating piranha — outlawed in Florida — are swimming

SANTA: Karrell Fox of Farmington, Mich., warns up with a few ho-ho-hos in downtown Detroit recently as he practiced for the Boys Club of Metropolitan Detroit "Christmas in July" program scheduled Wednesday, July 21. (AP Wirephoto) around in some home fish tanks today. They were mistakenly sold as docile little red pacus to four pet shops.

"I've got three people out now knocking on doors trying to get them back," Jack Lynch, manager of Sunset Aquarium in Clearwater, said Thursday. "I had eight, but I have no idea who bought five of them. I think I remember the other three. I'm doing my damndest."

Piranha, a vicious flesh-eater known for mass attacks on large animals — including man — are native to tropic South America. They're outlawed in Florida because of the potential danger if they happened to be released in the state's subtropical fresh waters.

The Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission sent inspectors to the pet stores to warn operators that 23 two-inch piranhas were accidentally delivered in the last couple of weeks.

"They're outlawed here so you really don't look for piranhas," said Lynch. He said young piranha and the pacus are similar in appearance, except for the lower jaw. And the teeth. And the taste for flesh.

Lynch put a sign on the front door warning customers that if they'd seen or bought such a fish to bring it back or to contact the commission in Tallahassee.

Earl Harris, owner of Tails and Scales in St. Petersburg, said he had 10 of the fish. He said six were eaten by their tank companions before he could sell them. The other four were sold, and he doesn't know who bought them.

At Tampa's Fin City, owner Faye Hensley said she had three baby piranha. But she said she recognized them and tossed them out.

"They're so similar to the silvery-looking pacus," she said. "But the behavior is totally different. The pacus isn't aggressive."

Owners of the fourth pet store could not be contacted.

The piranha were distributed by Exotica Fish Co. of nearby Gibbstown.

"Personally, I'm very embarrassed about this thing," said owner Hank Larson. "It's got to be understood that the fish I ordered were red pacus."

He said he acquired the fish from an importing firm in Miami, but he declined to name it.

In Tallahassee, the fish commission's director, Dr. Earl

Frive, said the state was hardpressed to keep such mistakes from happening.

Suit Would Free Thousand Inmates

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Human Rights Party sought a temporary court order Thursday to release some 1,000 prison inmates, halt further inmate admissions and brand prison overcrowding as cruel and unusual punishment.

HRP President Zolton Ferency filed suit in Ingham County Circuit Court asking a cap on further inmate admissions until prison population levels reach acceptable levels. The suit was filed against the Michigan Corrections Commission, the Michigan Department of Corrections, and corrections Director Perry Johnson.

Ferency said state prisons have more than 11,800 inmates even though they are designed to handle only 10,876.

He said it would be up to the court to decide how the 1,000 or so extra prisoners would be chosen for release and what would be done with them. Ferency suggested people convicted of non-violent crimes such as embezzling and shoplifting could be safely sent into the community.

"People who engage in non-

Ferency asked Johnson earlier this year to declare overcrowding "cruel and unusual punishment" and end admissions on his own. However, the state attorney general said Johnson lacks the authority to do this.

Johnson has acknowledged that state prisons are "severely overcrowded" and termed the lawsuit "a spinoff from the population crisis."

A corrections department spokesman said the department is worried that prisoners may be released or convicted kept out of prison without regard to whether they are dangerous or not.

"We'd like to be able to apply low risk-high risk criteria, that would be a reasonable way to go," Gail Light said.

The suit alleges that overcrowding is demoralizing prisoners because of reduced visiting hours and inadequate shower and restroom facilities.

Air Pollution Meeting

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission will meet in Marquette next week to discuss the extent of air pollution near that Upper Peninsula city. The results of air monitoring will be presented by the Department of Natural Resources at the Monday evening meeting, along with an annual report appraising Michigan's air pollution situation. A public hearing will be held on a complaint against Custom Asphalt and Paving Co. of Negaunee. The DNR charges the firm has failed to properly operate its emission control equipment, and is recommending the company be shut down until it corrects the problem. Also up for discussion is a proposed emission control program for the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co.'s Pioneer Pellet Plant at Negaunee; a report on an odor abatement program at the Mead Corp. paper manufacturing plant at Escanaba; a report on air data collected near the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad ore loading facility at Escanaba; and a proposed odor abatement program for the Abitibi Corp. hardboard manufacturing plant in Alpena.

They Won't Buckle Up

DETROIT (AP) — Despite various government efforts to force motorists to buckle up, only one out of three drivers of recent-model cars uses seat belts and less than one in four uses both lap and shoulder belts, according to a study by an auto insurance research group. The results of the four-city study indicate safety-belt use has increased only slightly since 1970, not withstanding design improvements in the belt systems and numerous warning devices added onto cars since then. The study was conducted by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, a Washington-based nonprofit research and educational group supported by several insurance industry associations. Researchers observed 28,530 drivers at 110 sites in metropolitan Baltimore, Detroit, Houston and Los Angeles during February and March of this year.

Farmer Trampled To Death

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Dairy farmer Robert J. Krause raised his only two bulls from calves. He was one his way to feed them early Thursday morning when they trampled him to death. Krause, 32, was found by his sister-in-law about 3 a.m. Thursday. His body was lying next to his tractor, which was still running. The dead man's brother, Dale Krause, who also worked the 300-acre dairy farm in Swan Creek Township, said the bulls had been turned loose with cows for breeding. He said his brother had driven into the field after supper Wednesday night to feed the animals. "When he got off the tractor they must have attacked him," Krause said. "They were mean."

Extradition Scheduled

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — A 21-year-old Knoxville, Tenn., man will be extradited on a warrant in a July slaying in Tennessee following his arrest Thursday in Saginaw, police said. The man, Tommy J. Walker, was arrested by FBI agents and Saginaw police along with a 23-year-old Mansfield, Ohio, man after a raid at a home on Saginaw's west side, officials said. A 14-year-old girl, who police said was a Knoxville runaway, also was taken into custody and was to be returned to Tennessee Thursday. Police said a sawed-off shotgun was found on the front seat of a car in which the three were riding. The Ohio man was to be arraigned Thursday on charges of violating the federal firearms act.

Walking 'In Air'

DETROIT (AP) — Steve Trevor took a walk across the Detroit River Thursday, on the wing of an airplane 1,000 feet up. It's nothing unusual for the 22-year-old gymnast. Trevor is a professional wing-walker, and he was polishing his act for this weekend's third annual air show at the Detroit City Airport. With the help of pilot Joe C. Hughes and his 1943-model, 650-horsepower Super Stearman aircraft, Trevor plans a 14-minute show that will climax with him standing on his head as Hughes puts the plane through loops, dives and rolls. "It's not a daredevil act," said Hughes, who's been flying in air shows for seven years giving up to 100 performances a season in the U.S. and Canada. "We have this rehearsed down to a science..."

The Whole Force Quit

CARSONVILLE, Mich. (AP) — The Thumb-area village of Carsonville is without regular police protection after the entire force resigned — both of them. Chief Bob Sage and patrolman Bill Doak, who were the village's only policemen, called it quits together. Wednesday night, Carsonville Village President Ron Colomb said the chief left to enter private business and patrolman Doak was joining the force in another town. Colomb said the resignations were not unexpected. He added he had received complaints that Sage and Doak had lacked tact and diplomacy in handling out traffic citations, but said those complaints had nothing to do with the resignations. Colomb said what people were really upset about was the fact that Sage and Doak did not give preferential treatment to village residents when ticketing.

Two Judges Under Fire

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Two Pontiac district judges are under fire from the president of the Michigan Trial Lawyers association for setting high bonds for persons charged with trafficking in narcotics during Pontiac Stadium rock concerts. The actions of the two, Judge Robert Cunningham and Judge James Stelt, were the subject of a special meeting Thursday night of the 20-member executive board of MTLA. James T. Logan, the 1,400-member group's president, said he is concerned about statements Cunningham made to reporters explaining high bonds he set for 41 persons arrested during a June 26 concert at the stadium. Cunningham levied $25,000 bonds against those charged with selling illicit drugs to undercover police officers, and $10,000 bonds to persons charged with possession of drugs. Cunningham had said of those arrested, "these people know what they're doing. They're selling drugs to your kids and my kids. They're not going to get away with it in Pontiac."

Club Now Laughing At Its Own Joke

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Members of the GTW Funny Farm Ten lottery club, which was started as a joke, will be laughing all the way to the bank after winning $200,000 in Thursday night's Michigan lottery's weekly superplay drawing.

The Detroit-based club was formed by 10 Grand Trunk Western Railroad employees who will now split the top prize.

The $25,000 winner was Carl Siebert, 74, a retired Defense Department employee from East Tawas. Edward Lis, 59, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, won the $15,000 prize.

Trudeau Facing Double Trouble

By JOHN VINCIGL
Associated Press Writer
OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's venture into Olympic politics apparently has hurt his already dwindling popularity among Canadians while worsening further his country's less-than-happy relations with the United States.

At a time when opinion polls put Trudeau at his lowest level of public esteem since taking office in 1968, aides admitted Thursday that letters, telegrams and calls about his attempt to keep Taiwan's athletes from competing as representatives of China are running against him. The same trend is reflected in newspaper editorials and in man-in-the-street contacts.

The U.S. Embassy was clearly irritated by the Canadian government's reaction to President Ford's comments supporting the Nationalist Chinese. Foreign Secretary Allan MacEachen accused Ford of "political interference," but the Americans were understood to be more annoyed by MacEachen's suggestion that Ford was motivated by domestic political concerns.

"I don't think the U.S. would be particularly happy if some expatriate Americans decided that they were going to participate in games under the name of the United States of America," Trudeau commented Thursday. "If the Palestine Liberation Organization athletes wanted to come and say they represent Israel and Palestine, obviously we would object and so would the Americans."

Oakland College Maintains Ban On Underground Paper

FARMINGTON, Mich. (AP) — Oakland Community College officials will not lift a ban on the distribution of an underground Detroit newspaper, the Sun, Provost Richard Thompson said Thursday. After a news conference where Sun representatives charged the college with interfering with freedom of the press, Thompson said the college had a "longstanding practice" of "not engaging in commercial ventures and helping them promote themselves."

Sun Distribution Coordinator Vince Harrington said the Sun had won approval from college administrators at each campus before launching its free distribution program on 14 Detroit area campuses in March. "We don't know why they've (Oakland Community College) banned the Sun," Harrington said. "Their reasons are contradictory, ranging from 'The Sun is usurping student papers' to 'too many of the students are getting involved.'"

Wetlands Bill Gets Milliken's Signature

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Legislation aimed at protecting Michigan's valuable wetlands from development was signed Thursday by Gov. William Milliken.

The new law requires duck hunters to purchase an additional hunting stamp. Funds raised by the stamp would be used to inventory and ultimately purchase swamps, marshes and other wetlands throughout Michigan.

Milliken also signed a bill requiring food stores to stamp the last recommended date of sale on perishable food and another measure to regulate "millionaire" charity fundraising parties.

The wetlands law was a major goal of environmentalists and duck hunters who had warned that land development was threatening wildlife habitats and breeding grounds.

The bill passed the House a year ago but was stalled in the Senate Conservation Committee until last month when it was suddenly approved and quickly passed by the Senate.

The new law will require the state's estimated 100,000 duck hunters to buy a special $2.10 stamp to finance protection of the wetlands. Hunters already are required to purchase a small game license and federal migratory bird hunting stamp.

Ten cents of the price would be used to pay the sales agent, and another 10 cents would be used for evaluation of the project.

The rest — $1.90 — would go to the state fish and game protection fund. The legislature would have to approve all lands purchased under the fund.

The bill's sponsor, Rep. Warren Goemaere, D-Roseville, estimated the program will provide about $225,000 every year to protect wetlands.

Milliken also signed a law requiring that the recommended last day of sale be stamped on perishable foods such as prepackaged meat, fish, seafood, poultry, eggs, and bakery products.

The law will not prohibit food stores from selling items after the last recommended day of sale, but the food must be clearly identified as having passed that date.

The governor also signed a bill authorizing nonprofit organizations which now qualify for bingo licenses to obtain a license to hold up to two "millionaire" parties each year.

A millionaire party is an event at which persons receive imitation money to wager on traditional casino gambling games. The money raised by the game goes to charity.

NEWS OF FARM, ORCHARD AND DAIRY

Clarksville Grower: Research Site Is Good

New Hort. Farm Won't Affect Sodus Farm

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Research at the Sodus Experiment Farm will be unaffected by Michigan State university's new horticultural research farm in Clarksville, according to Dr. Hugh Price.

Price, superintendent of the Sodus farm, explained that the Sodus farm is an ideal site for vegetable research because it is located "in the center of a major production area. There is a need to evaluate varieties under commercial conditions," he said.

Peas and string beans are about the only commercially grown vegetables in Ionia county, the location of the new farm, according to Ionia Extension Agent Duane Patrick. Ionia is a "dairy county," Patrick explained, and the main crops are corn, alfalfa, oats and wheat.

Although the county is "in the outer fringe of the fruit area," the site for the new farm is particularly good for fruit, Patrick said.

The 440-acre farm that will eventually become the university's main horticultural research site is located north of Clarksville. Part of the new farm borders on I-96.

The owner of a fruit farm near the land said this week that the Clarksville research farm is on a site "as good as we have."

Saying that his orchard is on a "pretty good site," Paul Hessler stated that this season is the first time in the past eight years that his peaches have been hard hit by spring freezes. Besides peaches, Hessler successfully grows tart cherries, plums and pears. He said that Hessler's Orchards is just across the Interstate from the university's land. This season, Hessler added, he lost his entire peach crop to freezes.

This newspaper has reported that some of the peach research now being done at the South Haven station, along with all of the apple experimentation taking place at the Grand Rapids Graham station, would eventually be moved to Clarksville.

But for reasons already mentioned, and because overhead is low, research at the Sodus station will not be transferred, Price said.

Tart Picking Encouraged By High Price Offer

The tart cherry harvest in this corner of the state has been, naturally, very light. Yet it appears that without the record-breaking processing price, deliveries would have been much lighter.

Jim Wilson, agricultural products manager for Michigan Fruit Packers, said Wednesday that the price of 25 cents a pound encouraged growers to go ahead and pick their short, frost-damaged cherries.

Still, Wilson said, "This harvest is not expected to exceed 10 per cent of the potential for Southwestern Michigan." He said that in an average year a 70 million pound crop is harvested here.

Deliveries of tart cherries to local processors are "very, very light," Wilson added.

Mike Thomas, Southwestern Michigan horticultural agent, estimated that growers have harvested between one-third and one-half of the cherry trees in the district. And Thomas pointed out that at this year's price, a grower can earn about as much on one ton of tarts as he earned on three tons in 1975.

Due to the economics of this short-crop year, Thomas said more growers than he had anticipated went ahead and shook cherries. Wilson pointed out that final figures on this season's harvest won't be available for some time.

Thomas added that some tart orchards and grape vineyards that have been neglected are beginning to lose leaves from the disease leaf spot. He reminded growers that vines and trees need leaves until at least September so that the tree can form and mature buds for next year's crops.

MSU Farm Tour Will Look At New Practices

Michigan State university's state farm management tour in Shawansee county, Aug. 3, will feature three cash crops and three dairy operations.

The tour is the second largest annual farm event of its type sponsored by the university. "It's intent is to provide farm business managers the opportunity to see innovative ideas and practices used at each of these operations," said Dr. Al Shapley, MSU agricultural economist and tour co-chairman.

Farms to be visited include: Frank Vyskocil, 6237 E. Henderson Road, New Lothrop; Bruce and David Conklin, Rt. 1, Corunna; Richard Gilna, Rt. 2, Corunna; Braid Farms, 3107 Newburg road, Durand; Ward Perry, 6980 Newberry road, Durand; and Robert DeClerg and Sons, 10315 E. Prior Road, Durand. Interviews will be at 10 and 11 a.m. and at 2 and 3 p.m.

MONTANA FIRST
STEVENSVILLE, Mont. (AP) — The first crops in Montana were wheat and potatoes grown by Father Pierre Jean De Smet, a Jesuit missionary of St. Mary's Mission near here.

European Drought To Cut Into Fruit, Vegetable Crops

Western Europe's worst drought on record this year will mean fruit and vegetable production could drop slightly in Europe, while demand has been and will continue to be much stronger, according to Peter J. Lardinois, European Community commissioner for agriculture.

During a news conference last week in Brussels, Belgium, Lardinois said if the drought continues, shortages in grain, sugar, potatoes and beef production could occur.

Specifically, Lardinois said the 1976 grain harvest could fall 5 percent short of 1975's "mediocre harvest" of 97 million tons.

Instead of the 11-million-ton sugar harvest predicted a few months ago, production will reach 9.5 million at the most.

Unless rain comes soon, Lardinois said, shortages in the potato crop are expected to be like last winter's.

The beef market has had the most problems because more animals than usual were slaughtered because of fodder shortages, and at the same time, people are eating less beef, he said.

Lardinois added, however, that the drought should not seriously affect consumer prices for basic foods, such as bread, milk, sugar and meat. On the other hand, he said, there could be "some surprises in store" for the prices of potatoes, fruit and vegetables and a few minor products.

U.S. Farmers Need Remedy For Palm Oil

An increase in palm oil production of nearly 100 per cent since 1970 has been giving the U.S. soybean industry a giant-sized headache, according to the United States Department of Agriculture's statistical reporting service.

Palm oil is imported from Malaysia and Indonesia. In the United States it generally sells for less than domestic soybean oil, which induces U.S. manufacturers to substitute it in products like shortening, and more recently in margarine, as well as salad and cooking oils.

During the 1960's palm oil imports averaged only a little over 60 million pounds a year. By the 1974-75 marketing year, U.S. imports climbed to 757 million pounds. This marketing year palm oil imports will probably vault to a record 900 million pounds and account for close to eight per cent of all edible fats and oils used for food in the United States.

The surge in imports stems from a dramatic rise in world palm oil production since 1970. Calendar year 1976 will probably see world output reach 7 billion pounds — roughly twice the 1970 level.

In the United States this calendar year, production of soybean oil, which last year came to 8.6 billion pounds, is expected to top the 10 billion pound mark. Most will be used as a domestic food fat, but about 1.6 billion pounds will be sold in foreign markets.

Over the past five years, about 85 per cent of the advance in world palm oil output has been sold to foreign markets rather than used to upgrade diets in producing countries. Since 1970, Malaysia and Indonesia alone have exported more than 90 per cent of their expanded production.

Palm oil trees yield up to 4,000 pounds of oil per acre. An acre of U.S. soybeans yields only 300 to 310 pounds of oil, USDA said. These figures show that palm oil is cheaper to produce than U.S. soybeans, according to the report.

USDA officials estimate that Malaysian palm oil can be produced and delivered to U.S. ports at an average cost of about 10 cents a pound. As a rule, palm oil begins to sell in large quantities when it costs at least two cents a pound less than prices quoted for soybean oil in Decatur, Ill.

It follows, then, that soybean oil in Decatur would need to drop to 12 cents a pound before palm oil can no longer sell at a price that will cover production and shipping costs.

Soybean oil prices dropped drastically this marketing year, and by mid-March the Decatur price stood at 16 cents a pound. Meantime, palm oil at Gulf ports was quoted at just over 17 cents. The steeper price will help hold down palm oil use, but only temporarily, USDA experts think.

A major reason for the massive flow of palm oil into this country is that the United States is the only major import market for palm oil that imposes no quotas or custom duties on it, USDA added.

Sodus Farm Tour Will Show Cukes

Growers can see direct seeding of tomatoes and cucumbers at two Berrien farms and, later in the day, slicing cucumber varieties being grown at the Sodus Horticultural farm, next Thursday.

Hugh Price, Sodus farm director, and Jim Neibauer, Berrien extension agent, will begin the tour at 3 p.m. at the Roy Prillwitz farm on Smith road, west of M-140. Tomatoes seeded in clumps and others planted with a squeeze pump planter will be seen.

Slicing cucumber plug mix planted through black plastic will be viewed at the Stanley Piggott farm, next stop on the tour. The farm is on Meadowbrook road, west of M-140.

At 7:30 p.m. Entomologist Art Wells will be at the Sodus farm to show growers new varieties of slicing cucumbers.

500 Berrien Acres Set For Release By ASC

Thirty Berrien farms will go back into production next year, marking the end of 22 years of federally funded land retirement programs. Milton Francis, director of the Berrien Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, said.

Set to expire in 1977 is the Cropland Adjustment Agreement program. Francis explained that under the program, a farmer promised to take his ASC corn or wheat allotment out of production for 10 years. In return, the farmer was paid about $50 per year per acre for holding the land out of production.

"Berrien county didn't take it too strongly," in part because land is so expensive, Francis explained. In all, about 500 acres in Berrien were set-aside under the program.

The program was allowed to expire because of the government's current drive toward full production, said Francis.

SIXTH IN MILK

Michigan is sixth among the states in milk production with 7,600 grade A dairy farms, 3,000 manufacturing milk farms, 85 dairy processing plants and 417,000 milk cows on farms. Manufactured dairy items increased during 1974. Butter production was up 25 per cent and American cheese production jumped 20 per cent.

Suit Would Free Thousand Inmates

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Human Rights Party sought a temporary court order Thursday to release some 1,000 prison inmates, halt further inmate admissions and brand prison overcrowding as cruel and unusual punishment.

HRP President Zolton Ferency filed suit in Ingham County Circuit Court asking a cap on further inmate admissions, until prison population levels reach acceptable levels. The suit was filed against the Michigan Corrections Commission, the Michigan Department of Corrections, and corrections Director Perry Johnson.

Ferency said state prisons have more than 11,800 inmates, even though they are designed to handle only 10,876.

He said it would be up to the court to decide how the 1,000 or so extra prisoners would be chosen for release and what would be done with them. Ferency suggested people convicted of non-violent crimes such as embezzling and shoplifting could be safely sent into the community.

"People who engage in non-

Ferency asked Johnson earlier this year to declare overcrowding "cruel and unusual punishment" and end admissions on his own. However, the state attorney general said Johnson lacks the authority to do this.

Johnson has acknowledged that state prisons are "severely overcrowded" and termed the lawsuit "a spinoff from the population crisis."

A corrections department spokesman said the department is worried that prisoners may be released or convicts kept out of prison without regard to whether they are dangerous or not.

"We'd like to be able to apply low risk-high risk criteria, that would be a reasonable way to go," Gail Light said.

The suit alleges that overcrowding is demoralizing prisoners because of reduced visiting hours and inadequate shower and restroom facilities.

Air Pollution Meeting

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Air Pollution Control Commission will meet in Marquette next week to discuss the extent of air pollution near that Upper Peninsula city. The results of air monitoring will be presented by the Department of Natural Resources at the Monday evening meeting, along with an annual report appraising Michigan's air pollution situation. A public hearing will be held on a complaint against Custom Asphalt and Paving Co. of Negaunee. The DNR charges the firm has failed to properly operate its emission control equipment, and is recommending the company be shut down until it corrects the problem. Also up for discussion is a proposed emission control program for the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co.'s Pioneer Pellet Plant at Negaunee; a report on an odor abatement program at the Mead Corp. paper manufacturing plant at Escanaba; a report on air data collected near the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad ore loading facility at Escanaba; and a proposed odor abatement program for the Abitibi Corp. hardboard manufacturing plant in Alpena.

They Won't Buckle Up

DETROIT (AP) — Despite various government efforts to force motorists to buckle up, only one out of three drivers of recent-model cars uses seat belts and less than one in four uses both lap and shoulder belts, according to a study by an auto insurance research group. The results of the four-city study indicate safety-belt use has increased only slightly since 1970, not withstanding design improvements in the belt systems and numerous warning devices added onto cars since then. The study was conducted by the Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, a Washington-based nonprofit research and educational group supported by several insurance industry associations. Researchers observed 28,530 drivers at 110 sites in metropolitan Baltimore, Detroit, Houston and Los Angeles during February and March of this year.

Farmer Trampled To Death

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Dairy farmer Robert J. Krause raised his only two bulls from calves. He was one his way to feed them early Thursday morning when they trampled him to death. Krause, 32, was found by his sister-in-law about 3 a.m. Thursday. His body was lying next to his tractor, which was still running. The dead man's brother, Dale Krause, who also worked the 300-acre dairy farm in Swan Creek Township, said the bulls had been turned loose with cows for breeding. He said his brother had driven into the field after supper Wednesday night to feed the animals. "When he got off the tractor they must have attacked him," Krause said. "They were mean."

Extradition Scheduled

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — A 21-year-old Knoxville, Tenn., man will be extradited on a warrant in a July slaying in Tennessee following his arrest Thursday in Saginaw, police said. The man, Tommy J. Walker, was arrested by FBI agents and Saginaw police along with a 23-year-old Mansfield, Ohio, man after a raid at a home on Saginaw's west side, officials said. A 14-year-old girl, who police said was a Knoxville runaway, also was taken into custody and was to be returned to Tennessee Thursday. Police said a sawed-off shotgun was found on the front seat of a car in which the three were riding. The Ohio man was to be arraigned Thursday on charges of violating the federal firearms act.

Walking 'In Air'

DETROIT (AP) — Steve Trevor took a walk across the Detroit River Thursday, on the wing of an airplane 1,000 feet up. It's nothing unusual for the 22-year-old gymnast. Trevor is a professional wing-walker, and he was polishing his act for this weekend's third annual air show at the Detroit City Airport. With the help of pilot Joe C. Hughes and his 1943-model, 650-horsepower Super Stearman aircraft, Trevor plans a 14-minute show that will climax with him standing on his head as Hughes puts the plane through loops, dives and rolls. "It's not a daredevil act," said Hughes, who's been flying in air shows for seven years giving up to 100 performances a season in the U.S. and Canada. "We have this rehearsed down to a science . . ."

The Whole Force Quit

CARSONVILLE, Mich. (AP) — The Thumb-area village of Carsonville is without regular police protection after the entire force resigned — both of them. Chief Bob Sage and patrolman Bill Doak, who were the village's only policemen, called it quits together. Wednesday night, Carsonville Village President Ron Colomb said the chief left to enter private business and patrolman Doak was joining the force in another town. Colomb said the resignations were not unexpected. He added he had received complaints that Sage and Doak had lacked tact and diplomacy in handling out traffic citations, but said those complaints had nothing to do with the resignations. Colomb said what people were really upset about was the fact that Sage and Doak did not give preferential treatment to village residents when ticketing.

Two Judges Under Fire

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Two Pontiac district judges are under fire from the president of the Michigan Trial Lawyers association for setting high bonds for persons charged with trafficking in narcotics during Pontiac Stadium rock concerts. The actions of the two, Judge Robert Cunningham and Judge James Stell, were the subject of a special meeting Thursday night of the 30-member executive board of MTLA. James T. Logan, the 1,400-member group's president, said he is concerned about statements Cunningham made to reporters explaining high bonds he set for 41 persons arrested during a June 26 concert at the stadium. Cunningham levied $25,000 bonds against those charged with selling illicit drugs to undercover police officers, and $10,000 bonds to persons charged with possession of drugs. Cunningham had said of those arrested, "these people know what they're doing. They're selling drugs to your kids and my kids. They're not going to get away with it in Pontiac."

Club Now Laughing At Its Own Joke

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Members of the GTW Funny Farm Ten lottery club, which was started as a joke, will be laughing all the way to the bank after winning $200,000 in Thursday night's Michigan lottery's weekly superplay drawing.

The Detroit-based club was formed by 10 Grand Trunk Western Railroad employees who will now split the top prize.

The $25,000 winner was Carl Siebert, 74, a retired Defense Department employee from East Tawas, Edward Lis, 59, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, won the $15,000 prize.

TWO VOTES FOR HART: Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., left, sits beside Detroit Mayor Coleman Young Thursday at Democratic National convention in New York. Hart received two delegate votes for vice president as Minnesota Sen. Walter Mondale swept the Michigan delegation's endorsement for vice president. (AP Wirephoto)

Hearts, Funny Bone Dictate Four Votes

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Though Walter Mondale swept the Michigan delegation's endorsement for the vice presidency, three delegates voted their hearts and one her funny-bone.

The Minnesota senator got 129 votes at Thursday night's closing session of the Democratic National Convention. But they did not get nearly as much attention as the lone vote cast for Rolling Stone correspondent Hunter S. Thompson.

Claudia Elliott of Detroit, 21, said she voted for Thompson because he is "a very progressive person in politics" and had backed presidential nominee Jimmy Carter since 1974.

Besides, she winked, she had promised a friend who liked Thompson too.

Carter's staff took the humor in stride, calling Ms. Elliott immediately after the roll call to thank her for her vote for the youth folk hero.

U.S. Sen. Philip Hart of Michigan got two delegates' votes, and Minnesota Gov. Wendell Anderson got one.

Hart said the two votes cast for him were the closest he's ever come to the vice presidency.

A veteran of nine national conventions and 18 years in the Senate, Hart is ailing from cancer and will retire in January.

His two votes were cast by Warren teacher Richard Deneweth, 29, and Terry Lynn Redford, a 21-year-old Michigan State University student.

"He tells you where he's at and he talks to me," said Deneweth.

Hart sat quietly through much of the convention, as people around him regularly shouted, cheered and jumped to their feet. He shook hundreds of well-wishers' hands, but the cameras and attention clearly tired him.

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Walter Mondale's vice presidential nomination will help repair wounds that have lingered in the Democratic party in Michigan and the nation since 1972, Michigan Democrats said Thursday.

"It was an act of reconciliation," Douglas Fraser, a United Auto Workers vice president, said of Jimmy Carter's choice of the Senator from Minnesota as his running mate. It was Carter's attempt "to show that he accepts completely the liberal wing of the party," Fraser said.

Fraser said he believes Mondale will help the former Georgia governor in traditionally liberal sections of Michigan that voted for Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona in the state's May 13 primary. Those areas are mainly in suburban Detroit, Oakland and Macomb counties, the state's population center.

Michigan party Chairman Morley Winograd said Mondale was the right choice for Carter as far as Michigan was concerned because "he's from a neighboring state and understands our kind of politics."

Mondale had the hearty support not only of the UAW and its president, Leonard Woodcock, but also of the state AFL-CIO and the Michigan Education Association, which had 20 representatives in the Michigan delegation.

Most of Michigan's 133 delegates to the Democratic National Convention were clearly on Mondale's side as early as a month ago, though many of the delegates said they were uncommitted or would go happily along with whomever Carter selected.

By Thursday morning, however, most of the self-styled undecided were talking about Mondale as if he had always

Meanwhile, a convention vote that didn't get much attention could tie the Democratic party and its primary system in knots in the future, Winograd says.

He was perturbed a voice vote Thursday at the Convention required a commission he is heading to declare so-called "loophole" primaries are taboo.

The primaries, held in 12 states, are those where delegates to the conventions are elected separately from a presidential preference vote.

They also include primaries which elect only delegates, based on their candidate preference.

Loophole primaries used in large states like Pennsylvania and New York, are criticized by many as inequitable, by failing to reflect voter preferences for presidential candidates.

The vote Thursday defeated a proposal that would have let the Winograd Commission make its own decision on whether and how to reform the "loophole" primary system.

"We don't even know yet if it's an inequitable system. Only some people think it is," said Winograd.

Will GOP Have To Run Brooke?

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan Congressman John Conyers says there is a "great movement" to make Massachusetts Sen. Edward Brooke the vice presidential running mate if President Ford gets the Republican nomination.

Conyers, a black Democrat, said "Ford has been pushed so far to the right" by opponent Ronald Reagan that he may choose Brooke, also black, to help his image with more liberal Republicans and independents.

Conyers said he nominated U.S. Rep. Ronald Dellums of California for the second spot in Jimmy Carter's ticket in Thursday's session of the Democratic national Convention to "get people used to seeing" black candidates for the presidential ticket. Dellums later withdrew.

NEWS OF FARM, ORCHARD AND DAIRY

Clarksville Grower: Research Site Is Good

By NICK SMITH Staff Writer

Research at the Sodus Experiment Farm will be unaffected by Michigan State university's new horticultural research farm in Clarksville, according to Dr. Hugh Price, superintendent of the Sodus farm, explained that the Sodus farm is an ideal site for vegetable research because it is located "in the center of a major production area. There is a need to evaluate varieties under commercial conditions," he said.

Peas and string beans are about the only commercially grown vegetables in Ionia county, the location of the new farm, according to Ionia Extension Agent Duane Patrick. Ionia is a "dairy county," Patrick explained, and the main crops are corn, alfalfa, oats and wheat.

Although the county is "in the outer fringe of the fruit area," the site for the new farm is particularly good for fruit, Patrick said.

The 40-acre farm that will eventually become the university's main horticultural research site is located north of Clarksville. Part of the new farm borders on I-96.

The owner of a fruit farm near the land said this week that the Clarksville research farm is on a site "as good as we have."

Saying that his orchard is on a "pretty good site," Paul Hessler stated that this season is the first time in the past eight years that his peaches have been hard hit by spring freezes. Besides peaches, Hessler successfully grows tart cherries, plums and pears. He said that Hessler's Orchards is just across the Interstate from the university's land. This season, Hessler added, he lost his entire peach crop to freezes.

This newspaper has reported that some of the peach research now being done at the South Haven station, along with all of the apple experimentation taking place at the Grand Rapids Graham station, would eventually be moved to Clarksville.

But for reasons already mentioned, and because overhead is low, research at the Sodus station will not be transferred, Price said.

Tart Picking Encouraged By High Price Offer

The tart cherry harvest in this corner of the state has been, naturally, very light. Yet it appears that without the record-breaking processing price, deliveries would have been much lighter.

Jim Wilson, agricultural products manager for Michigan Fruit Packers, said Wednesday

MSU Farm Tour Will Look At New Practices

Michigan State university's state farm management tour in Shiawassee county, Aug. 3, will feature three cash crops and three dairy operations.

The tour is the second largest annual farm event of its type sponsored by the university. "It's intent is to provide farm business managers the opportunity to see innovative ideas and practices used at each of these operations," said Dr. Al Shapley, MSU agricultural economist and tour co-chairman.

Farms to be visited include: Frank Vyskocil, 6237 E. Henderson Road, New Lothrop; Bruce and David Conklin, Rt. 1, Corunna; Richard Gilna, Rt. 2, Corunna; Braud Farms, 3107 Newburg road, Durand; Ward Perry, 6980 Newberry road, Durand; and Robert DeClerg and Sons, 10315 E. Prior Road, Durand. Interviews will be at 10 and 11 a.m. and at 2 and 3 p.m.

Sodus Farm Tour Will Show Cukes

Growers can see direct seeding of tomatoes and cucumbers at two Berrien farms and, later in the day, slicing cucumber varieties being grown at the Sodus Horticultural farm, next Thursday.

Hugh Price, Sodus farm director, and Jim Neibauer, Berrien extension agent, will begin the tour at 3 p.m. at the Roy Prillwitz farm on Smith road, west of M-140. Tomatoes seeded in clumps and others planted with a squeeze pump planter will be seen.

Slicing cucumber plug mix planted through black plastic will be viewed at the Stanley Piggott farm, next stop on the tour. The farm is on Meadowbrook road, west of M-140.

At 7:30 p.m. Entomologist Art Wells will be at the Sodus farm to show growers new varieties of slicing cucumbers.

500 Berrien Acres Set For Release By ASC

Thirty Berrien farms will go back into production next year, marking the end of 22 years of federally-funded land retirement programs. Milton Francis, director of the Berrien Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office, said.

Set to expire in 1977 is the Cropland Adjustment Agreement program. Francis explained that under the program, a farmer promised to take his ASC corn or wheat allotment out of production for 10 years. In return, the farmer was paid about $30 per year per acre for holding the land out of production.

"Berrien county didn't take to it too strongly," in part because land is so expensive, Francis explained. In all, about 500 acres in Berrien were set aside under the program.

The program was allowed to expire because of the government's current drive toward full production, said Francis.

Farmers under the program may break ground this fall to plant crops that won't be harvested until after the program has expired next year.

European Drought To Cut Into Fruit, Vegetable Crops

Western Europe's worst drought on record this year will mean fruit and vegetable production could drop slightly in Europe, while demand has been and will continue to be much stronger, according to Peter J. Lardinois, European Community commissioner for agriculture.

"During a news conference last week in Brussels, Belgium, Lardinois said if the drought continues, shortages in grain, sugar, potatoes and beef production could occur."

Specifically, Lardinois said the 1976 grain harvest could fall 5 percent short of 1975's "mediocre harvest" of 97 million tons.

Instead of the 11-million-ton sugar harvest predicted a few months ago, production will reach 9.5 million at the most.

Unless rain comes soon, Lardinois said, shortages in the potato crop are expected to be like last winter's.

The beef market has had the most problems because more animals than usual were slaughtered because of fodder shortages, and at the same time, people are eating less beef, he said.

Lardinois added, however, that the drought should not seriously affect consumer prices for basic foods, such as bread, milk, sugar and meat. On the other hand, he said, there could be "some surprises in store" for the prices of potatoes, fruit and vegetables and a few minor products.

The first crops in Montana were wheat and potatoes grown by Father Pierre Jean De Smet, a Jesuit missionary of St. Mary's Mission near here.

U.S. Farmers Need Remedy For Palm Oil

An increase in palm oil production of nearly 100 per cent since 1970 has been giving the U.S. soybean industry a giant-sized headache, according to the United States Department of Agriculture's statistical reporting service.

"Palm oil is imported from Malaysia and Indonesia. In the United States it generally sells for less than domestic soybean oil, which induces U.S. manufacturers to substitute it in products like shortening, and more recently in margarine, as well as salad and cooking oils."

During the 1960's palm oil imports averaged only a little over 60 million pounds a year. By the 1974-75 marketing year, U.S. imports climbed to 757 million pounds. This marketing year palm oil imports will probably vault to a record 900 million pounds and account for close to eight per cent of all edible fats and oils used for food in the United States.

The surge in imports stems from a dramatic rise in world palm oil production since 1970. Calendar year 1976 will probably see world output reach 7 billion pounds — roughly twice the 1970 level.

In the United States this calendar year, production of soybean oil, which last year came to 8.6 billion pounds, is expected to top the 10 billion pound mark. Most will be used as a domestic food fat, but about 1.6 billion pounds will be sold in foreign markets.

Over the past five years, about 85 per cent of the advance in world palm oil output has been sold to foreign markets rather than used to upgrade diets in producing countries. Since 1970, Malaysia and Indonesia alone have exported more than 90 per cent of their expanded production.

Palm oil trees yield up to 4,000 pounds of oil per acre. An acre of U.S. soybeans yields only 300 to 310 pounds of oil, USDA said. These figures show that palm oil is cheaper to produce than U.S. soybeans, according to the report.

USDA officials estimate that Malaysian palm oil can be produced and delivered to U.S. ports at an average cost of about 10 cents a pound. As a rule, palm oil begins to sell in large quantities when it costs at least two cents a pound less than prices quoted for soybean oil in Decatur, Ill.

It follows, then, that soybean oil in Decatur would need to drop to 12 cents a pound before palm oil can no longer sell at a price that will cover production and shipping costs.

Soybean oil prices dropped drastically this marketing year, and by mid-March the Decatur price stood at 16 cents a pound. Meantime, palm oil at Gulf ports was quoted at just over 17 cents. The steeper price will help hold down palm oil use, but only temporarily, USDA experts think.

A major reason for the massive flow of palm oil into this country is that the United States is the only major import market for palm oil that imposes no quotas or custom duties on it, USDA added.

Convicted South Haven Slayer Gets Life Term

ALLEGAN — Roger Dale Sparks, 19, convicted of murder in the brutal slaying of a South Haven co-ed on Dec. 23, was sentenced to life imprisonment here this morning.

The sentence was handed down in Allegan circuit court at 9:40 a.m. by Judge George Corsiglia.

Sparks was found guilty of two murder charges stemming from the slaying by a jury June 15 following a six-day trial. Conviction on the charges carried the mandatory life imprisonment sentence on each. The charges were first degree murder and murder while committing a felony. The felony alleged in the complaint was first degree criminal sexual conduct (formerly rape).

Sparks, of 717 Lee street, South Haven, was sentenced to solitary confinement at hard labor for life on each charge.

Sparks, married and the father of an 11-month-old baby, testified during the trial that he had been with the slain girl, Deborah Knapp, 19, 98 Monroe street, the night she was killed and had left her bleeding along 130th avenue near Saugatuck.

Miss Knapp had disappeared the night of Dec. 22 after driving from her home to a nearby grocery store to buy some potato chips and candy.

Her nude, knife-slashed body was found the next morning. Her car was found submerged in the Black river at South Haven.

Miss Knapp was home for Christmas vacation from Michigan State university when she was killed.

Sparks, a high school dropout, was arrested the afternoon of Dec. 23, after his mother-in-law notified police he had come home the night before with blood on his clothes.

Name's Different

The reported theft of a radio, watch and three rings was at the home of Veiga Brown, 1640 Ogden avenue, Fairplain — not the home of Charles Brown as reported in The Herald-Palladium Wednesday. Veiga Brown said Charles Brown has not lived there since January, 1974.

Nurses Linked To VA Hospital Labor Dispute

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — Two Filipino nurses charged with killing five patients at an Ann Arbor, Mich., veterans hospital were reportedly involved in a labor dispute with the hospital, a Philippine lawyer said today. U.S. prosecutors are trying to link the dispute to a motive for the killing, according to Estandio Fernandez, a former Philippine Supreme Court Justice who is heading a four-man legal panel offering to help American lawyers defend the nurses.

Fernandez, 71, made the statement just before leaving for the United States to join the other three Philippine lawyers.

Filipina Narciso, 30, and Leonora Perez, 31, are awaiting trial in Detroit. They were arrested last month after a 10-month investigation into a series of mysterious deaths at the Ann Arbor hospital and accused of poisoning the patients.

Calhoun, assistant to the hospital's chief of staff, denied the two nurses had been involved in a labor dispute.

"It's not true," he said. "I'm not aware of any labor dispute at this hospital. We received a petition from some nurses several months before the incidents but the two (Filipina) nurses' names were not on the petition. The petitioners were simply asking that more nurses be hired; it was not a dispute," Calhoun said.

Fernandez said pretrial proceedings against the nurses will begin next week and "we are going to force the prosecution to divulge all their evidence, particularly on the alleged motive of the nurses."

He said the prosecution reportedly was trying to connect the nurses with a petition for an increase of nursing staff at the hospital. Fernandez said "they were in sympathy with the petitioners although they did not sign the petition."

"Right now we have a very hazy idea about the alleged motive of the accused," said Arsenio Acuna, another member of the panel. "From what we have gathered so far, the nurses allegedly had an ax to grind against the hospital and the crime was committed to embarrass and discredit the hospital authorities."

Brother, Sister Arrested

Benton Harbor police arrested a brother and sister yesterday on separate charges of receiving and stealing stolen property.

Police said they arrested Wayne Everett Williams, 19, of 166 Apple street, and Yvonne Annette Williams, 18, of 940 Broadway, after seizing what police described as stolen property from two separate incidents. The two are brother and sister, police said.

Wayne Williams was arrested at 606 Colfax avenue after a television set was seized at the home, according to police. Another television set and radio, valued over $100, were seized at the home of Yvonne Williams. Police said the television and radio were stolen from the home of Willie Deloney, 124 Catalpa street.

TWO VOTES FOR HART: Sen. Philip Hart, D-Mich., left, sits beside Detroit Mayor Coleman Young Thursday at Democratic National convention in New York. Hearts, Funny Bone Dictate Four Votes

By SUSAN AGER

NEW YORK (AP) — Though Walter Mondale swept the Michigan delegation's endorsement for the vice presidency, three delegates voted their hearts and one her funny-bone.

The Minnesota senator got 129 votes at Thursday night's closing session of the Democratic National Convention. But they did not get nearly as much attention as the lone vote cast for Rolling Stone correspondent Hunter S. Thompson.

Claudia Elliott of Detroit, 21, said she voted for Thompson because he is "a very progressive person in politics" and had backed presidential nominee Jimmy Carter since 1974.

Besides, she winked, she had promised a friend who liked Thompson too.

Carter's staff took the humor in stride, calling Ms. Elliott immediately after the roll call to thank her for her vote for the youth folk hero.

U.S. Sen. Philip Hart of Michigan got two delegates' votes, and Minnesota Gov. Wendell Anderson got one.

Hart said the two votes cast for him were the closest he's ever come to the vice presidency.

A veteran of nine national conventions and 18 years in the Senate, Hart is ailing from cancer and will retire in January.

His two votes were cast by Warren teacher Richard Deneweth, 29, and Terry Lynn Redford, a 21-year-old Michigan State University student.

"He tells you where he's at and he talks to me," said Deneweth.

Hart sat quietly through much of the convention, as people around him regularly shouted, cheered and jumped to their feet. He shook hands of well-wishers' hands, but the cameras and attention clearly tired him.

State Democrats Hail Mondale Choice

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Walter Mondale's vice presidential nomination will help repair wounds that have lingered in the Democratic party in Michigan and the nation since 1972, Michigan Democrats said Thursday.

"It was an act of reconciliation," Douglas Fraser, a United Auto Workers vice president, said of Jimmy Carter's choice of the Senator from Minnesota as his running mate. It was Carter's attempt "to show that he accepts completely the liberal wing of the party," Fraser said.

Fraser said he believes Mondale will help the former Georgia governor in traditionally liberal sections of Michigan that voted for Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona in the state's May 13 primary. Those areas are mainly in suburban Detroit, Oakland and Macomb counties, the state's population center.

Michigan party Chairman Morley Winograd said Mondale was the right choice for Carter as far as Michigan was concerned because "he's from a neighboring state and understands our kind of politics."

Mondale had the hearty support not only of the UAW and its president, Leonard Woodcock, but also of the state AFL-CIO and the Michigan Education Association, which had 20 representatives in the Michigan delegation.

Most of Michigan's 133 delegates to the Democratic National Convention were clearly on Mondale's side as early as a month ago, though many of the delegates said they were uncommitted or would go happily along with whomever Carter selected.

By Thursday morning, however, most of the self-styled undecided were talking about Mondale as if he had always

Meanwhile, a convention vote that didn't get much attention could tie the Democratic party and its primary system in knots in the future, Winograd says.

He was perturbed a voice vote Thursday at the Convention required a commission he is heading to declare so-called "loophole" primaries are taboo.

The primaries, held in 12 states, are those where delegates to the conventions are elected separately from a presidential preference vote.

They also include primaries which elect only delegates, based on their candidate preference.

Loophole primaries used in large states like Pennsylvania and New York, are criticized by many as inequitable, by failing to reflect voter preferences for presidential candidates.

The vote Thursday defeated a proposal that would have let the Winograd Commission make its own decision on whether and how to reform the "loophole" primary system.

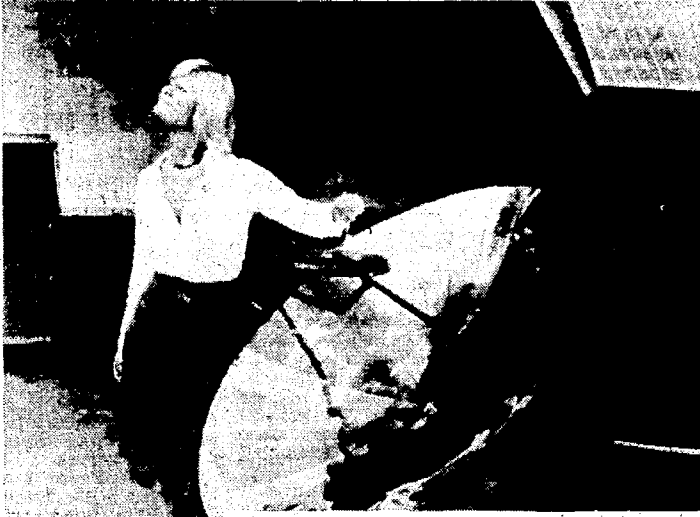

"We don't even know yet if it's an inequitable system. Only some people think it is," said Winograd.

Will GOP Have To Run Brooke?

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan Congressman John Conyers says there is a "great movement" to make Massachusetts Sen. Edward Brooke the vice presidential running mate if President Ford gets the Republican nomination.

Conyers, a black Democrat, said "Ford has been pushed so far to the right" by opponent Ronald Reagan that he may choose Brooke, also black, to help his image with more liberal Republicans and independents.

Conyers said he nominated U.S. Rep. Ronald Dellums of California for the second spot in Jimmy Carter's ticket in Thursday's session of the Democratic national Convention to "get people used to seeing" black candidates for the presidential ticket. Dellums later withdrew.

New Buffalo's Harbor To Be Dedicated Saturday

NEW BUFFALO — Dedication of New Buffalo's $2.5 million harbor Saturday and a 105-unit parade Sunday highlight the activities that are part of the third annual Heritage Days festival here this weekend. The harbor dedication will be between 1:30 and 2 p.m. at the New Buffalo public park. The harbor project — including a breakwater of boulders and renourishment of beaches — was generally completed earlier this year. It has sparked private investment within the harbor itself, including the previously announced $1 million expansion of Snug Harbor marina. It was financed by federal, state and local funds.

The parade begins at 2 p.m., Sunday, at Whittaker and Clay streets, and will wind down several city streets to its destination at the rear of the St. Mary's church. The Heritage Days Lady, Mrs. Edna Redding, is to be crowned tonight. Among the scheduled 16 floats to take part in the parade are those of: Miss New Buffalo; Girl Scout Troop 272; Niles; Heritage Christian academy; state liquor commission; Bradley trucking; Cub Scout Pack 552; Bob-A-Ron Campground; St. Mary of the Lake Home school association; Niles Shrine club cannon float; New Buffalo Rod and Gun club; Four Flags Apple festival; the Swinging Squires; Thespian club of New Buffalo; Lakeside winery; Tin Tree theater; the Balsanek float; and the Ronald McDonald float.

In addition there will be Shrine club mini-bikers, clowns, Bicentennial exhibits, antique cars and police color guard and marching units. The parade's grand marshal will be Harry Creighton, sportscaster and newscaster for WGN (Chicago) radio and television for over 30 years.

Lawton Man Almost Helped Make History

BICENTENNIAL STAGE: Crew is working day and night to put up stage for "fabulous Fruits of Progress," Berrien county's Bicentennial pageant that plays at Youth Fair grounds, Berrien Springs, Wednesday, July 21, through Saturday, July 24. George Sanchez, special technical director of the Rogers, producers of the show, arrived this week to assist Director Robert Holtzman in staging. The pageant will portray a history of Berrien county with much of the material taken from the county's commemorative book "Berrien Bicentennial." (Staff photo)

Served On Atlantic Balloon's Volunteer Ground Crew

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

LAWTON — A Lawton man who had a small part in what was almost a major aviation-milestone admits he's still awed by the experience.

Frank Thompson, 31, was a member of a 27-member volunteer crew which participated in Karl Thomas' abortive attempt to become the first man to make a trans-Atlantic crossing in a balloon.

"I kept thinking throughout the whole thing, 'Who am I, Frank Thompson from the little town of Lawton, to be doing something like this?'" he related recently.

Thompson, who operates an ambulance service and funeral homes in Paw Paw and Lawton, said that even when contact was lost with Thomas, the crew felt everything would turn out all right.

"We weren't overly concerned. We knew Karl was very self-reliant and had plenty of rations and a means (a back-up radio) to communicate."

"Everybody was sure he was still flying."

Thomas, 27, of Troy, Mich., was forced out of his balloon by a thunderstorm about 500 miles east of the U.S. coast some 33 hours after taking off from Lakehurst, N.J. June 25. He floated in a raft for four days before being picked up by a Russian freighter and taken to Rotterdam.

Thompson, who has a wife and two children, said he has not had a chance to talk with Thomas since the rescue, but that crew members are planning a reunion in the Detroit area for later this month.

Thompson described Thomas as, "An adventurer...very calculating. He knew there was an inherent risk in the project, but he felt it was something that was worthwhile that would be a positive experience."

He said he and his fellow crew members were "taking time to do something we really enjoy. There's only one life here on earth so why not live it to the fullest."

Thompson became involved in the project through Bill Parker, a flight instructor. Parker was giving flying lessons to Thompson and Gary Johnson, a Kalamazoo banking executive, who is the brother of Paul Johnson, the president of the Aspen Steel Corp. of Detroit, the prime sponsor of the flight.

Thompson said he and the other crew members flew to Lakehurst the week of June 14 to begin preparation of the balloon. Working 16-18 hours a day, Thompson said the volunteers "lost all track of time."

Thompson's primary duty was weighing all items that went on and off the 90-foot balloon. Steel stock of the type used in producing roller bearings was loaded in cardboard boxes as ballast. Thompson said the balloon, although filled with 77,000 cubic feet of helium, was so finely balanced that several ounces of weight effected whether or not the craft rose or sank.

Because of poor weather conditions for launch, most of the crew flew home after a week, then returned for the take-off on June 25. Thompson described the launch, which occurred at 9:01 p.m. under the lights of television cameras and before the cheers of a large crowd, as a very emotional experience.

Thompson said the crew believes Thomas' primary radio system was accidentally damaged during a pre-flight check. A malfunction in the radio's antenna base also knocked out the main navigational system, although Thomas did have a sextant as a back-up, Thompson said.

"We felt all along the only thing that could genuinely put him (Thomas) down was a thunderstorm, and as it turned out it was a thunderstorm," Thompson related.

He explained that a skirt over the gondola was apparently not large enough to stop rain from flooding the gondola. A supporting strap on one side of the gondola gave way under the weight of the water, causing the gondola to tip and much of the equipment to fall out, he said.

This in turn, Thompson said, made the balloon rise rapidly out of control, and Thomas decided he'd better jump before it was too late.

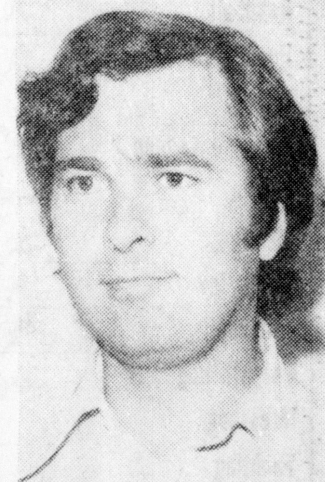

The path of the balloon was similar to that taken by Charles Lindbergh in 1927, and luckily crossed some major shipping lanes, Thompson said.

With manned flights to the moon and supersonic airliners, Thompson said he feels most people are apathetic now about flight achievements. Yet, he feels the balloon crossing is still something special.

"You kind of have to wonder with all the other accomplishments, why hasn't anyone been able to cross the Atlantic in a balloon. It's one of the few things left where it's essentially just one man against the elements."

Thomas has indicated he probably won't attempt another flight. But if he does, Frank Thompson will be ready to go on a moment's notice.

Interviews Due On New US-31 Land Acquisition

LANSING — Preliminary interviews leading to the acquisition of property for the relocation of a 3.2-mile segment of US-31 freeway in Berrien county will begin within two weeks, the Department of State Highways and Transportation has announced.

Forty-two parcels of property, including 24 residential, will be required for the section from just north of US-12, north to Walton road. The plan calls for interchanges at Niles-Buchanan road and Walton road and a bridge over the St. Joseph river.

Bids for construction of the bridge are scheduled for the fall of next year, and on the remainder of the project for spring of 1978. It is part of a relocation of US-31 from the Indiana border north for 31 miles to I-94 near St. Joseph and Benton Harbor.

Representatives of the department's right-of-way division will personally contact all property owners and occupants. Occupants required to relocate, whether renters or occupant-owners, are eligible for supplemental benefits in addition to the fair market value of their property. Supplemental benefits including moving costs, funds to purchase replacement housing or rental supplements.

Department right-of-way officials emphasized that relocation assistance is based on occupancy at the time of purchase negotiations. Negotiations are scheduled to be completed for the St. Joseph river bridge right-of-way by January, 1977, and for the remainder of the project by April, 1977.

Occupants in the freeway right-of-way area should check with the department before moving. Inquiries should be directed to: Relocation Office, Dept. of State Highways and Transportation, 7545 S. Westnedge Ave., Portage, Mich. 49081.

Occupants also may contact the department's field office on Wednesdays from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.: Relocation Office, Dept. of State Highways and Transportation, 2365 US-12 West, Niles, Michigan. Phone: 633-2510.

EAU CLAIRE CHIEF: Dr. William Horie, 49, formerly of Mt. Sinai, N.Y., assumed duties as superintendent of Eau Claire school district, effective July 1. He replaced Dr. William Schaefer III who took job in Illinois. Horie was assistant superintendent for business affairs for Roosevelt school district on Long Island last year. His wife, Vergene, and three of six children will move to Eau Claire in August.

Niles Area CBers Plan Benefit Dinner Saturday

BY JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau
NILES — Citizen band radio operators in the Niles area will stage a benefit spaghetti dinner for the three victims of a June 9, explosion and fire here.

The dinner will be held from noon until 8 p.m., Saturday, July 17, at the clubhouse of the Brandywine mobile home park, located south of Niles on US-31.

Mrs. Sue Gross of Niles, said proceeds from the dinner will be used to help defray the medical costs for Mrs. Barbara Dutoi, 28, of Niles, Mrs. Roberta Beaver, 31, and her one-year-old son, Jeffrey, route 1, Mead road, Buchanan.

The two women and child were critically burned when an explosion and fire ripped through a house at 1214 Oak street on Niles' east side.

A spokesman at Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo, said Mrs. Dutoi remains listed in critical condition and the Beavers are in fair condition.

Mrs. Gross said that Niles area CB'ers will provide a "radio benefit control" to guide out-of-town residents to the mobile home park and that transportation for Niles area senior citizens will be provided free of charge.

Tickets for the dinner may be purchased at the door, or in Getting

Black Bishop

SIoux FALLS, S.D. (AP) — The North Central jurisdiction of the United Methodist Church has elected Edsel Ammons, 52, as bishop of the church's Detroit and West Michigan conferences.

Bishop Ammons, the first black bishop ever elected by the North Central jurisdiction, succeeds Dwight E. Loder, who has served the Michigan area for 12 years. Bishop Loder was reassigned to the United Methodist' western Ohio region with headquarters in Columbus.

Bishop Ammons has been a professor at the Garrett Evangelical Seminary in Evanston, Ill., since 1968. A native of Chicago, he was ordained at Detroit's St. Paul's Church in 1949.

There are 969 local United Methodist churches in the two Michigan conferences — with some 300,000 members.

Buchanan at Desenberg's Men's Wear, West Front street.

In addition to the dinner, benefit trust funds have been established for all three burn victims. An account for Mrs. Dutoi has been established at the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, Niles.

An account for Mrs. Beaver and her son has been set up at the Buchanan branch of the Inter-City bank.

Niles police said the two women and child were inside the house, looking over the vacant structure on Oak street owned by Mrs. Beaver's late mother, when the explosion occurred shortly before noon.

The blast was blamed on a natural gas leak caused by a cracked cast iron T-joint in a Michigan Power Co. gas main, located under the pavement in front of the house, according to the state Public Service commission. The commission said the leaking gas followed a line into the house, where it was ignited, the PSC said.

Michigan Power, according to the PSC, will replace a one-block section of main gas line in the area and all lines in the area will be moved under sidewalks from beneath the street.

The National Transportation Safety board has also recommended to Michigan Power that it determine the extent of mains in the system which are joined by cast iron fittings and inspect and evaluate the fittings.

Troopers Log Over 1,000 June Contacts With CB'ers

EAST LANSING — Michigan State police had 1,004 contacts with CB operators along I-94 and I-196 freeway corridors in June — one of which helped in the apprehension of a murder suspect — the department's traffic division reported.

The program's supervisor, Lt. Roderick LaMore, head of the selective enforcement section of the traffic division, described the state police CB operation as a "tremendous success" in its first month. The operation actually began during the Memorial Day weekend, May 29-31.

(Lt. LaMore is the son of Joseph LaMore of St. Joseph and a brother of Arnold LaMore of New Buffalo, chief machinist and technician for The Herald-Palladium.)

vehicle was spotted by a civilian CB'er who relayed the information to police.

The state police operation monitors CB channels 9 and 19 and is handled by a maximum of 25 mobile unit patrol cars and 11 base stations along the two freeways. Base stations which monitor channel 9 (national emergency channel) are located at Benton Harbor, Paw Paw, Battle Creek, Jackson, Ypsilanti, Pontiac, Brighton, Lansing, Ionia, Rockford and Grand Haven.

LaMore said the total of 1,004 CB contacts made to the state police included 290 law violation type reports and 714 reports concerning dangerous conditions or assistance calls.

Of the 290, the state police responded in 147 cases and turned 53 others over to other police for handling. Ninety-four other calls were classified as 54 "not located" and 40 "out of position" for servicing.

Of the 290 violation type reports by CB'ers, 128 involved speeding vehicles. Of those cases the state police issued 72 traffic law violation tickets and nine verbal warnings. Another 83 reports concerned suspect drunk driving with the state police making 23 traffic arrests and six other arrests while warnings were given in four cases. In addition there were 37 non-traffic calls, including 26 misdemeanor cases and 11 felony cases.

Of the 704 dangerous condition assistance calls, 173 concerned traffic accidents, another 30 involved car fires, 233 were for stranded motorists, and 18 involved sick people. Other calls concerned parked vehicles, objects on road, attempts to locate, requests for directions, and miscellaneous. Of the 714, state police handled 514 cases, other police 136. There were 58 "not located" cases and six "out of position."

SCHOLARSHIP: Michael J. Evans, 20, Gobles, has received two-year Army ROTC scholarship at Western Michigan university where he is a junior. Scholarship, valued at $8,000, pays tuition, fees, book costs and $100 a month. He is son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Evans, Gobles. Evans family lived in St. Joseph until 1971.

The Word Is 'Security'

DETROIT (AP) — Auto workers across the country are hoping to win job security guarantees and improved pensions as the United Auto Workers opens contract talks with the nation's car makers next week. Interviews by The Associated Press with local UAW presidents and rank-and-file members show new priorities have emerged after the massive layoffs in 1974 and 1975 which put 200,000 blue collar auto workers out of work. Unlike past years, no widespread demands for big wage increases have surfaced — unlimited cost-of-living protection was included in the expiring three-year pact. Instead the talk is about reducing working time to create new jobs and keep current ones. "The whole theme of the contract is job security," said William Novotny, a committeeman at Local 879 at Ford's Twin Cities car assembly plant in St. Paul, Minn. "We're losing our shirts due to automation, smaller cars take less parts, and many people have been laid off because of the gas shortage..."

ADDED DUTIES: Thomas Russell, currently Oronoko township tax assessor, has assumed additional duties of township zoning administrator and building inspector. Russell will replace former zoning administrator and building inspector, Robert Pagel, who has been named township trustee by township board.

BALI QUAKE DAMAGE: Police examine ruins in the town of Denpasar in southern Bali, an island between the Indian ocean and the Java sea, Thursday, after an earthquake struck. Quake reportedly caused 223 deaths and 2,300 injuries. (AP Wirephoto)

Convicted South Haven Slayer Gets Life Term

ALLEGAN — Roger Dale Sparks, 19, convicted of murder in the brutal slaying of a South Haven co-ed on Dec. 23, was sentenced to life imprisonment here this morning.

The sentence was handed down in Allegan circuit court at 9:30 a.m. by Judge George Corsiglia. Sparks was found guilty of two murder charges stemming from the slaying by a jury June 15 following a six-day trial. Conviction on the charges carried the mandatory life imprisonment sentence on each. The charges were first degree murder and murder while committing a felony. The felony alleged in the complaint was first degree criminal sexual conduct (formerly rape).

Sparks, of 717 Lee street, South Haven, was sentenced to solitary confinement at hard labor for life on each charge.

Sparks, married and the father of an 11-month-old baby, testified during the trial that he had been with the slain girl, Deborah Knapp, 19, 98 Monroe street, the night she was killed and had left her bleeding along 130th avenue near Saugatuck.

Miss Knapp had disappeared the night of Dec. 22 after driving from her home to a nearby grocery store to buy some potato chips and candy.

Her nude, knife-slashed body was found the next morning. Her car was found submerged in the Black river at South Haven.

Miss Knapp was home for Christmas vacation from Michigan State university when she was killed.

Sparks, a high school dropout, was arrested the afternoon of Dec. 23, after his mother-in-law notified police he had come home the night before with blood on his clothes.

Name's Different

The reported theft of a radio, watch and three rings was at the home of Veiga Brown, 1640 Ogden avenue, Fairplain — not the home of Charles Brown as reported in The Herald-Palladium Wednesday. Veiga Brown said Charles Brown has not lived there since January, 1974.

Nurses Linked To VA Hospital Labor Dispute

MANILA, The Philippines (AP) — Two Filipino nurses charged with killing five patients at an Ann Arbor, Mich., veterans hospital were reportedly involved in a labor dispute with the hospital, a Philippine lawyer said today. U.S. prosecutors are trying to link the dispute to a motive for the killing, according to Estanislao Fernandez, a former Philippine Supreme Court Justice who is heading a four-man legal panel offering to help American lawyers defend the nurses.

Fernandez, 71, made the statement just before leaving for the United States to join the other three Philippine lawyers.

Filipina Narciso, 30, and Leonora Perez, 31, are awaiting trial in Detroit. They were arrested last month after a 10-month investigation into a series of mysterious deaths at the Ann Arbor hospital and accused of poisoning the patients.

Calhoun, assistant to the hospital's chief of staff, denied the two nurses had been involved in a labor dispute.

"It's not true," he said. "I'm not aware of any labor dispute at this hospital. We received a petition from some nurses several months before the incidents but the two (Filipina) nurses' names were not on the petition. The petitioners were simply asking that more nurses be hired; it was not a dispute," Calhoun said.

Fernandez said pretrial proceedings against the nurses will begin next week and "we are going to force the prosecution to divulge all their evidence, particularly on the alleged motive of the nurses."

He said the prosecution reportedly was trying to connect the nurses with a petition for an increase of nursing staff at the hospital. Fernandez said "they were in sympathy with the petitioners although they did not sign the petition."

"Right now we have a very hazy idea about the alleged motive of the accused," said Arsenio Acuna, another member of the panel. "From what we have gathered so far, the nurses allegedly had an ax to grind against the hospital and the crime was committed to embarrass and discredit the hospital authorities."

Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Paul (Marie) Kerlikowski, Colonia and Mrs. Rose Walters, St. Joseph.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday in Kerley and Starks funeral home, St. Joseph, where friends may call after 2 p.m. today. Cremation will be held.

Hoosier Gets Jail, $100 Fine

A 19-year-old Gary, Ind. man was sentenced to fine and costs of $100 or 30 days in jail in Berrien Fifth District court Thursday for attempting to elude a police officer in New Buffalo.

Douglas M. Cochran was also sentenced to $50 or 30 days in jail on an additional charge of reckless driving. Both offenses occurred early yesterday.

Also sentenced were: Arnell C. Carridine, 53, of Chicago, $102 or 14 days in jail for impaired driving Wednesday in Benton township.

Christine Washington, 18, of 328 Brunson avenue, Benton Harbor, $31 for disorderly person, creating a disturbance at her home.

New Union Cry; Work 30, Pay 40

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers officials are confident they will win some kind of reduction in the number of hours auto workers spend on the job as contract talks edge ever closer.

"I don't know in what form it will come but by the time we finish (bargaining), work time will be shorter," said UAW Vice President Doug Fraser.

Shorter work hours are linked with the union's chief demand for job security. The union seeks a reduction in work-time as the key to guaranteed jobs for more UAW members, and has a bargaining program that includes 10 suggestions for reducing work time.

"We have to set out to move this union and this country off the 40-hour system," said Frank Runnels, president of Cadillac Local 2 in Detroit.

"Thirty for 40 should be our battle cry," said Charles Brooks, president of Chrysler Local 44 in Windsor, Ont. Brooks statement means 40 hours pay for 30 hours work.

He said three six-hour shifts would improve employee relations and reduce absenteeism. Among the hour-reduction plans are suggestions to:

—Increase lunch and coffee breaks;

—Boost the number of holidays;

—Initiate periods to allowing workers to test retirement before actually taking a pension;

—Allow workers with high seniority to opt for layoffs rather than automatically making low-seniority workers lose their jobs.

Grass Clipping Blaze Snuffed By SJ Firemen

St. Joseph firefighters extinguished a small grass fire in an unoccupied field in the 3400 block of Lake Shore drive at 8:30 last night. Cause of the blaze, started in grass clippings which had been thrown in the field, is unknown, firemen reported.

Democrats Map Strategy

Mondale, 48.

The 1976 Democratic National Convention ended with the Rev. Martin Luther King, father of the slain civil rights leader, declaring, "Surely the Lord sent Jimmy Carter to come on out and bring America back where she belongs."

After today's meetings here, the Carter caravan was to head for the family home at Plains, Ga.

As he introduced Mondale as his choice for running mate, Carter said, "The first duty that Sen. Mondale will have will be to help win the election in the fall."

Carter said Mondale and his staff would be asked "to put forward their own proposal about what areas of the nation he should visit most, what particular states he would find most compatible with his own campaigning, and to share responsibilities for major events."

Carter said there would be staff meetings following up today's meeting between the two candidates. Presumably, the bulk of the planning will be done in Plains, where Carter is expected to spend most of his time until the campaign against the Republican nominee begins in early September.

The Carter campaign headquarters will remain in Atlanta in keeping with his non-Washington approach to the election. Washington operations will center on the Democratic National Committee headquarters.

Aides said party chairman Robert Strauss, the man generally credited with patching up the party after divisive conventions and campaigns torn by the Vietnam war in 1968 and internal party changes in 1972, would court-dinate national connections.

Mondale also cited "a new mood in America" in his acceptance speech, and he said the mood was what led Carter to think "that a farmer from Georgia might have a chance of becoming president if he took his case directly to the people."

And Carter said his rise from underdog to nominee proves "that ultimate political influence rests not with powerbrokers but with the people."

"We have been shaken by a tragic war abroad and by scandals and broken promises at home," Carter said. "Our people are seeking new voices, new ideas and new leaders."

"Although government has its limits and cannot solve all our problems, we Americans reject the view that we must be reconciled to failures and mediocrity, or to an inferior quality of life."

Carter said he wanted jobs for all who were able to work, comprehensive tax reform, universal voter registration, a national health program, an end to racial and sex discrimination, firm law enforcement and an end to "the double standard of justice in America."

"I see no reason why big shot crooks should go free while the poor ones go to jail," Carter said.

Carter told reporters later he could accomplish his goals within four years of moving into the White House.

While Carter denounced "the disgrace of Watergate," he did not mention personalities. But Mondale went further by bringing up President Ford's pardon of Richard Nixon for Watergate offenses.

"We have just lived through the worst political scandal in American history and are now led by a President who pardoned the person who did it," Mondale said.

On foreign policy, Carter's speech was reminiscent of John F. Kennedy's inaugural address 15 years ago. He called for "a sustained architectural effort to shape an international framework of peace within which our own ideals gradually can become a global reality."

"Our country has lived through a time of torment. It is now a time for healing."

Mondale said the secret of the Carter campaign has been that it addressed "the underlying, intangible issue that is central to this year's campaign — the demand of the people of this nation to once more restore honesty and decency and openness to our government, the demand of our people to once more have a government they can take pride in."

In the only other major piece of business before the convention on its closing day, party liberals succeeded in eliminating the so-called loophole primaries which have allowed exception to the party rule against winner-take-all presidential primaries.

The change eliminates the loophole feature in 12 states and extends the ban on winner-take-all down to the level of congressional districts, where each presidential candidate now must be awarded a share of the district's convention delegates in proportion to his strength at the polls.

It was the only significant loss for the Carter forces during the entire convention. Carter and Strauss had urged more study of the problem instead of an immediate ban.

Mondale was nominated by acclamation after a roll call that gave him 2,871 votes to 191 for an assortment of other names.

Brother, Sister Arrested

Benton Harbor police arrested a brother and sister yesterday on separate charges of receiving and stealing stolen property.

Police said they arrested Wayne Everett Williams, 19, of 166 Apple street, and Yvonne Annette Williams, 18, of 940 Broadway, after seizing what police described as stolen property from two separate incidents. The two are brother and sister, police said.

Wayne Williams was arrested at 606 Colfax avenue after a television set was seized at the home, according to police. Another television set and radio, valued over $100, were seized at the home of Yvonne Williams. Police said the television and radio were stolen from the home of Willie Deloney, 124 Catalpa street.

New Buffalo's Harbor To Be Dedicated Saturday

NEW BUFFALO — Dedication of New Buffalo's $2.5 million harbor Saturday and a 105-unit parade Sunday highlight the activities that are part of the third annual Heritage Days festival here this weekend. The harbor dedication will be between 1:30 and 2 p.m. at the New Buffalo public park. The harbor project — including a breakwater of boulders and renourishment of beaches — was generally completed earlier this year. It has sparked private investment within the harbor itself, including the previously announced $1 million expansion of Snug Harbor marina. It was financed by federal, state and local funds.

The parade begins at 2 p.m., Sunday, at Whitaker and Clay streets, and will wind down several city streets to its destination at the rear of the St. Mary's church. The Heritage Days Lady, Mrs. Edna Redding, is to be crowned tonight. Among the scheduled 16 floats to take part in the parade are those of: Miss New Buffalo; Girl Scout Troop 272; Niles; Heritage Christian academy; state liquor commission; Bradley trucking; Cub Scout Pack 552; Bob-A-Ron Campground; St. Mary of the Lake Home school association; Niles Shrine club cannon float; New Buffalo Rod and Gun club; Four Flags Apple festival; the Swinging Squires; Thespian club of New Buffalo; Lakeside winery; Tin

Tree theater; the Balsanek float; and the Ronald McDonald float.

In addition there will be Shrine club mini-bikers, clowns, Bicentennial exhibits, antique cars and police color guard and marching units. The parade's grand marshal will be Harry Creighton, sportscaster and newscaster for WGN (Chicago) radio and television for over 30 years.

Lawton Man Almost Helped Make History

Served On Atlantic Balloon's Volunteer Ground Crew

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

LAWTON — A Lawton man who had a small part in what was almost a major aviation milestone admits he's still awed by the experience.

Frank Thompson, 31, was a member of a 27-member volunteer crew which participated in Karl Thomas' abortive attempt to become the first man to make a trans-Atlantic crossing in a balloon.

"I kept thinking throughout the whole thing, 'Who am I, Frank Thompson from the little town of Lawton, to be doing something like this?'" he related recently.

Thompson, who operates an ambulance service and funeral homes in Paw Paw and Lawton, said that even when contact was lost with Thomas, the crew felt everything would turn out all right.

"We weren't overly concerned. We knew Karl was very self-reliant and had plenty of rations and a means (a back-up radio) to communicate."

"Everybody was sure he was still flying."

Thomas, 27, of Troy, Mich., was forced out of his balloon by a thunderstorm about 500 miles east of the U.S. coast some 33 hours after taking off from Lakehurst, N.J. June 25. He floated in a raft for four days before being picked up by a Russian freighter and taken to Rotterdam.

Thompson, who has a wife and two children, said he has not had a chance to talk with Thomas since the rescue, but that crew members are planning a reunion in the Detroit area for later this month.

Thompson described Thomas as, "An adventurer...very calculating. He knew there was an inherent risk in the project, but he felt it was something that was worthwhile that would be a positive experience."

He said he and his fellow crew members were "taking time to do something we really enjoy. There's only one life here on earth so why not live it to the fullest."

Thompson became involved in the project through Bill Parker, a flight instructor. Parker was giving flying lessons to Thompson and Gary Johnson, a Kalamazoo banking executive, who is the brother of Paul Johnson, the president of the Aspen Steel Corp. of Detroit, the prime sponsor of the flight.

Thompson said he and the other crew members flew to Lakehurst the week of June 14 to begin preparation of the balloon. Working 16-18 hours a day, Thompson said the volunteers "lost all track of time."

Thompson's primary duty was weighing all items that went on and off the 90-foot balloon. Steel stock of the type used in producing roller bearings was loaded in cardboard boxes as ballast. Thompson said the balloon, although filled with 77,000 cubic feet of helium, was so finely balanced that several ounces of weight effected whether or not the craft rose or sank.

Because of poor weather conditions for launch, most of the crew flew home after a week, then returned for the take-off on June 25. Thompson described the launch, which occurred at 9:01 p.m. under the lights of television cameras and before the cheers of a large crowd, as a very emotional experience.

Thompson said the crew believes Thomas' primary radio system was accidentally damaged during a pre-flight check. A malfunction in the radio's antenna base also knocked out the main navigational system, although Thomas did have a sextant as a back-up, Thompson said.

"We felt all along the only thing that could genuinely put him (Thomas) down was a thunderstorm, and as it turned out it was a thunderstorm," Thompson related.

He explained that a skirt over the gondola was apparently not large enough to stop rain from flooding the gondola. A supporting strap on one side of the gondola gave way under the weight of the water, causing the gondola to tip and much of the equipment to fall out, he said.

This in turn, Thompson said, made the balloon rise rapidly out of control, and Thomas decided he'd better jump before it was too late.

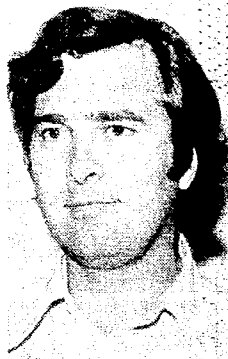

The path of the balloon was similar to that taken by Charles Lindbergh in 1927, and luckily crossed some major shipping lanes, Thompson said.

With manned flights to the moon and supersonic airliners, Thompson said he feels most people are apathetic now about flight achievements. Yet, he feels the balloon crossing is still something special.

"You kind of have to wonder with all the other accomplishments, why hasn't anyone been able to cross the Atlantic in a balloon. It's one of the few things left where it's essentially just one man against the elements."

Thomas has indicated he probably won't attempt another flight. But if he does, Frank Thompson will be ready to go on a moment's notice.

Interviews Due On New US-31 Land Acquisition

LANSING — Preliminary interviews leading to the acquisition of property for the relocation of a 3.2-mile segment of US-31 freeway in Berrien county will begin within two weeks, the Department of State Highways and Transportation has announced.

Forty-two parcels of property, including 24 residential, will be required for the section from just north of US-12, north to Walton road. The plan calls for interchanges at Niles-Buchanan road and Walton road and a bridge over the St. Joseph river.

Bids for construction of the bridge are scheduled for the fall of next year, and on the remainder of the project for spring of 1978. It is part of a relocation of US-31 from the Indiana border north for 31 miles to I-94 near St. Joseph and Benton Harbor.

Representatives of the department's right-of-way division will personally contact all property owners and occupants. Occupants required to relocate, whether renters or occupant-owners, are eligible for supplemental benefits in addition to the fair market value of their property. Supplemental benefits including moving costs, funds to purchase replacement housing or rental supplements.

Department right-of-way officials emphasized that relocation assistance is based on occupancy at the time of purchase negotiations. Negotiations are scheduled to be completed for the St. Joseph river bridge right-of-way by January, 1977, and for the remainder of the project by April, 1977.

Occupants in the freeway right-of-way area should check with the department before moving. Inquiries should be directed to: Relocation Office, Dept. of State Highways and Transportation, 7545 S. Westnedge Ave., Portage, Mich. 49081.

Occupants also may contact the department's field office on Wednesdays from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.: Relocation Office, Dept. of State Highways and Transportation, 2365 US-12 West, Niles, Michigan. Phone: 633-2510.

EAU CLAIRE CHIEF: Dr. William Horie, 49, formerly of Mt. Sinai, N.Y., assumed duties as superintendent of Eau Claire school district, effective July 1. He replaced Dr. William Schaefer III who took job in Illinois. Horie was assistant superintendent for business affairs for Roosevelt school district on Long Island last year. His wife, Vergene, and three of six children will move to Eau Claire in August.

Niles Area CBers Plan Benefit Dinner Saturday

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

NILES — Citizen band radio operators in the Niles area will stage a benefit spaghetti dinner for the three victims of a June 9, explosion and fire here.

The dinner will be held from noon until 8 p.m., Saturday, July 17, at the clubhouse of the Brandywine mobile home park, located south of Niles on US-31.

Mrs. Sue Gross of Niles, said proceeds from the dinner will be used to help defray the medical costs for Mrs. Barbara Dutoi, 28, of Niles, Mrs. Roberta Beaver, 31, and her one-year-old son, Jeffrey, route 1, Mead road, Buchanan.

The two women and child were critically burned when an explosion and fire ripped through a house at 1214 Oak street on Niles' east side.

A spokesman at Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo, said Mrs. Dutoi remains listed in critical condition and the Beavers are in fair condition.

Mrs. Gross said that Niles area CBers will provide a "radio benefit control" to guide out-of-town residents to the mobile home park and that transportation for Niles area senior citizens will be provided free of charge.

Tickets for the dinner may be purchased at the door, or in Buchanan at Desenberg's Men's Wear, West Front street.

In addition to the dinner, benefit trust funds have been established for all three burn victims. An account for Mrs. Dutoi has been established at the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, Niles.

An account for Mrs. Beaver and her son has been set up at the Buchanan branch of the Inter-City bank.

Niles police said the two women and child were inside the house, looking over the vacant structure on Oak street owned by Mrs. Beaver's late mother, when the explosion occurred shortly before noon.

The blast was blamed on a natural gas leak caused by a cracked cast iron T-joint in a Michigan Power Co. gas main, located under the pavement in front of the house, according to the state Public Service commission. The commission said the leaking gas followed a line into the house, where it was ignited, the PSC said.

Michigan Power, according to the PSC, will replace a one-block section of main gas line in the area and all lines in the area will be moved under sidewalks from beneath the street.

The National Transportation Safety board has also recommended to Michigan Power that it determine the extent of mains in the system which are joined by cast iron fittings and inspect and evaluate the fittings.

Michigan Getting Black Bishop

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — The North Central jurisdiction of the United Methodist Church has elected Edsel Ammons, 52, as bishop of the church's Detroit and West Michigan conferences.

Bishop Ammons, the first black bishop ever elected by the North Central jurisdiction, succeeds Dwight E. Loder, who has served the Michigan area for 12 years. Bishop Loder was reassigned to the United Methodist western Ohio region with headquarters in Columbus.

Bishop Ammons has been a professor at the Garrett Evangelical Seminary in Evanston, Ill., since 1968. A native of Chicago, he was ordained at Detroit's St. Paul's Church in 1969.

There are 969 local United Methodist churches in the two Michigan conferences — with some 300,000 members.

Troopers Log Over 1,000 June Contacts With CB's

EAST LANSING — Michigan State police had 1,004 contacts with CB operators along I-94 and I-196 freeway corridors in June — one of which helped in the apprehension of a murder suspect — the department's traffic division reported.

The program's supervisor, Lt. Roderick LaMore, head of the selective enforcement section of the traffic division, described the state police CB operation as a "tremendous success" in its first month. The operation actually began during the Memorial Day weekend, May 29-31.

(Lt. LaMore is the son of Joseph LaMore of St. Joseph and a brother of Arnold LaMore of New Buffalo, chief machinist and technician for The Herald-Palladium.)

vehicle was spotted by a civilian CBer who relayed the information to police.

The state police operation monitors CB channels 9 and 19 and is handled by a maximum of 25 mobile unit patrol cars and 11 base stations along the two freeways. Base stations which monitor channel 9 (national emergency channel) are located at Benton Harbor, Paw Paw, Battle Creek, Jackson, Ypsilanti, Pontiac, Brighton, Lansing, Jonia, Rockford and Grand Haven.

LaMore said the total of 1,004 CB contacts made to the state police included 290 law violation type reports and 714 reports concerning dangerous conditions or assistance calls.

Of the 290, the state police responded in 147 cases and turned 53 others over to other police for handling. Ninety-four other calls were classified as 54 "not located" and 40 "out of position" for servicing.

Of the 290 violation type reports by CBers, 128 involved speeding vehicles. Of those cases the state police issued 72 traffic law violation tickets and nine verbal warnings. Another 83 reports concerned suspect drunk driving with the state police making 23 traffic arrests and six other arrests while warnings were given in four cases. In addition there were 37 non-traffic calls, including 26 misdemeanor cases and 11 felony cases.

Of the 704 dangerous condition assistance calls, 173 concerned traffic accidents, another 30 involved car fires, 233 were for stranded motorists, and 18 involved sick people. Other calls concerned parked vehicles, objects on road, attempts to locate, requests for directions, and miscellaneous. Of the 714, state police handled 514 cases, other police 136. There were 58 "not located" cases and six "out of position."

SCHOLARSHIP: Michael J. Evans, 20, Gobles, has received two-year Army ROTC scholarship at Western Michigan university where he is a junior. Scholarship, valued at $8,000, pays tuition, fees, book costs and $100 a month. He is son of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Evans, Gobles. Evans family lived in St. Joseph until 1971.

The Word Is 'Security'

DETROIT (AP) — Auto workers across the country are hoping to win job security guarantees and improved pensions as the United Auto Workers opens contract talks with the nation's car makers next week. Interviews by The Associated Press with local UAW presidents and rank-and-file members show new priorities have emerged after the massive layoffs in 1974 and 1975 which put 200,000 blue collar auto workers out of work. Unlike past years, no widespread demands for big wage increases have surfaced — unlimited cost-of-living protection was included in the expiring three-year pact. Instead the talk is about reducing working time to create new jobs and keep current ones. "The whole theme of the contract is job security," said William Novotny, a committeeman at Local 879 at Ford's Twin Cities car assembly plant in St. Paul, Minn. "We're losing our shirts due to automation, smaller cars take less parts, and many people have been laid off because of the gas shortage..."

ADDED DUTIES: Thomas Russell, currently Oronoko township tax assessor, has assumed additional duties of township zoning administrator and building inspector. Russell will replace former zoning administrator and building inspector, Robert Pagel, who has been named township trustee by township board.

American Jenner Super Athlete

Seeking Gold Medal In Olympic Games Decathlon

EUGENE, Ore. (NEA) — Sixty minutes after he had scored more points than any decathlon performer in the history of the world, Bruce Jenner was out running along Agate Avenue, bordering the Oregon track stadium where he had strained his guts over a 34-hour period.

Two hours after that he was at a steak house drinking a beer, sipping on some Cold Duck — compliments of the house — and eating a Reuben sandwich. It takes Jenner a long time to come down from the rigors of the 10-event spectacle that captivates the track and field world every four years.

"Two weeks," he estimates, "before I'm back to normal." Right now he's returning his body to get ready for the Olympic decathlon test at Montreal, for which he's been pushing himself the last half dozen years.

Decathletes only come out of the woodwork every four years. At the National AAU met in 1974, Jenner — claimant to the title of world's best athlete — performed before 100 people in Eugene. A couple of years before that, in the same event, there were 167 people in the Los Angeles Coliseum. At Montreal, there'll be 70,000 to watch him duel with Nikolai Avilov of the Soviet Union, the defending Gold Medal winner.

And after that? Well, that's where 26-year-old Jenner illustrates the supreme hustle of Olympic competition.

Already, at Eugene's Hayward Field for the Olympic trials, he was trailed discreetly by a Hollywood agent who'll be his manager, by a young novelist who is collaborating on an autobiography, by a Beverly Hills lawyer who'll make sure that all deals are beneficial, and by his own entourage of friends, family and hangers-on.

Jenner has the handsome, rugged looks of an Austrian ski instructor. He is built perfectly for his event, at 6-2 and 195. He's glib and quick-tongued. His Prince Valiant haircut frames his face just right. He even has a strikingly beautiful blonde wife, Chrystie, who has worked these last four years as an airline stewardess while Jenner has concentrated 100 per cent on perfecting himself as a decathlete.

"When I look at O.J. Simpson carrying a football, I say, 'What a great athlete.' But a decathlete has qualities that merit the title. He has to be fast. He must run distance. He has to throw three ways. He has to jump three ways.

"It's an event of moderation. You have to be moderately good in a lot of things. It goes against the American ideal of specialization. If I weren't a decathlon performer, I would have dropped out of track and field a long time ago because I wouldn't have been good enough."

Jenner grew up in New York and Connecticut as the typically good all-around schoolboy athlete. He was recruited to go to Graceland College, a little Mormon school in Iowa.

In 1970, at the Drake Relays in Des Moines, he competed in his first decathlon and was hooked. He gave up football and basketball and water skiing. He had been the Eastern water skiing champion three times.

"After graduation," he says, "my wife, Chrystie, and I took stock and decided that I had a shot at becoming a world's champion and decided to give it one more try for the next Olympics."

They moved from New York to San Jose, where a track and field cult of champions was setting up a training base. He trained intensively 11 hours a day. Among his exercises was an uphill sprint of 300 yards on the Stanford University golf course, followed by a jog down, repeated 20 times in succession. He also ran 10 miles a day.

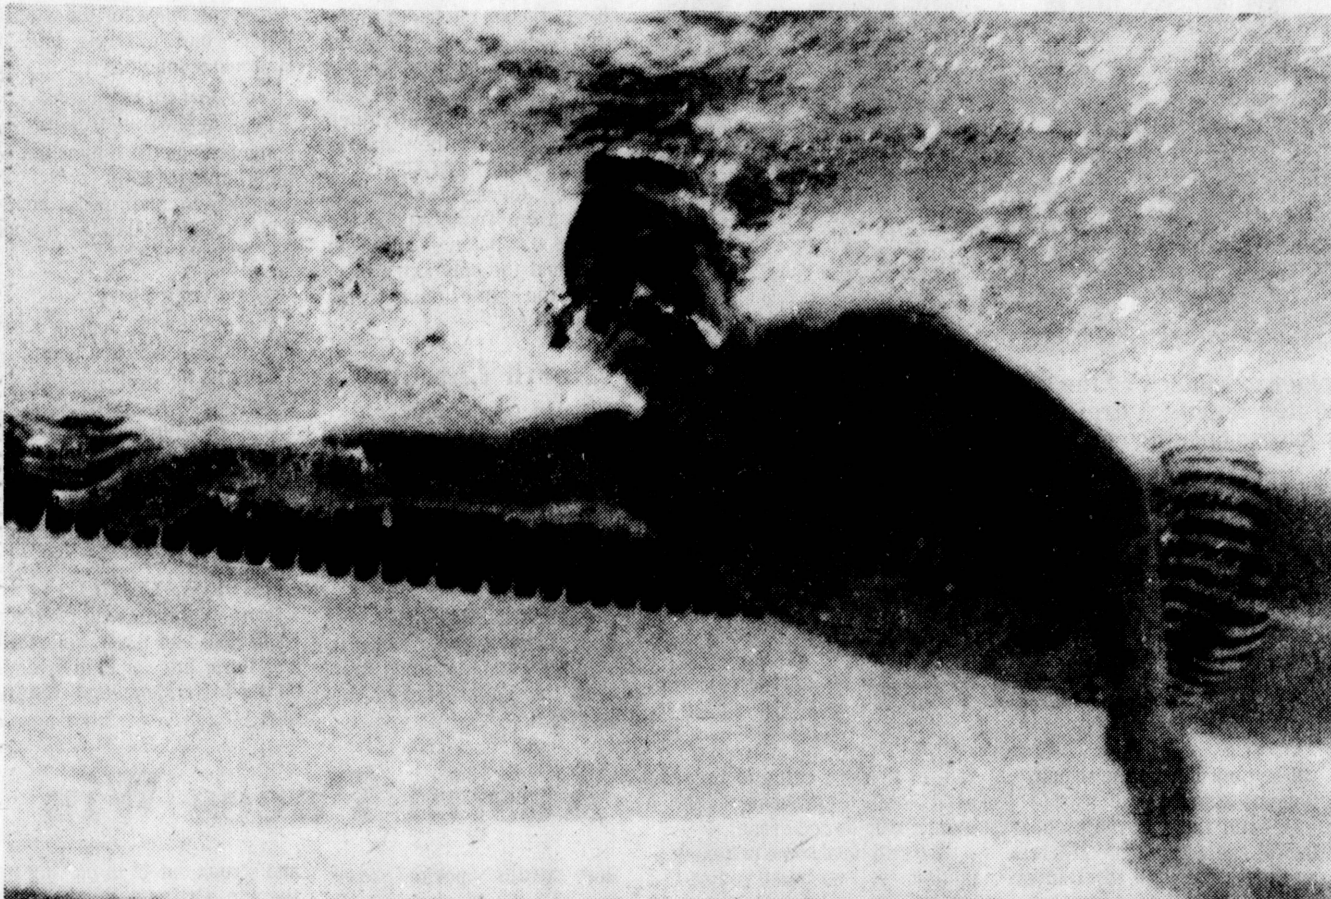

In setting a world's record high of 8,538 decathlon points in the recent Olympic trials, Jenner had better performances in six events — the 100-meter dash, 110-meter high hurdles, high jump, pole vault, discus and javelin — than the individual gold medal winners in those events at the '28 Olympics in Amsterdam.

Last year at Eugene in a dual meet with the Russians, he defeated Avilov and set a world's decathlon record. There has been criticism from the Eastern bloc nations that Jenner doesn't work for a living while their athletes at least nominally hold down jobs. The charge amuses him.

"I'm more motivated," he says, "in what I'm doing than 90 per cent of the American people." And he can apparently afford it on Chrystie's salary. They live in a two-bedroom townhouse and own a Porsche and a Honda.

"The future looks interesting," says Bruce, "if I pull off the Games. I don't want to go in there grabbing, like Spitz did. I don't even know if I can act."

But he sure can run and jump and throw.

SHAW SWIMS: U.S. swimmer Tim Shaw of Long Beach, Calif., churns the water in the Olympic swimming pool site as he performs his freestyle exercises Thursday evening. The Olympic swimming events will start Sunday, one day after the 21st Summer Games will be opened at Montreal by Queen Elizabeth of England. (AP Wirephoto)

North's Fielding Gives Tigers Win

Errors Costly For Oakland

DETROIT (AP) — Dan Meyer's fly ball came out of the southeast, which was bad news for Oakland's Bill North.

Actually, it was North who was bad news for the A's all evening, although he was the victim of extenuating circumstances.

They moved from New York to San Jose, where a track and field cult of champions was setting up a training base. He trained intensively 11 hours a day. Among his exercises was an uphill sprint of 300 yards on the Stanford University golf course, followed by a jog down, repeated 20 times in succession. He also ran 10 miles a day.

In setting a world's record high of 8,538 decathlon points in the recent Olympic trials, Jenner had better performances in six events — the 100-meter dash, 110-meter high hurdles, high jump, pole vault, discus and javelin — than the individual gold medal winners in those events at the '28 Olympics in Amsterdam.

Last year at Eugene in a dual meet with the Russians, he defeated Avilov and set a world's decathlon record. There has been criticism from the Eastern bloc nations that Jenner doesn't work for a living while their athletes at least nominally hold down jobs. The charge amuses him.

"I'm more motivated," he says, "in what I'm doing than 90 per cent of the American people." And he can apparently afford it on Chrystie's salary. They live in a two-bedroom townhouse and own a Porsche and a Honda.

"The future looks interesting," says Bruce, "if I pull off the Games. I don't want to go in there grabbing, like Spitz did. I don't even know if I can act."

But he sure can run and jump and throw.

Fidrych, the American League's All-Star Game starter (and loser) Tuesday night, has a 9-2 record and leads the league with a 1.78 earned-run-average. The colorful righthander has drawn 150,000 persons in his last three starts.

"It was a tough ending because Vida Blue pitched as good as he has in his life," said Oakland Manager Chuck Tanner. "Circumstances happen. Bill (North) lost the ball in the lights. That's something you can't help. I feel bad for Vida. He doesn't deserve to have a loss on his record in a game like that."

Here's what happened in the weird 11th:

Blue hit leadoff man Staub with a pitch and walked designated hitter Willie Horton, off the disabled list for the first time in six weeks.

Ace reliever Rollie Fingers came in and pinch runners Ben Oglivie and Mickey Stanley advanced when Fingers' pickoff try bounced off second base. Jason Thompson was walked intentionally. Alex Johnson forced Oglivie at home and Aurelio Rodriguez struck out.

Then pinch-hitter Meyer poked a 3-2 pitch to center. It bounced off North, Stanley scoring, to give Detroit its sixth straight extra-inning victory.

"The ball was to my left and in the lights," North said. "The lights aren't as bad as I was coming from the other direction."

"I didn't see that ball the last 20 or 30 feet," he said. "I was hoping it would come out of the lights... That's the first time I ever lost a ball in the lights."

"Whenever a ball hits you in the chest and you're an outfielder, you have to be given an error. I never saw it."

But, "I don't see how anybody could give me an error on the ball Rusty Staub hit. I went down on it (diving) and jarred it."

Confident Bo Getting In Shape

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Bo Schembechler is back on the job. And considering he went through open heart surgery just two months ago, he couldn't feel better.

The University of Michigan football coach is slightly concerned about his public image, though.

"When I go out and start coaching this fall, I don't want people thinking 'Here is a great hero coming back to coaching,' or saying 'Look at this stupid guy out there coaching.'"

"I want people to know that when you have this type of operation and when you complete your therapy that you're ready to go back to work," he said.

Schembechler was back at his desk only six weeks after surgeons at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital completed four coronary bypasses May 20 to increase the blood supply to his heart.

"I feel 10 times more confident coming back this time than when I came back from the heart attack (before the Jan. 1, 1970 Rose Bowl game)," he said. "I'm going to a physical therapist. I'm doing what they tell me to but I'm taking no pills. I have no restrictions. I don't have to go in a see a doctor every month."

About the only thing he can't do, he says, is "violent flailing and swinging of the arms." He figures he can get his coaching points across some other way.

Some friends advised Schembechler to get out of coaching for good. "But they (the doctors) pretty much told me I could go back to coaching if I had the operation," he said.

He's getting in shape for the coming football season, walking about seven miles a day until his doctors clear him for jogging.

"I'm going to bed at 10 o'clock and take a rest in the afternoon," he said.

He even sent a letter to his players earlier this week to let them know he's back at work, getting ready for the season. He also told them he hoped they are making a few preparations of their own.

Hot Lions Forced To Halt Workout

ROCHESTER, Mich. (AP) — Hot weather is proving the biggest problem for the Detroit Lions as they ready themselves for their first exhibition game July 24.

Thursday's high-90's temperatures first sent tight end Charlie Sanders out of practice early and finally forced coach Rich Forzano to call a premature halt to the Lions' workout at Oakland University.

"It was so hot out there they finally went out and got one of those big tents — 30 feet by 30 feet — so the players could get in there during their breaks and get out of the sun," said Lyle Smith, the club's business manager.

There were no additions or subtractions at the camp as Forzano and his staff looked over the 73 players who have turned out. Center Guy Dennis is still absent.

Thursday was to have been the first full-fledged test of Forzano's new training camp regimen, which includes morning meetings and a three-hour afternoon practice instead of the former long evening classroom sessions and twice-daily drills.

The Lions have just eight days left to get in shape for the July 24 Hall of Fame Game against Denver in Canton, Ohio.

Nyland Hurls Win

MONTREAL (AP) — The clouds cleared from Montreal today and two facts stood out bright and clear. The Olympic Games will go on and the United States will compete in them.

The Americans abandoned their idea of possibly pulling out in sympathy with the Taiwanese. One of the first to hail the decision was C.M. Yang, coach of the Taiwan team.

"I would have felt terrible if the United States had pulled out, because it would be such a disappointment to all their athletes, and all because of us," Yang said.

The Taiwanese problem still was not finally solved. The International Olympic Committee (IOC) still had to persuade the Taiwanese to drop the name "Republic of China" in the opening parade, though the Canadian government has now backed down and said they can use their flag and anthem.

But the decision by the United States to go ahead and compete removed a fear that the Games might disintegrate.

Philip O. Krumm, of Kenosha, Wis., 69-year-old president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, who has been at the center of the Taiwan crisis all week, announced the decision to keep the team in the Games.

Krumm has been the peacemaker between the idealistic IOC, iron-willed Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau and the proud Taiwanese delegation. He backed the IOC to the hilt in its defense of the Olympic charter, but tried to persuade the Canadian government and the Taiwanese to give a little.

More than 40 Taiwanese have been held up in the United States, denied entry visas because they would not bow to the Canadian demand to drop their name, flag and anthem.

For two days Krumm thought his mission was heading for failure. Neither the government nor the Taiwanese would give an inch.

But Trudeau, after weeks of refusing to change his position, suddenly gave way Thursday and said the Taiwanese could use their flag and anthem.

Krumm had been holding a club over Trudeau, saying the U.S. team might pull out if the Taiwanese were not allowed to take their place in the Games.

It was a strong weapon. Nobody can picture an Olympic Games without the United States taking part. There were fears that if the Americans pulled out other countries would follow, and the Games, which Montreal has planned for six years at an estimated cost of $1.5 billion, could fall apart.

Krumm and Lord Killanin, president of the IOC, were in complete harmony on one point. They thought of the athletes first.

"We feel the athletes, who have given so much time and dedication to preparing themselves for these games, deserved consideration," Krumm said. "We had that in mind in deciding not to withdraw."

'Snubbed' Palmer Gains 12th Victory Kelly Homer Keys Sox Win

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jim Palmer would like to set the record straight. "I never called Darrell Johnson an idiot," said Palmer, one of a number of top American League pitchers who were not selected by the Boston manager to participate in Tuesday night's All-Star Game.

"Someone else said it — I just agreed with him."

As if to underscore the error of Johnson's ways, the 30-year-old Baltimore ace blanked the California Angels 4-0 Thursday night on three singles, becoming the first 12 game winner in the American League.

After a slow start, Palmer — the Cy Young Award winner two of the last three years — has won six of seven decisions since June 15. His record is up to 12-8, his earned run average down to 2.88.

In other American League night games, Detroit edged Oakland 3-2 in 11 innings, Minnesota beat Cleveland 5-2 and Chicago defeated Milwaukee 5-3 in 10 innings. In two twilight doubleheaders, the New York Yankees swept Texas 7-6 and 6-4, the second game in 10 innings, and Kansas City split with Boston, winning the opener 12-5 but dropping the opener 2-1.

Palmer was overpowering against California, giving up just three singles — and two of those runners were erased on double plays. Reggie Jackson drove in three runs, two of them on his 10th home run of the season, and Al Bumbry scored three runs for Baltimore, which has won its last five outings.

Afterwards, Palmer said it's no surprise the National League has won 13 of the last 14 All-Star Games.

"I'm sick and tired of losing to the National League, but it's understandable," he said. "They take their best players and we don't — and it doesn't just apply to pitchers."

Carlos May's three-run homer and Mickey Rivers' three hits and two runs batted in powered the Yankees to victory in the opener despite a shaky seventh inning during which relief ace Sparky Lyle faced three batters and walked them all, forcing in two runs. But with the bases loaded and New York's lead down to one run, Dick Tidrow came on and got Roy Howell on an innnging grounder.

Tidrow also picked up a save in the second game, coming on in the 10th inning to get the final out after Sandy Alomar's two-run homer — his first home run of the season — put the Yankees on top.

A's center fielder Bill North dropped his second fly ball of the game with the bases loaded and two out in the 11th inning, allowing pinch-runner Mickey Stanley to score with the winning run.

The Tigers loaded the bases in the 11th on a hit batsman and two walks. Oakland relief ace Rollie Fingers got Alex Johnson to bounce into a forecourt and then struck out Aurelio Rodriguez. Pinch-hitter Dan Meyer lofted a fly ball to center and North — who dropped one in the third inning to let in one run — mideddled it as Stanley came home.

Twins infielder Roy Smalley, who went into Thursday night's game with a .212 batting average and just 14 runs batted in, collected three hits and knocked in three runs. He cracked a two-run triple in the second inning and squeezed home another run with a bunt in the fifth as Minnesota dealt Cleveland its ninth loss in the last 10 games.

Ray Sadecki relieved Milwaukee starter Jim Slaton with two out in the 10th inning and Pat Kelly greeted him with a two-run homer to the upper deck in right-center, giving Chicago the victory in a game in which all the runs came in an inning. Earlier, Chet Lemon had a solo shot and Jack Brohamer a two-run blast for Chicago while George Scott hit a three-run homer for Milwaukee.

Bob Stinson drove in four runs and Jaime Quirk knocked in three in the opener as Kansas City pounded four Boston pitchers for 16 hits.

The Red Sox came back to take the second game, scoring both their runs in the sixth inning and then hanging on behind the pitching of rookie Rick Jones and Jim Willoughby.

Slugger Kingman In Homer Groove

Baker Helps LA Top Cubs

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dave Kingman is in the groove; Dusty Baker hopes he has found one.

"My home runs come in bunches," said Kingman, who smashed his 31st of the season — tops in the majors — Thursday night in leading the New York Mets to a 3-1 victory over the Houston Astros.

Baker finally connected on only his second four-bagger of the year in helping the Los Angeles Dodgers defeat the Chicago Cubs 5-2.

"It's the longest time I can remember going without a home run," Baker said. "I had a streak last year of eight weeks and I couldn't believe that."

Baker, who also hit a run-scoring single, last hit a home run in the opening game of the season.

In other National League games Thursday, Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 5-3, Pittsburgh crushed Atlanta 13-1, Montreal nipped Cincinnati 4-3 and St. Louis edged San Diego 2-1.

Kingman's fourth homer in his last four games came after John Mauer walked and wiped out Houston's 1-0 lead.

The Dodgers struck early when loser Rick Reuschel opened the bottom of the first by hitting the first two batters. Los Angeles went on to score four runs as winning pitcher Doug Rau scattered five hits.

"Everybody played relaxed," said Rau. "Really, it's the first time we've had any days off. Tim McCarver, who sees only spot action, drove in three runs to give the Phillies their victory over San Francisco.

McCarver's single in the sixth broke a 3-3 tie, giving left-hander Steve Carlton, 10-3, his fifth straight decision.

With Bill Robinson providing the most muscle — a two-run homer — Pittsburgh exploded for 12 runs in the first five innings to crush Atlanta. Sloppy Atlanta fielding aided the Pittsburgh onslaught as Darrell Chaney bobbled a two-out, bases-loaded grounder in the second and four runs followed. The Pirates also sent two runs across the plate in the third, one in the fourth, five in the fifth and one in the eighth.

Larry Parrish's two-out single in the eighth off Cincinnati relief ace Rawly Eastwick snapped Montreal's seven-game losing streak and handed the Reds their third loss in a row. Steve Rogers, 3-8, who needed relief help in the ninth, scattered six hits to notch his first victory since May 9.

A one-out double by Joe Ferguson in the ninth broke up a 11 deadlock and sparked St. Louis Cardinals to victory over San Diego.

Ferguson's double scored Dot Kossinger from second base, handing the Padres their fifth straight loss.

St. Louis' Al Hrabosky relieved in the bottom of the ninth to abort a Padres rally and record his eighth save of the season.

'M' Athletes In Olympics

ANN ARBOR — Michigan basketball player Phil Hubbard, a 6-7 sophomore from Canton, Ohio, will be one of 12 players making up the United States Olympic basketball team which starts play Sunday at Montreal.

He is the only Michigan varsity athlete to make a U.S. team. However, free stylists Gordon Downie and Alan McClatchey will be on Great Britain's swimming team, gymnast Pierre Leclerc will represent Canada while Nigel Rothwell and Bruce Medd serve as alternates on the Canadian gymnastics team. Sprinter Jeff McLeod will run for the Jamaican track team.

Laimbeer Mulls Michigan

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Bill Laimbeer, a promising 6-11 Notre Dame basketball player, said Thursday word of his transfer to the University of Michigan is premature.

"I still have not decided what I'm going to do this fall," the 19-year-old center said Thursday. "I've talked to Michigan, but nothing has been established for sure."

Detroit radio station WWJ had reported earlier Thursday that Laimbeer, who averaged 8.2 points a game as a starter for the Irish last year, would attend Michigan this fall.

But U-M officials said Laimbeer, who reportedly had low grades both semesters his freshman year at Notre Dame, has not applied for admission to the school, though he has visited the campus.

Even if he does transfer, the 225-pounder would not be eligible to play for the Wolverines his first term.

Slim Softball

Wins Posted

Rosie's and Barchett's were winners by the narrowest of margins Thursday night in the Twin City Recreation Fastpitch Softball League.

Rosie's edged Ausco's 3-2 and Barchett's nipped Michigan Bell 8-7.

Craig Roberts picked up the victory and Paul Elston took the loss in Rosie's win. Dave Daughtry and Larry Palmer each collected two hits for Rosie's. Daughtry also scored two runs and Palmer drove in the winning tally. James Isom had two hits for Ausco's.

Dave Zdenalik and Dave Remback each slammed two hits in Barchett's win. Doug Jones had a pair of doubles, John Jewell a double and a single and Gary Rowe a pair of singles for the losers.

Golfers Sizzle In Westchester

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Carlton "Sluggo" White and David Graham would figure to be breathing easy today after shooting eight-under-par 63s in Thursday's first round of the $300,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

No such luck for the 27-year-old White, a comparative unknown on the Professional Golfers Association tour, and Graham, a five-year veteran who hasn't won since 1972.

Instead of a three- or four-stroke margin, White and Graham went off in the second round with just a one stroke lead over Tom Watson and Mike Wynn, and only two strokes ahead of Mike Hill and Bruce Listzke.

The pros just ate up Westchester Country Club's 6,603 yard course. Of the 188 starters, 23 played in par and 55 lowered the 36-5-71 regulation figures. The scorers almost ran out of red numbers to indicate birdies. There were two at 66, one 67, seven 68s and sixteen 69s, in an incredible round of shooting.

The Westchester tournament is a PGA designated event, which means all the tour's stars have to play. So all but the ailing Lee Trevino are in the chase for the $80,000 first prize in the 72 hole test. The field has the appearance of a U.S. Open, although obviously they are not playing an Open course.

Three strokes off the pace in the second round were 44-year-old Gay Brewer, who shot a 34-32-66, that included nine birdies and four bogeys, and Fuzzy Zoeller, low qualifier in the 1974 PGA school, who finished a 34-32-66 with five birdies.

Hubert Green, who has won three tournaments this year and held the money winners with $187,427, shot 33-34-77, carding four birdies and the rest pars. Johnny Miller, who last week won the British Open, shot par 77, missing two putts inside three feet.

"I'm not tired, but there is a definite letdown," said Miller. "For a player, the hardest round to play is the first round you play after you win. This time zone is hard too, coming back from over there. My body is a little mixed up."

Arnold Palmer shot a two under 69, and said he felt he was playing much better. He was encouraged by his putting.

Jack Nicklaus was at par 71, and expressed the opinion that despite the 63s and 64s, the tournament was far from over. He said he was playing well, but in recent weeks has been unable to put his game together. He lamented about a lost stroke here and a lost stroke there.

Other tour leaders still in the chase were Ben Crenshaw and Al Geiberger at 69, Hale Irwin and J.C. Snead at 70, and Don January in at 71.

KC Scouts Will Likely Transfer To Denver

DENVER (AP) — Sports-caster Bud Palmer says efforts by his small group of investors to purchase the Kansas City franchise of the National Hockey League and move it to Denver are virtually certain to succeed.

"I would definitely say the Scouts are coming to Denver," Palmer said at a news conference on Thursday. "You've got the wrong name of the team, though. Just say the Kansas City franchise."

Palmer, who heads a group of seven investors that includes Denver oilman John A. Vickers and Munson Campbell, a former executive with the NHL's California Golden Seals, said the purchase price would be between $5.8 million and $6 million.

"We'll send the league some earnest money this afternoon, along with our letter-of-intent," he said, although he added there were still a few details to be worked out before the transaction was assured.

He said the two major obstacles, one with league officials and the other with the Denver city government, have been resolved in principle.

Palmer, who lives in Vail, said at the news conference he was "98 per cent certain" the problems could be worked out by the beginning of next week.

The disagreement with city officials stems from negotiations on a rental agreement for the use of McNichols Sports Arena, where the team would play.

Palmer had reportedly sought rent-free space for the team's front office and an agreement calling for $2,500 a game in rental fees.

But the city reportedly turned down the request for free office space and said it had to charge rent of $3,500 a game to break even on operating the municipally-owned arena.

"We still have some polishing up to do on a proposed contract with the city to lease McNichols Arena, but it's an agreement we can live with," Palmer said, not disclosing any terms.

The second problem facing Palmer and his investors was a last-minute bid by a part owner of the Scouts, Gene Novarr, to buy out the team and keep it in Kansas City.

"Our posture is that Kansas City has some problems, especially with St. Louis over territorial questions," Vickers said. "The league is concerned with that problem, and we don't intend to get involved in it."

The NHL Board of Governors, meeting Thursday, extended the deadline for resolutions of the franchise's future until Monday.

Austin Paces Win

Rod Austin sparked Paw Paw's Connie Mack baseball team Thursday both on the mound and at the plate.

Austin was the difference as Paw Paw gunned down Benton Heights 5-3. In other action, Fairplain edged North Lincoln 2-1 in eight innings and Bridgman got by Benton Harbor in a Blue-Gray League game 10-7.

Austin posted the pitching victory as Paw Paw ran its record to 5-3 in the league. Rick Haney took the loss. Austin also slammed a double and a single to pace the hitting attack. Evans belted a homer for Benton Heights.

Richard Maxwell outduelled Mickey Ott in Fairplain's win. Maxwell hurled a four-hitter and struck out 12 in picking up the win. Ott only gave up five hits and fanned 16, but still suffered the setback.

Fairplain, now 9-1 in league play, broke the tie in the eighth when Jeff Phillips singled, went to second on an error, to third on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Scott Mucia.

Jeff Runser posted the pitching victory and also collected two hits in Bridgman's win. Al Barker also had two hits and drove in four runs. Bridgman is now 3-6 in league play.

ABA Makes First Merger Payment

NEW YORK (AP) — Although merger talks "are not going as well as we'd hoped," four American Basketball Association teams have placed $1 million each in escrow accounts as a first step towards admission to the National Basketball Association.

"The merger talks are not going as well as we'd hoped but as well as expected," said Indiana Pacers executive Bill Eason, but he added, "We have met the NBA requirement for the $1 million. That is, it is in the bank."

He said he hoped for a final agreement within a few days. The deposits Thursday were strictly paper transactions for the New York Nets, Denver Nuggets, San Antonio Spurs and Pacers.

A second payment of $2 million each is due Sept. 15. There were unconfirmed reports that one of the ABA teams had experienced some problems in raising sufficient funds for the initial payment.

Finalizing of the merger agreement has been slowed because of problems with the settlement with owners of the ABA Kentucky and Utah teams, which were disbanded, and the final settlement of the NBA Players Association suit, which still must be signed by both sides.

NBA Deputy Commissioner Simon Gourdine said, "No date has been set for the dispersal draft of former ABA players and we are still waiting for formal signing of the merger agreement and settlement of all court actions that have been blocking the merger."

He indicated that he did not expect the dispersal draft to be held any earlier than July 26.

Bills Cut Kral

BUFFALO (AP) — Rookie free agent Kurt Kral, a linebacker from Slippery Rock (Pa.) State, was released Tuesday, the National Football League Buffalo Bills announced.

"If you're dreaming of an Armstrong Solarian® no-wax floor... just look at this sale price!"

"We want to make it easier for you to own a no-wax floor! Because—let's face it—buying a floor you have to wax is like buying a car you have to crank by hand. Or a shirt you have to hand-iron. Nobody wants the drudgery of stripping off old wax and putting on new. With Armstrong Solarian, life is a lot easier. The Mirabond® wear surface keeps its sunny shine far longer than an ordinary vinyl floor. Every time you mop it clean, it really does look just-waxed!"

"That's why we're offering—for a limited time—a big selection of Solarian patterns and colors at this special "Stop Waxing" sale price. Come in now, while you can have your pick . . . they won't be here long, at this price!"

American Jenner Super Athlete

Seeking Gold Medal In Olympic Games Decathlon

EUGENE, Ore. (NEA) — Sixty minutes after he had scored more points than any decathlon performer in the history of the world, Bruce Jenner was out running along Agate Avenue, bordering the Oregon track stadium where he had strained his guts over a 34-hour period.

Two hours after that he was at a steak house drinking a beer, sipping on some Cold Duck — compliments of the house — and eating a Reuben sandwich. It takes Jenner a long time to come down from the rigors of the 10-event spectacle that captivates the track and field world every four years.

"Two weeks," he estimates, "before I'm back to normal." Right now he's returning his body to get ready for the Olympic decathlon test at Montreal, for which he's been pushing himself the last half dozen years.

Decathletes only come out of the woodwork every four years. At the National AAU met in 1974, Jenner — claimant to the title of world's best athlete — performed before 100 people in Eugene. A couple of years before that, in the same event, there were 167 people in the Los Angeles Coliseum. At Montreal, there'll be 70,000 to watch him duel with Nikolai Avilov of the Soviet Union, the defending Gold Medal winner.

And after that? Well, that's where 26-year-old Jenner illustrates the supreme hustle of Olympic competition.

Already, at Eugene's Hayward Field for the Olympic trials, he was trailed discreetly by a Hollywood agent who'll be his manager, by a young novelist who is collaborating on an autobiography, by a Beverly Hills lawyer who'll make sure that all deals are beneficial, and by his own entourage of friends, family and hangers-on.

Jenner has the handsome, rugged looks of an Austrian ski instructor. He is built perfectly for his event, at 6-2 and 195. He's glib and quick-tongued. His Prince Valiant haircut frames his face just right. He even has a strikingly beautiful blonde wife, Christie, who has worked these last four years as an airline stewardess while Jenner has concentrated 100 per cent on perfecting himself as a decathlete.

"When I look at O.J. Simpson carrying a football, I say, 'What a great athlete.' But a decathlete has qualities that merit the title. He has to be fast. He must run distance. He has to throw three ways. He has to jump three ways.

"It's an event of moderation. You have to be moderately good in a lot of things. It goes against the American ideal of specialization. If I weren't a decathlon performer, I would have dropped out of track and field a long time ago because I wouldn't have been good enough."

Jenner grew up in New York and Connecticut as the typically good all-around schoolboy athlete. He was recruited to go to Graceland College, a little Mormon school in Iowa.

In 1970, at the Drake Relays in Des Moines, he competed in his first decathlon and was hooked. He gave up football and basketball and water skiing. He had been the Eastern water skiing champion three times.

"After graduation," he says, "my wife, Christie, and I took stock and decided that I had a shot at becoming a world's champion and decided to give it one more try for the next Olympics."

They moved from New York to San Jose, where a track and field cult of champions was setting up a training base. He trained intensively 11 hours a day. Among his exercises was an uphill sprint of 300 yards on the Stanford University golf course, followed by a jog down. He also ran 10 miles a day.

In setting a world's record high of 8,538 decathlon points in the recent Olympic trials, Jenner had better performances in six events — the 100-meter dash, 110-meter high hurdles, high jump, pole vault, discus and javelin — than the individual gold medal winners in those events at the '28 Olympics in Amsterdam.

Last year at Eugene in a dual meet with the Russians, he defeated Avilov and set a world's decathlon record. There has been criticism from the Eastern bloc nations that Jenner doesn't work for a living while their athletes at least nominally hold down jobs. The charge amuses him.

"I'm more motivated," he says, "in what I'm doing than 90 per cent of the American people." And he can apparently afford it on Christie's salary. They live in a two-bedroom townhouse and own a Porsche and a Honda.

"The future looks interesting," says Bruce, "if I pull off the Games. I don't want to go in there grabbing, like Spitz did. I don't even know if I can act."

But he sure can run and jump and throw.

North's Fielding Gives Tigers Win

Errors Costly For Oakland

DETROIT (AP) — Dan Meyer's fly ball came out of the southeast, which was bad news for Oakland's Bill North.

Actually, it was North who was bad news for the A's all evening, although he was the victim of extenuating circumstances.

They moved from New York to San Jose, where a track and field cult of champions was setting up a training base. He trained intensively 11 hours a day. Among his exercises was an uphill sprint of 300 yards on the Stanford University golf course, followed by a jog down. He also ran 10 miles a day.

It was a crushing way for Vida Blue (7-8) to be thwarted in a bid for his 100th career triumph. But it was a rewarding ending for Dave Roberts, who went all the way to raise his record to 9-8.

Tiger Manager Ralph Houk said Roberts is as good a pitcher as rookie sensation Mark "Bird" Fidrych — who is expected to draw 50,000-plus again tonight when he takes the mound against Alike Torrez of the A's.

"His record isn't as good, but he's as good," Houk said. "He's pitched great ball for us."

Fidrych, the American League's All-Star Game starter (and loser) Tuesday night, has a 9-2 record and leads the league with a 1.78 earned-run-average. The colorful righthander has drawn 150,000 persons in his last three starts.

"It was a tough ending because Vida Blue pitched as good as he has in his life," said Oakland Manager Chuck Tanner. "Circumstances happen. Bill (North) lost the ball in the lights. That's something you can't help. I feel bad for Vida. He doesn't deserve to have a loss on his record in a game like that."

Here's what happened in the weird 11th:

Blue hit leadoff man Staub with a pitch and walked designated hitter Willie Horton, off the disabled list for the first time in six weeks.

Blue hit leadoff man Staub with a pitch and walked designated hitter Willie Horton, off the disabled list for the first time in six weeks.

intentionally. Alex Johnson forced Oglivie at home and Aurelio Rodriguez struck out.

Then pinch-hitter Meyer poked a 3-2 pitch to center. It bounced off North. Stanley scoring, to give Detroit its sixth straight extra-inning victory.

"I didn't see that ball last 20 or 30 feet," he said. "I was hoping it would come out of the lights...That's the first time I ever lost a ball in the lights."

But, "I don't see how anybody could give me an error on the ball Rusty Staub hit. I went down on it (diving) and jarred it."

Confident Bo Getting In Shape

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Bo Schembechler is back on the job. And considering he went through open heart surgery just two months ago, he couldn't feel better.

The University of Michigan football coach is slightly concerned about his public image, though.

"When I go out and start coaching this fall, I don't want people thinking 'Here is a great hero coming back to coaching,' or saying 'Look at this stupid guy out there coaching.'"

"I want people to know that when you have this type of operation and when you complete your therapy that you're ready to go back to work," he said.

Schembechler was back at his desk only six weeks after surgeons at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital completed four coronary bypasses May 20 to increase the blood supply to his heart.

"I feel 10 times more confident coming back this time than when I came back from the heart attack (before the Jan. 1, 1970 Rose Bowl game)," he said. "I'm going to a physical therapist. I'm doing what they tell me to do. I'm taking no pills. I have no restrictions. I don't have to go in to see a doctor every month."

About the only thing he can't do, he says, is "violent flailing and swinging of the arms." He figures he can get his coaching points across some other way.

Some friends advised Schembechler to get out of

He's getting in shape for the coming football season, walking about seven miles a day until his doctors clear him for jogging.

"I'm going to bed at 10 o'clock and take a rest in the afternoon," he said.

He even sent a letter to his players earlier this week to let them know he's back at work, getting ready for the season. He also told them he hoped they are making a few preparations of their own.

Hot Lions Forced To Halt Workout

ROCHESTER, Mich. (AP) — Hot weather is proving the biggest problem for the Detroit Lions as they ready themselves for their first exhibition game July 24.

Thursday's high-90's temperatures first sent tight end Charlie Sanders out of practice early and finally forced coach Rich Forzano to call a premature halt to the Lions' workout at Oakland University.

"It was so hot out there they finally went out and got one of those big tents — 30 feet by 30 feet — so the players could get in there during their breaks and get out of the sun," said Lyall Smith, the club's business manager.

There were no additions or subtractions at the camp as Forzano and his staff looked over the 73 players who have turned out. Center Guy Dennis is still absent.

Thursday was to have been the first full-fledged test of Forzano's new training camp regimen, which includes morning meetings and a three-hour afternoon practice instead of the former long evening classroom sessions and twice-daily drills.

The Lions have just eight days left to get in shape for the July 24 Hall of Fame Game against Denver in Canton, Ohio.

Ford Invites Indians To Parley

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has invited about 200 American Indian leaders to meet with President Ford, but some tribal leaders fear Ford may be trying to use them to drum up campaign publicity.

Ford, eyeing both Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan, planned to discuss legislative commitments with Chief Good-bear, Chief Greenfeather, Chief Driving Hawk and 200 others representing various tribes.

Charles Trimble, executive director of the National Congress of American Indians, said the Indian leaders hope to direct Ford's attention to the Interior Department's "lack of performance in dealing with litigation that affects Indians."

Also, they want assurance that Ford will not veto a large Indian health care improvement act, Trimble said.

But he noted the White House had invited the Indians to wear their traditional native costumes when they arrive for the conference and that some of the Indians are concerned they are being used for political purposes.

"They worry that they are spending tribal money to fly to Washington to give Ford publicity," Trimble said.

Ford is in a tight race with Reagan for the GOP nomination as the last of the party delegates were being selected this weekend in Connecticut and Utah.

A lot of wooing of 172 uncommitted delegates was underway. Ford now has 1,032 delegates to Reagan's 999, according to Associated Press tallies. The total needed for nomination is 1,130.

Ford used a state dinner at the White House to woo

Southern delegates, and a top political adviser predicted the South may soon put Ford "over the top" in the race for the GOP presidential nomination.

Harry Dent, Ford's new Southern campaign manager and once Richard Nixon's chief White House political operative, said Thursday night that Mississippi's large uncommitted delegation is a key to Ford's strategy.

Mississippi, with a delegation of 30 uncommitted members, was cited by Dent as possibly playing a key role in putting Ford "over the top next week" in the delegate race.

Ford on Thursday congratulated Jimmy Carter on becoming the Democratic presidential contender. Acting like a nominee himself, Ford told Carter, "I look forward to a good contest this fall."

Press secretary Ron Nessen said Ford thought he and Carter would give the American people "a real choice."

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, July 16, the 188th day of 1976. There are 168 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, the Atomic Age began as the first atomic bomb was exploded over the desert in New Mexico.

On this date: In 1790, the District of Columbia was established as the seat of the U.S. Government.

In 1918, Russia's Czar Nicholas II, his empress and their five children were executed by the Bolsheviks.

In 1951, King Leopold III of Belgium abdicated and was succeeded on the throne by his son, Baudouin.

In 1957, Marine Maj. John Glenn established a trans-continental speed record when he flew a jet from California to New York in 3 hours, 23 minutes.

In 1965, Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, who had died in London, was given a national funeral in Washington.

Ten years ago: India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi ended a visit to Moscow with a promise of $1 billion in Soviet aid for her country.

Five years ago: The Nationalist Chinese Government on Taiwan expressed dismay at the announcement that President Richard Nixon would visit Communist China.

One year ago: It was disclosed that the Soviet Union had made a deal to buy vast quantities of wheat from two American grain export firms.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS: Actress Ginger Rogers is 65 years old. Actress Barbara Stanwyck is 69.

Thought for today: The way of a fool is right in his own eyes, but he that harkeneth unto counsel is wise. —The Bible.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, a British flotilla tried to seize St. George's Island near the mouth of the Potomac River to take on fresh water but was driven off by the local militia.

Golfers Sizzle In Westchester

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — Carlton "Sluggo" White and David Graham would figure to be breathing easy today after shooting eight-under-par 63s in Thursday's first round of the $300,000 Westchester Golf Classic.

No such luck for the 27-year-old White, a comparative unknown on the Professional Golfers Association tour, and Graham, a five-year veteran who hasn't won since 1972.

Instead of a three- or four-stroke margin, White and Graham went off in the second round with just a one stroke lead over Tom Watson and Mike Wynn, and only two strokes ahead of Mike Hill and Bruce Listzke.

The pros just ate up Westchester Country Club's 6,603 yard course. Of the 188 starters, 23 played in par and 55 lowered the 36-hole 71 regulation figures. The scorers almost ran out of red numbers to indicate birdies. There were two at 66, one at 67, seven 68s and sixteen 69s. In an incredible round of shooting.

The Westchester tournament is a PGA designated event, which means all the tour's stars have to play. So all but the ailing Lee Trevino are in the chase for the $60,000 first prize in the 72 hole test. The field has the appearance of a U.S. Open, although obviously they are not playing an Open course.

Three strokes off the pace in the second round were 44-year-old Gay Brewer, who shot a 34-32-66, that included nine birdies and four bogeys, and Fuzzy Zoeller, low qualifier in the 1974 PGA school, who finished a 34-32-66 with five birdies.

Hubert Green, who has won three tournaments this year and leads the money winners with $187,427, shot 33-34-77, carding four birdies and the rest pars. Johnny Miller, who last week won the British Open, shot par 77, missing two putts inside three feet.

"I'm not tired, but there is a definite letdown," said Miller. "For a player, the hardest round to play is the first round you play after you win. This time zone is hard too, coming back from over there. My body is a little mixed up."

Arnold Palmer shot a two under 68, and said he felt he was playing much better. He was encouraged by his putting.

Jack Nicklaus was at par 71, and expressed the opinion that despite the 63s and 64s, the tournament was far from over. He said he was playing well, but in recent weeks has been unable to put his game together. He lamented about a lost stroke here and a lost stroke there.

Other tour leaders still in the chase were Ben Crenshaw and Al Geiberger at 69, Hale Irwin and J.C. Snead at 70, and Don January in at 71.

ABA Makes First Merger Payment

NEW YORK (AP) — Although merger talks "are not going as well as we'd hoped," four American Basketball Association teams have placed $1 million each in escrow accounts as a first step towards admission to the National Basketball Association.

"The merger talks are not going as well as we'd hoped but as well as expected," said Indiana Pacers executive Bill Eason, but he added, "We have met the NBA requirement for the $1 million. That is, it is in the bank."

He said he hoped for a final agreement within a few days.

The deposits Thursday were strictly paper transactions for the New York Nets, Denver Nuggets, San Antonio Spurs and Pacers.

A second payment of $2 million each is due Sept. 15.

There were unconfirmed reports that one of the ABA teams had experienced some problems in raising sufficient funds for the initial payment.

Finalizing of the merger agreement has been slowed because of problems with the settlement with owners of the ABA Kentucky and Utah teams, which were disbanded, and the final settlement of the NBA Players Association suit, which still must be signed by both sides.

NBA Deputy Commissioner Simon Gourdine said, "No date has been set for the dispersal draft of former ABA players and we are still waiting for formal signing of the merger agreement and settlement of all court actions that have been blocking the merger."

He indicated that he did not expect the dispersal draft to be held any earlier than July 26.

KC Scouts Will Likely Transfer To Denver

DENVER (AP) — Sports-caster Bud Palmer says efforts by his small group of investors to purchase the Kansas City franchise of the National Hockey League and move it to Denver are virtually certain to succeed.

"I would definitely say the Scouts are coming to Denver," Palmer said at a news conference on Thursday. "You've got the wrong name of the team, though. Just say the Kansas City franchise."

Palmer, who heads a group of seven investors that includes Denver oilman John A. Vickers and Munson Campbell, a former executive with the NHL's California Golden Seals, said the purchase price would be between $5.8 million and $6 million.

"We'll send the league some earnest money this afternoon, along with our letter-of-intent," he said, although he added there were still a few details to be worked out before the transaction was assured.

He said the two major obstacles, one with league officials and the other with the Denver city government, have been resolved in principle.

Palmer, who lives in Vail, said at the news conference he was "98 per cent certain" the problems could be worked out by the beginning of next week.

The disagreement with city officials stems from negotiations on a rental agreement for the use of McNichols Sports Arena, where the team would play.

Palmer had reportedly sought rent-free space for the team's front office and an agreement calling for $2,500 a game in rental fees.

But the city reportedly turned down the request for free office space and said it had to charge rent of $3,500 a game to break even on operating the municipally-owned arena.

"We still have some polishing up to do on a proposed contract with the city to lease McNichols Arena, but it's an agreement we can live with," Palmer said, not disclosing any terms.

The second problem facing Palmer and his investors was a last-minute bid by a part owner of the Scouts, Gene Novarr, to buy out the team and keep it in Kansas City.

"Our posture is that Kansas City has some problems, especially with St. Louis over territorial questions," Vickers said. "The league is concerned with that problem, and we don't intend to get involved in it."

The NHL Board of Governors, meeting Thursday, extended the deadline for resolutions of the franchise's future until Monday.

Gregg Pullins had a home run and Mike Ziebarth slammed a triple as the Rams edged the Panthers 15-14. Mike Sherer and John Helsky belted homers for the losers.

BOYS LEAGUE

Dan Vanderwiede, Steve Kasischke and Andy Rodez all had three hits as Paul's Shell bombed Berrien Real Estate 15-4.

Austin Paces Win

Rod Austin sparked Paw Paw's Connie Mack baseball team Thursday both on the mound and at the plate.

Austin was the difference as Paw Paw gunned down Benton Heights 5-3. In other action, Fairplain edged North Lincoln 2-1 in eight innings and Bridgman got by Benton Harbor in a Blue-Gray League game 10-7.

Austin posted the pitching victory as Paw Paw ran its record to 3-3 in the league. Rick Hanev took the loss. Austin also slammed a double and a single to pace the hitting attack. Evans belted a homer for Benton Heights.

Richard Maxwell outdueling Mickey Ott in Fairplain's win. Maxwell hurled a four-hitter and struck out 12 in picking up the win. Ott only gave up five hits and fanned 16, but still suffered the setback.

Fairplain, now 9-1 in league play, broke the tie in the eighth when Jeff Phillips singled, went to second on an error, to third on a wild pitch and scored on a single by Scott Mucia.

Games Awarded

MONTREAL (AP) — the 1982 Commonwealth Games were awarded Wednesday to Brisbane, Australia.

"If you're dreaming of an Armstrong Solarian® no-wax floor... just look at this sale price!"

"We want to make it easier for you to own a no-wax floor! Because—let's face it—buying a floor you have to wax is like buying a car you have to crank by hand. Or a shirt you have to hand-iron. Nobody wants the drudgery of stripping off old wax and putting on new. With Armstrong Solarian, life is a lot easier. The Mirabond® wear surface keeps its sunny shine far longer than an ordinary vinyl floor. Every time you mop it clean, it really does look just-waxed!"

Ford Invites Indians To Parley

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has invited about 200 American Indian leaders to meet with President Ford, but some tribal leaders fear Ford may be trying to use them to drum up campaign publicity.

Ford, eyeing both Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan, planned to discuss legislative commitments with Chief Good-bear, Chief Greenfeather, Chief Driving Hawk and 200 others representing various tribes.

Charles Trimble, executive director of the National Congress of American Indians, said the Indian leaders hope to direct Ford's attention to the Interior Department's "lack of performance in dealing with litigation that affects Indians."

Also, they want assurance that Ford will not veto a large Indian health care improvement act, Trimble said.

But he noted the White House had invited the Indians to wear their traditional native costumes when they arrive for the conference and that some of the Indians are concerned they are being used for political purposes.

"They worry that they are spending tribal money to fly to Washington to give Ford publicity," Trimble said.

Ford is in a tight race with Reagan for the GOP nomination as the last of the party delegates were being selected this weekend in Connecticut and Utah.

A lot of wooing of 172 uncommitted delegates was underway. Ford now has 1,032 delegates to Reagan's 999, according to Associated Press tallies. The total needed for nomination is 1,130.

Ford used a state dinner at the White House to woo

Southern delegates, and a top political adviser predicted the South may soon put Ford "over the top" in the race for the GOP presidential nomination.

Harry Dent, Ford's new Southern campaign manager and once Richard Nixon's chief White House political operative, said Thursday night that Mississippi's large uncommitted delegation is a key to Ford's strategy.

Mississippi, with a delegation of 30 uncommitted members, was cited by Dent as possibly playing a key role in putting Ford "over the top next week" in the delegate race.

Ford on Thursday congratulated Jimmy Carter on becoming the Democratic presidential contender. Acting like a nominee himself, Ford told Carter, "I look forward to a good contest this fall."

Press secretary Ron Nessen said Ford thought he and Carter would give the American people "a real choice."

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, July 16, the 186th day of 1976. There are 186 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, the Atomic Age began as the first atomic bomb was exploded over the desert in New Mexico.

On this date: In 1790, the District of Columbia was established as the seat of the U.S. Government.

In 1918, Russia's Czar Nicholas II, his empress and their five children were executed by the Bolsheviks.

In 1951, King Leopold III of Belgium abdicated and was succeeded on the throne by his son, Baudouin.

In 1957, Marine Maj. John Glenn established a trans-continental speed record when he flew a jet from California to New York in 3 hours, 23 minutes.

In 1963, Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, who had died in London, was given a national funeral in Washington.

In 1974, Archbishop Makarios, who had been deposed as president of Cyprus, was on his way to New York to plead his cause before the United Nations.

Ten years ago: India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi ended a visit to Moscow with a promise of $1 billion in Soviet aid for her country.

Five years ago: The Nationalist Chinese Government on Taiwan expressed dismay at the announcement that President Richard Nixon would visit Communist China.

One year ago: It was disclosed that the Soviet Union had made a deal to buy vast quantities of wheat from two American grain export firms.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAYS: Actress Ginger Rogers is 65 years old. Actress Barbara Stanwyck is 69.

Thought for today: The way of a fool is right in his own eyes, but he that harkeneth unto counsel is wise. —The Bible.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, a British flotilla tried to seize St. George's Island near the mouth of the Potomac River to take on fresh water but was driven off by the local militia.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Sagging Broadly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved broadly lower today, apparently depressed by the latest surge in the nation's money supply.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was about three points lower, and declines led advances by about a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Weakness was linked to the Federal Reserve's report that the market closed on Thursday that the nation's basic money supply had risen $2.6 billion in the latest reporting week.

A sharp rise in the money supply has been unwelcome on Wall Street lately, since stock traders fear the Fed might be prodded to tighten its credit reins and cause an interest rate rise in order to hold inflation down.

Traders were also said to be discouraged by the market's latest failure to capture and hold its ground above the Dow 1,000 mark.

Among today's prices, Joy Manufacturing fell 1/4 to 47, Merck was off 3/4 to 73, and Rosario Resources dropped 1/4 to 26 1/2.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average gave up 7.70 to 997.46.

Losers topped gainers by about an 8-5 margin among NYSE-listed issues.

Big Board volume came to 20.40 million shares. The NYSE's composite stock index dropped 0.38 to 46.23, while the American Exchange's market value index was down 0.45 to 106.60.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

CARTER AND THE CONSUMER

If Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter were to become U.S. President Carter, what would it mean to you, any American consumer in today's jungle of a marketplace?

A. The strongest defender of consumer interests in the White House in memory — with his endorsements already ranging from an independent federal consumer protection agency "with a lot of power, authority and visibility and total backing from the White House" to an all-inclusive "sunshine law," which would "force open the deliberations of the executive and legislative branches of government to let people know who votes how."

The above may sound like quite a mouthful of liberal mush, but Carter apparently isn't kidding one bit. Says he: "I intend a year from now to be the top consumer advocate in this country. If I'm elected, I'm tired of seeing people whom I care about get cheated, and this is permitted and even condoned now, and it has got to be changed." Carter has, in fact, set a speaking engagement before a Ralph Nader Public Citizen Forum for after the end of this convention (postponed from June).

Specifically, Carter would: — "Completely reorganize the executive branch of this nation's government" to increase government accountability greater openness and at the same time improved efficiency, reorganization, and simplicity of government bureaucracy. "I'm going to do it primarily because the American people are sick of the bureaucratic confusion in Washington."

"When I was governor (of Georgia) I had no idea whom to call in Washington to get answers to anything, because the system is so complex." His solution in Georgia was to set up a toll-free line to help Georgia citizens with complaints and requests for information. A call by an illiterate Georgian, for instance, would connect the citizen with his congressional representative handling federal matters (Social Security checks) or the agricultural official in charge of scale weight accuracy in markets, etc.

— Strongly support an "Office of Citizen Advocacy," which would have both the power and the responsibility to investigate complaints, and the staff and power to intervene in regulatory matters on behalf of the consuming and using public. President Ford has declared he would veto such an agency;

Carter would embrace it. — Break up the so-called "sweetheart arrangements" between regulatory officials and the industries they are supposed to monitor by restricting revolving door careerism. This would be on top of the "sunshine law." Carter sees no reason why a public official should accept a gift of any kind, advocates full disclosure of officeholders' financial interests.

— Kill the spoils system of appointing officials. Says Carter: "I've traveled to a lot of foreign countries and sometimes, when I've gone into the American embassy, I've been disgusted to see sitting there a fat, bloated, rich, ignorant campaign contributor to Richard Nixon who can't even speak the language of the country he's in."

— More completely control lobbyists and their activities. He would extend federal financing of elections to congressional races and, for example, make certain that the Attorney General job would not be given as a reward to a successful campaign manager (both Robert Kennedy and John Mitchell were active campaign directors).

— Aggressively work for a much stronger anti-trust program. "The farmer suffers and the consumer suffers" from our "very serious monopolistic arrangement in this country on food," he says, citing the upsurge in the price of sugar in 1974 as an instance. — Encourage consumer groups to create and operate consumer co-ops; back federal standards for state no-fault insurance programs; help with full funding of neighborhood legal aid for the poor; strengthen small claims courts; go all-out on a consumer education program in our schools to teach both young and old the basics of consumer rights and protection. "Most of the consumers being treated the worst can't read or write well. They're hard to reach for consumer groups."

In this area of consumerism — and extending into child care, food stamps, environmental protection — Carter is clearly tending toward the very liberal. What he could achieve, though, is a giant question mark — should he become President in this economic era.

Housing Meeting Scheduled

COLOMA — A second meeting of the Coloma township housing commission, formed to study the feasibility of a senior citizen housing development for the township, is slated for July 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the township hall.

Township Supervisor Ewald Eckblom said the first public meeting of the housing commission held last night was attended by 23 township residents.

Eckblom said he plans to invite a representative of the federal Housing and Urban Development department (HUD) to the next meeting.

A Bellboy

PLYMOUTH, Minn. (AP) — The 16-year-old grandson of famous hotelman Conrad Hilton is working as a hotel bellboy here, hauling luggage, washing walls and mopping floors.

"I also think I do a pretty good job of putting the linen away," said Conrad Hilton III, whose mother recently married a Minneapolis attorney and moved the family to Minnesota. Hilton, who said his $3 hourly wage from the Radisson Hotel will go toward his college expenses, had originally planned to work at the St. Paul Hilton but found it had been acquired by the Radisson Hotel Corp.

A fellow employee said Hilton frequently causes a stir among customers who note the "Conrad Hilton III" on his nameplate. "Can you imagine their quandary when it came time to figure out a tip," the employee said.

Ma Bell Appeals Denial Of Hike

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has asked the state Court of Appeals for permission to immediately raise rates by $17.6 million a year.

The company filed for leave to appeal Thursday only hours after Ingham County Circuit Court Judge James Kallman denied the rate hike request. Kallman said he's not convinced the company is suffering "irreparable" financial harm.

He said the allegation that the company is "losing $50,000 a day does not convince this court that this is irreparable harm."

Michigan Bell, a wholly owned subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Co., called the decision "regrettable."

Kallman ruled on a suit filed by Michigan Bell that asked the company be allowed to collect a total of $19.1 million in extra rates.

The firm also sought a preliminary injunction against the Michigan Public Service Commission that would allow Bell to collect $17.6 million of the increase immediately. Kallman denied the preliminary injunction but must still hold a full hearing on the total request.

The suit was filed after the PSC granted the company a partial rate increase that allowed it to collect $52.2 million. The company originally asked for an $88 million rate hike and now wants $19.1 million more than the $52.2 million the PSC authorized.

Lloyd Hanes, vice president of Michigan Bell, said Kallman's ruling means that "Michigan Bell is still being deprived of its lawful right to charge rates that would protect the company from confiscation of its property."

Michigan Bell officials last month asked the PSC for another rate increase of $178 million. That request is still pending. The company said its rates have gone up only 33 percent since 1967 while the Detroit Consumer Price Index has increased 67 percent in the same period.

Officials said the company's earnings level dropped to a 17-year low last year. They also said that since 1971 Bell has earned $269 million less than authorized by the PSC. They blamed the financial situation for recent employee layoffs and cutbacks in construction.

Although the company had promised to refund any of the $17.6 million if Kallman later determined it was unneeded, Kallman said he ruled that out because he might later determine — after the full hearing — that the PSC's original decision was correct.

That situation, he said, "would cause irreparable harm to ratepayers ... Many will not file for a refund and will have moved out of state pending the final outcome."

He said that while the company reports it is losing money, it is still "gaining money" because of the partial rate hike the PSC granted.

108 PER CENT Dowagiac Bracing For Rate Increase

DOWAGIAC — The electric company which sells wholesale power to the city of Dowagiac is seeking a rate increase of 108 per cent, according to City Manager Henry Graper Jr.

Graper said he has been advised the Michigan Power Co., Three Rivers, has filed for the rate increase with the Federal Power commission.

The city sells the purchased power at retail rates to its residents and uses some for street lights and public utilities. Richard Sampson, executive vice president of Michigan Power, said the firm is seeking to put the rate increase into effect on July 27.

According to Graper, the city paid $507,327 for power in 1975. If the rate increase is granted, the city would have to pay an additional $549,733 a year for power after July 27.

Sampson said that $495,074 of that requested increase is being passed on to the city because that is the amount of an increase Michigan Power has received from its supplier, the Indiana & Michigan Power company.

Graper said the city will be enlisting the services of a Washington D.C. attorney who specializes in rate increases to fight the proposal. He said the city will immediately attempt to block a ruling that would force the city to pay the proposed higher rates into an escrow account until a new rate is approved.

Graper said the increase is the first sought by Michigan Power within the last 15 years.

Serving The Nation

TRANSFERRED TO ENGLAND
Sgt. Steven E. Hinrichs, son of Mrs. Gerald M. Spiecher, route 1, Box 241, St. Joseph and Melvin E. Hinrichs, 723 Gard, St. Joseph, has been transferred to Woodbridge Air Force Base, England.
Sgt. Hinrichs, an aircraft electrician, will be with the 67th Air Recovery squad, operating from the Arctic Circle to Cape-town, South Africa.
His wife, Bridget, is making her home with her parents in Atwater, Calif.
Sgt. Hinrichs is a 1973 graduate of St. Joseph high school.

Woman's Body Found

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — A sheriff's patrol discovered the body of a Muskegon County woman Thursday within 30 feet of where she vanished aboard an inner tube during an outing Sunday. Deputies said the body of 53-year-old Alice Burkhardt was recovered when it floated to the surface of the Muskegon River.

They'll Do It Every Time

Ripoff Arrived On Cue

Benton Harbor police Wednesday said a young man reportedly told a store manager he was "going to steal something," grabbed a necklace and escaped despite a several block foot chase by the store manager.

Paul Miller, manager of the J.C. Penney store, 164 East Main street, reported the incident occurred about 11:40 a.m. He said a young man had been in the store "loitering and heckling" clerks for about a half hour. When he went to investigate the young man reportedly told him, "I bet you think I'm going to steal something. Well, here it goes." Miller said the young man grabbed a $3 necklace and ran out the front of the store. Miller said he lost him near the intersection of Michigan and Oak streets.

Benton Harbor police said four people were arrested Wednesday as the result of a fight in which a woman sustained apparently minor injuries.

Treated for cuts at Mercy hospital and later released to police custody, was Margaret Burton, 19, of 554 Heck court, Benton Harbor. She was booked at the Berrien county jail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Police said they were called to a home at 518 Whitcomb court about 5:20 p.m. with a report of a disturbance. A butcher knife was confiscated, police reported.

Police said a 15-year-old Benton Harbor boy was lodged at the Berrien juvenile home on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and resisting arrest. A juvenile Benton Harbor girl, 14, was turned over to the custody of her mother and was to be petitioned to juvenile court on a charge of obstructing police.

Verdean Williams, 42, of 518 Whitcomb court, was booked by police on a charge of obstructing police officers and released on her own recognizance.

Police said two people attempted to stop them from assisting other officers who were struggling with another person. No one was injured in those struggles, police said.

Benton township police early today arrested a young Fairplain woman on a charge of violation of the controlled substance act, possession of THC (synthetic marijuana).

Sgt. Richard Davis said the arrest was made while investigating a car that ran into a building about 2:20 a.m. He said the car struck the corner of a vacant building at the intersection of M-139 and Indiana avenue. No one was injured. Davis reported confiscating a small box that contained four alleged THC pills.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Janet Lynn Wenzlaff, 17, of 445 Montezuma road, identified as the driver of the car. Davis said she was also ticketed for careless driving.

errien sheriff's deputies said a portable television was reported stolen from the Alice Miller residence, 3641 Hollywood road, Royalton township, Wednesday.

ENEMIES GALORE

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State Highway Commission Chairman Peter Fletcher, starting his second term on the panel, took a philosophical look at his record so far.

Gesturing with one hand, Fletcher told the other commissioners that he looks back. "I am able to count the enemies I've gained on the fingers of — the Mormon Tabernacle Choir."

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF FILING

Take note that on June 28, 1976, Robert B. Taylor filed with the Federal Communications Commission an application for a new Class A FM broadcast station in Covert, Michigan. The station will operate on Channel 252 (98.3 mHz) with 3 kw of power day and night. The proposed transmitter and studio will be located near the intersection of Paw Paw Lake Road and Hagar Shore Road NW of Watervliet. The antenna tower will be 300 feet above average terrain. A copy of the application with related materials is on file for public inspection at the Covert library, on Main St., Covert, Michigan, during usual business hours.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Sagging Broadly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved broadly lower today, apparently depressed by the latest surge in the nation's money supply.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was about three points lower, and declines led advances by about a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Weakness was linked to the Federal Reserve's report that the market closed on Thursday that the nation's basic money supply had risen $2.6 billion in the latest reporting week.

A sharp rise in the money supply has been unwelcome on Wall Street lately, since stock traders fear the Fed might be prodded to tighten its credit reins and cause an interest rate rise in order to hold inflation down.

Traders were also said to be discouraged by the market's latest failure to capture and hold its ground above the Dow 1,000 mark.

Among today's prices, Joy Manufacturing fell 1/4 to 47. Merck was off 3/4 to 73, and Rosario Resources dropped 1/4 to 26 1/2.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average gave up 7.70 to 997.46.

Losers topped gainers by about an 8-5 margin among NYSE-listed issues.

Big Board volume came to 20.40 million shares. The NYSE's composite stock index dropped 0.38 to 46.23, while the American Exchange's market value index was down 0.45 to 106.60.

Sycor, Inc. Revenues Are Up 32 Per Cent

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Sycor, Inc., a data entry and processing systems manufacturer, has reported record revenues of $17.3 million for the quarter ended June 27.

The figure was 32 per cent higher than for the second quarter of 1975, company officials said.

Sycor said its earnings for the quarter were $345,000, a 44 per cent increase over last year's earnings during the same period.

Per share earnings were 45 cents compared with 38 cents in the comparable period last year.

Union Charges 'Conspiracy'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A union official, charging that grand jury indictments against seven Washington Post pressmen were fabricated by the Post and U.S. Atty. Earl Silbert, says Silbert turned "a labor dispute into a criminal matter."

Everett Forsman, president of Local 6 of the Newspaper and Graphic Communications Union, said Thursday that the indictments are part of a conspiracy to destroy independent unionism at the Post.

CARTER AND THE CONSUMER

If Democratic nominee Jimmy Carter were to become U.S. President Carter, what would it mean to you, any American consumer in today's jungle of a marketplace?

A. The strongest defender of consumer interests in the White House in memory — with his endorsements already ranging from an independent federal consumer protection agency "with a lot of power, authority and visibility and total backing from the White House" to an all-inclusive "sunshine law," which would "force open the deliberations of the executive and legislative branches of government to let people know who votes how."

The above may sound like quite a mouthful of liberal mush, but Carter apparently isn't kidding one bit. Says he: "I intend a year from now to be the top consumer advocate in this country, if I'm elected. I'm tired of seeing people whom I care about get cheated, and this is permitted and even condoned now, and it has got to be changed." Carter has, in fact, set a speaking engagement before a Ralph Nader Public Citizen Forum for after the end of this convention (postponed from June).

Specifically, Carter would: — "Completely reorganize the executive branch of this nation's government" to increase government accountability greater openness and at the same time improved efficiency, reorganization, and simplicity of government bureaucracy. "I'm going to do it primarily because the American people are sick of the bureaucratic confusion in Washington."

"When I was governor (of Georgia) I had no idea whom to call in Washington to get answers to anything, because the system is so complex." His solution in Georgia was to set up a toll-free line to help Georgia citizens with complaints and requests for information. A call by an illiterate Georgian, for instance, would connect the citizen with his congressional representative handling federal matters (Social Security checks) or the agricultural official in charge of scale weight accuracy in markets, etc.

— Strongly support an "Office of Citizen Advocacy," which would have both the power and the responsibility to investigate complaints, and the staff and power to intervene in regulatory matters on behalf of the consuming and using public. President Ford has declared he would veto such an agency;

Carter would embrace it. — Break up the so-called "sweetheart arrangements" between regulatory officials and the industries they are supposed to monitor by restricting revolving door careerism. This would be on top of the "sunshine law." Carter sees no reason why a public official should accept a gift of any kind, advocates full disclosure of officeholders' financial interests.

— Kill the spoils system of appointing officials. Says Carter: "I've traveled to a lot of foreign countries and sometimes, when I've gone into the American embassy, I've been disgusted to see sitting there a fat, bloated, rich, ignorant campaign contributor to Richard Nixon who can't even speak the language of the country he's in."

— More completely control lobbyists and their activities. He would extend federal financing of elections to congressional races and, for example, make certain that the Attorney General job would not be given as a reward to a successful campaign manager (both Robert Kennedy and John Mitchell were active campaign directors).

— Aggressively work for a much stronger anti-trust program. "The farmer suffers and the consumer suffers" from our "very serious monopolistic arrangement in this country on food," he says, citing the upsurge in the price of sugar in 1974 as an instance.

— Encourage consumer groups to create and operate consumer co-ops; back federal standards for state no-fault insurance programs; help with full funding of neighborhood legal aid for the poor; strengthen small claims courts; go all-out on a consumer education program in our schools to teach both young and old the basics of consumer rights and protection. "Most of the consumers being treated the worst can't read or write well. They're hard to reach for consumer groups."

In this area of consumerism — and extending into child care, food stamps, environmental protection — Carter is clearly tending toward the very liberal. What he could achieve, though, is a giant question mark, — should he become President in this economic era.

Housing Meeting Scheduled

COLOMA — A second meeting of the Coloma township housing commission, formed to study the feasibility of a senior citizen housing development for the township, is slated for July 29 at 7:30 p.m. in the township hall.

Township Supervisor Ewald Eckblom said the first public meeting of the housing commission held last night was attended by 23 township residents.

Eckblom said he plans to invite a representative of the federal Housing and Urban Development department (HUD) to the next meeting.

A Bellboy

PLYMOUTH, Minn. (AP) — The 18-year-old grandson of famous hotelman Conrad Hilton is working as a hotel bellboy here, hauling luggage, washing walls and mopping floors.

"I also think I do a pretty good job of putting the linen away," said Conrad Hilton III, whose mother recently married a Minneapolis attorney and moved the family to Minnesota. Hilton, who said his $3 hourly wage from the Radisson Hotel will go toward his college expenses, had originally planned to work at the St. Paul Hilton but found it had been acquired by the Radisson Hotel Corp.

A fellow employee said Hilton frequently causes a stir among customers who note the "Conrad Hilton III" on his nameplate. "Can you imagine their quandary when it came time to figure out a tip," the employee said.

Ma Bell Appeals Denial Of Hike

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has asked the state Court of Appeals for permission to immediately raise rates by $17.6 million a year.

The company filed for leave to appeal Thursday only hours after Ingham County Circuit Court Judge James Kallman denied the rate hike request. Kallman said he's not convinced the company is suffering "irreparable" financial harm.

Michigan Bell, a wholly owned subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Co., called the decision "regrettable."

Kallman ruled on a suit filed by Michigan Bell that asked the company be allowed to collect a total of $19.1 million in extra rates.

The firm also sought a preliminary injunction against the Michigan Public Service Commission that would allow Bell to collect $17.6 million of the increase immediately. Kallman denied the preliminary injunction but must still hold a full hearing on the total request.

The suit was filed after the PSC granted the company a partial rate increase that allowed it to collect $32.2 million. The company originally asked for an $88 million rate hike and now wants $19.1 million more than the $52.2 million the PSC authorized.

Lloyd Hanes, vice president of Michigan Bell, said Kallman's ruling means that "Michigan Bell is still being deprived of its lawful right to charge rates that would protect the company from confiscation of its property."

Michigan Bell officials last month asked the PSC for another rate increase of $178 million. That request is still pending. The company said its rates have gone up only 33 per cent since 1967 while the Detroit Consumer Price Index has increased 67 per cent in the same period.

Officials said the company's earnings level dropped to a 17-year low last year. They also said that since 1971 Bell has earned $269 million less than authorized by the PSC. They blamed the financial situation for recent employee layoffs and cutbacks in construction.

Although the company had promised to refund any of the $17.6 million if Kallman later determined it was unnecessary, Kallman said he ruled that out because he might later determine — after the full hearing — that the PSC's original decision was correct.

That situation, he said, "would cause irreparable harm to ratepayers ... Many will not file for a refund and will have moved out of state pending the final outcome."

He said that while the company reports it is losing money, it is still "gaining money" because of the partial rate hike the PSC granted.

108 PER CENT Dowagiac Bracing For Rate Increase

DOWAGIAC — The electric company which sells wholesale power to the city of Dowagiac is seeking a rate increase of 108 per cent, according to City Manager Henry Graper Jr.

Graper said he has been advised the Michigan Power Co., Three Rivers, has filed for the rate increase with the Federal Power commission.

The city sells the purchased power at retail rates to its residents and uses some for street lights and public utilities.

Richard Sampson, executive vice president of Michigan Power, said the firm is seeking to put the rate increase into effect on July 27.

According to Graper, the city paid $507,327 for power in 1975. If the rate increase is granted, the city would have to pay an additional $549,733 a year for power after July 27.

Sampson said that $495,074 of that requested increase is being passed on to the city because that is the amount of an increase Michigan Power has received from its supplier, the Indiana & Michigan Power company.

Graper said the city will be enlisting the services of a Washington D.C. attorney who specializes in rate increases to fight the proposal. He said the city will immediately attempt to block a ruling that would force the city to pay the proposed higher rates into an escrow account until a new rate is approved.

Graper said the increase is the first sought by Michigan Power within the last 15 years.

Ripoff Arrived On Cue

Benton Harbor police Wednesday said a young man reportedly told a store manager he was "going to steal something," grabbed a necklace and escaped despite a several block foot chase by the store manager.

Paul Miller, manager of the J.C. Penney store, 164 East Main street, reported the incident occurred about 11:40 a.m. He said a young man had been in the store "loitering and heckling" clerks for about a half hour. When he went to investigate the young man reportedly told him, "I bet you think I'm going to steal something. Well, here it goes." Miller said the young man grabbed a $3 necklace and ran out the front of the store. Miller said he lost him near the intersection of Michigan and Oak streets.

Benton Harbor police said four people were arrested Wednesday as the result of a fight in which a woman sustained apparently minor injuries.

Treated for cuts at Mercy hospital and later released to police custody, was Margaret Burton, 19, of 534 Heck court, Benton Harbor. She was booked at the Berrien county jail on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Police said they were called to a home at 318 Whitcomb court about 5:20 p.m. with a report of a disturbance. A butcher knife was confiscated, police reported.

Police said a 15-year-old Benton Harbor boy was lodged at the Berrien juvenile home on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and resisting arrest. A juvenile Benton Harbor girl, 14, was turned over to the custody of her mother and was to be petitioned to juvenile court on a charge of obstructing police. Verden Williams, 42, of 518 Whitcomb court, was booked by police on a charge of obstructing police officers and released on her own recognizance.

Police said two people attempted to stop them from assisting other officers who were struggling with another person. No one was injured in those struggles, police said.

Benton township police early today arrested a young Fairplain woman on a charge of violation of the controlled substance act, possession of THC (synthetic marijuana).

Sgt. Richard Davis said the arrest was made while investigating a car that ran into a building about 2:30 a.m. He said the car struck the corner of a vacant building at the intersection of M-139 and Indiana avenue. No one was injured. Davis reported confiscating a small box that contained four alleged THC pills.

Booked at the Berrien county jail was Janet Lynn Wenzlaff, 17, of 443 Montezuma road, identified as the driver of the car. Davis said she was also ticketed for careless driving.

David Kemp, 740 Buss avenue, told Benton Harbor police Wednesday hand and power tools, valued at $164, were stolen from his home.

Benton sheriff's deputies said a portable television was reported stolen from the Alice Miller residence, 3841 Hollywood road, Royaltown township, Wednesday.

ENEMIES GALORE

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — State Highway Commission Chairman Peter Fletcher, starting his second term on the panel, took a philosophical look at his record so far.

Gesturing with one hand, Fletcher told the other commissioners that as he looks back, "I am able to count the enemies I've gained on the fingers of — the Mormon Tabernacle Choir."

Sturch Is Stevensville's First Electric Inspector

Two permits — building and electrical — will now be required for all new construction, according to Fred Albrecht, Jr., building inspector. The move is a result of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.'s notification earlier this year that the firm will no longer inspect hookups on new construction in accordance with state law.

Sturch stated approximate cost for an electrical permit for a single family dwelling will be $35 under a schedule of fees and payments adopted last night. Sturch will be paid the following fees by the village: $5 for each inspection on single family dwellings, commercial and industrial buildings, $7.50 for duplex dwellings and $5 for the first unit, $2.50 for the second unit and $1 for each additional unit on all multiple dwelling buildings.

A minimum of three inspections will be required on all new construction, according to Albrecht. In other business the council accepted a bid totaling $1,388 from Michigan Compliance Ordinance Service, Flint, to compile and print copies of all existing general village ordinances.

The cost will include indexing each ordinance section and printing 25 looseleaf binders and 75 banded copies.

Council agreed to stop plans for widening the north side of Pine street and repair the shoulder of the road instead.

Instant Lottery To End

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The sale of tickets for the current instant lottery game will end on Aug. 10, according to Lottery Commissioner Gus Harrison. Harrison said Thursday the deadline for entering the second million-dollar grand drawing will be Aug. 19, adding some of the state's 8,000 ticket agents will be out of tickets before the Aug. 10 deadline. He said more than 50 million "Michigan Landmark" tickets have been sold, and total sales will exceed those recorded in the first two instant games. Prizes won so far amount to some $22.5 million, he said, with $5 million yet to be won. Fifty finalists will be selected for the second million-dollar grand drawing. Entrants must send three losing tickets to Grand Drawing, P.O. Box. 4040, Lansing, 48904. The 50 finalists will be selected on Aug. 20. No date for the million-dollar drawing has been set.

Boothby Predicts He'll Catch Up

BY STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

Berrien Springs Atty. Lee Boothby said yesterday he was trailing David Stockman in the race for the Republican nomination for the Fourth Congressional district seat, but would catch him by the Aug. 3 primary.

Boothby was in St. Joseph yesterday as part of a campaign tour through the Fourth District to add to what he called "rapidly growing support" for his candidacy.

On the tour with Boothby, which began in South Haven and ended in Three Rivers, were Edward Hutchinson, the present U.S. Representative from the Fourth Congressional District, and DeForrest Strang, state representative from the 42nd District.

Hutchinson and Strang are not candidates for re-election. Both have endorsed Boothby and Strang is chairman of the Lee Boothby for Congress Committee.

Boothby, 43, questioned by newsmen after a 9:30 a.m. conference and congressional nomination and lost.

Hutchinson also said, "There was never a question or doubt that I could be re-elected again, but it is better to stop while I am being asked to run instead of partially caused by welfare and the easy availability of pornographic material.

—That his campaign has not been an expensive one. "In an expensive campaign you have to sell your soul. When this is all over I'll be able to live with my conscience."

—That he would support a human life amendment to the constitution that would prohibit abortion on demand.

About 60-65 people attended the coffee and press conference, a number of whom had to stand because of limited seating, and about 30 people listened to the three men at the Whitcomb Tower.

Both Boothby and Hutchinson were introduced by Strang. Strang said the good turnout of people was indicative of the strong growing support Boothby is receiving.

'His Voting Record Would Be Closest To Mine,' Says Retiring Rep. Hutchinson

fee and press conference at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn, said there was no question that he was behind Stockman in the race for the nomination, but added he (Boothby) is picking up "a lot of momentum" and believes by the Aug. 3 primary he could catch Stockman.

Boothby said Stockman's early start in the race gave him his present edge. Also running for the Republican nomination for Hutchinson's seat are David Frazer, Benton township, and Helen Take, St. Joseph. Boothby did not mention their candidacies yesterday in St. Joseph.

Hutchinson said of the four candidates, "I'm most comfortable with Boothby. His voting record would be closest to mine."

Boothby ran against Hutchinson 14 years ago for the running without support."

Boothby, who also spoke at the Whitcomb Tower and Lakeview Terrace, both residences for senior citizens in St. Joseph, said there was a need to "bring common sense to Washington" and lashed out at the increasing size of the federal government.

Boothby said the American people, "Face the problems of paying for goods that have increased in cost because of nonsensical government regulations." He added, "We're being strangled with red tape." He said there is a need for more fiscal responsibility and a return to limited government.

Other comments made by Boothby yesterday were:

—That there is a moral decay not only in Washington, but in society, basically because of a disregard for the family unit

Boothby said the American people, "Face the problems of paying for goods that have increased in cost because of nonsensical government regulations." He added, "We're being strangled with red tape." He said there is a need for more fiscal responsibility and a return to limited government.

Other comments made by Boothby yesterday were:

—That there is a moral decay not only in Washington, but in society, basically because of a disregard for the family unit

Pat's Recovery 'Significant'

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Pat Nixon's first steps after her stroke were a "most significant sign of improvement," one of her doctors says.

Mrs. Nixon, recovering from the stroke suffered last week, walked on her own for the first time Thursday since she entered the hospital.

Sturch Is Stevensville's First Electric Inspector

Stevensville village council last night appointed Robert Sturch, 3759 St. Joseph avenue, Stevensville, as the village electrical inspector.

Two permits — building and electrical — will now be required for all new construction, according to Fred Albrecht, Jr., building inspector. The move is a result of Indiana & Michigan Electric Co.'s notification earlier this year that the firm will no longer inspect hookups on new construction in accordance with state law.

Sturch stated approximate cost for an electrical permit for a single family dwelling will be $35 under a schedule of fees and payments adopted last night. Sturch will be paid the following fees by the village: $5 for each inspection on single family dwellings, commercial and industrial buildings, $7.50 for duplex dwellings and $5 for the first unit, $2.50 for the second unit and $1 for each additional unit on all multiple dwelling buildings.

A minimum of three inspections will be required on all new construction, according to Albrecht.

In other business the council accepted a bid totaling $1,388 from Michigan Compliance Ordinance Service, Flint, to compile and print copies of all existing general village ordinances.

The cost will include indexing each ordinance section and printing 25 looseleaf binders and 75 banded copies.

Council agreed to stop plans for widening the north side of Pine Street and repair the shoulder of the road instead.

Instant Lottery To End

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The sale of tickets for the current instant lottery game will end on Aug. 10, according to Lottery Commissioner Gus Harrison. Harrison said Thursday the deadline for entering the second million-dollar grand drawing will be Aug. 19, adding some of the state's 8,000 ticket agents will be out of tickets before the Aug. 10 deadline. He said more than $0 million "Michigan Landmark" tickets have been sold, and total sales will exceed those recorded in the first two instant games. Prizes won so far amount to some $22.5 million, he said, with $5 million yet to be won. Fifty finalists will be selected for the second million-dollar grand drawing. Entrants must send three losing tickets to Grand Drawing, P.O. Box 4040, Lansing, 48904. The 50 finalists will be selected on Aug. 20. No date for the million-dollar drawing has been set.

BATHTUB & TILE RESURFACING

SAVE $1,000.00 OR MORE. NO NEED TO REMOVE BATHTUB, WALLS, TILES, AND FLOORING

It is a unique process of merging compounds to the original bath tub enamel which develops a permanent molecular bond which is more acid and chemical resistant than the original finish and will cut down on the staining effects of water dissolved minerals which is one of the major causes of bath tub deterioration. Leetrolite meets the commercial standards of the 77-63 issued by the National Bureau of Standards of the U.S. Department of Commerce.
